Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., according to John B. Rubenstein, chairman of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, issued a release today stating that this nationally known concern had purchased a new manufacturing plant here and joins the list of well-known firms who have located in the industrial center of the city.

The announcement of the purchase was made by James J. Sutherland, General Manager of the Electronics Division of the Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., and is as follows:

"To provide additional facilities for its rapidly expanding Electronics operation, Sylvania has purchased a new manufacturing plant in Newton, where magnetrons and associated micro-wave tubes for radar systems will be produced.

"The one-story building, located at 151 Needham street in the Newton industrial district, contains 36,000 square feet of manufacturing and office space and is of brick and concrete construction.

"When the recently completed plant is in full operation, probably about next February 1, it will employ in the neighborhood of 200 persons. Sylvania now is installing an electric power system and machinery.

"L. J. Huking, General Manufacturing Manager of the Electronics Division, announced that Douglas Eckhardt, now General Foreman of the magnetron operation at Boston, will be manufacturing superintendent at Newton.

Gabriel M. Stern to Be Speaker Sunday

Will Address Emanuel Club On "Vital Problems"

Gabriel M. Stern of 35 Bothfeld road, Newton Centre, prominent advertising and sales promotion executive and active community leader, will be the guest speaker at the Sunday Emanuel Club meeting in Temple Emanuel at 8:15 p. m. Mr. Stern will discuss a subject of importance to young people: "Vital Problems Affecting You and Your Future."

Mr. Stern is executive Vice-President and Partner of Hirsch-Garfield, Inc., one of the country's large advertising agencies. During his Presidency of the Brotherhood of Temple Ohabei Shalom, he originated that organization's annual Goodwill Dinner Meetings of Protestants, Catholics and Jews, which have become a traditional Brotherhood annual event. A former trustee of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies and a Past President of the Business Men's Council, he is also a director of the Hebrew Home for Aged, a Trustee of Hill House at Boston University, and an active board member in many Greater Boston charitable, civic and religious organizations.

Because of the many problems facing youth today on which he is constantly asked for his counsel, Mr. Stern believes that young men and women are vested with the obligation of sharing the leadership and support of all temple and community endeavors and that a great deal of talent, wisdom and leadership is lost in this world for want of courage on the part of youth. The January 6th address of Mr. Stern should bring out a large attendance of young men and women who seek advice, knowledge and counsel for their manifold problems.

Increase Must Be Met by Austerity In Other Matters

Critical of Federal and State Taxation and Urges Citizens Act

Inaugural Address Covers Problems and Phases Of All Departments

Complete Text of Inaugural Address on Page 5

In his inaugural address delivered in the Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall Tuesday afternoon, Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood stated that "Revision of payrolls will form the chief increase in the 1952 budget, and it is equally important that such outlay be offset by literal austerity in other directions."

In his address to a capacity audience, Mayor Lockwood dealt with all phases of the city government and outlined the procedure which in his judgment must be followed during this year in order to keep expenses at a minimum, and said "at a time of expanded needs for new facilities and equipment, the effect of the shrunken dollar strikes on all sides, the burden of high federal taxes creating hardship for employees and citizens alike."

The mayor also recommended that the Board of Aldermen study a means of ensuring full-time devotion of a chief executive or the subject of city management.

He was critical of Federal and State expenditures and said that "so long as the federal government takes 75 percent of all taxes, I believe all citizens should protest" and that "it is hoped that legislation will be passed in 1952 allowing a review of welfare disbursements at least by city officers to curb unfair burdens on the taxpayers."

"The economic capacity of cities and towns to stand costs," he continued, "is unknown to the Legislature, who should give us more home rule."

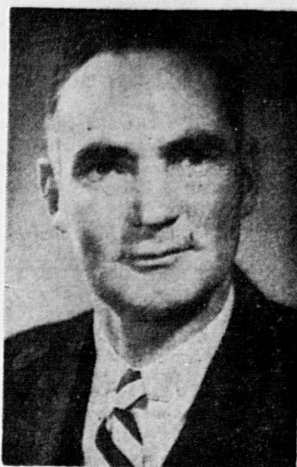

Mayor Lockwood stated that the main problems of expenditure are education, highways and relief and he dwelt at some length on these matters as well as dealing with salaries and wages; foregoing projects in the interest of economy; and the need for a revision of salaries and wages of city employees.

His address was a complete summation of all departments and matters affecting the city and its people and in a clear and concise manner, he emphasized the course which the city government should follow during this and next year, warning that the future taxation burden of Newton is largely dependent upon the acts of State and Federal agencies and that consequently all expenditures for projects not of absolute necessity, should be postponed until the future is more clearly foreseen.

That his discourse of the city government was well received was attested to by the warm round of applause which greeted his remarks at the conclusion of his address.

Campaign for the March Of Dimes Opens; Will Be Continued for a Month

Thomas Leydon to Head 1952 Appeal

Amount Doubled to Meet Financial Crisis in Polio Organization

The March of Dimes chairman and committees have been appointed in preparation for the 1952 appeal which opened yesterday (Wednesday) and continues to the end of the month, it was announced by Thomas W. Leydon, Newton Campaign director.

"The March of Dimes period for collecting funds for 1952 has been doubled to meet the serious financial crisis in the polio organization," Mr. Leydon noted. "We have organized our slate of committees early and now have the nucleus to build a most successful campaign."

"The longer campaign was necessitated by the rising tide of polio across the nation."

"There have been more cases in the past four years than in the previous ten years combined. Whereas our nation's average toll was 10,000, that average has more than tripled in the past four years. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has ended each of the past four years, including 1951 in debt."

The committees and their chairmen are: director for the City of Newton, Thomas W. Leydon of Waban, president of the Leydon Camps, Inc., and of the N. E. ### Changes to Effect Many Unemployed

Series of Articles Start In Graphic This Week

New Year's Day marked the start of important changes in the state law on unemployment insurance. According to Antonio England, Director of the Division of Employment Security, these amendments recently enacted will affect thousands of unemployed men and women and the majority of the Massachusetts employers subject to the Employment Security system.

In a series of articles prepared for the newspapers, Mr. England pointed out that the unemployed of the state will be the first to feel the effects of the changes in the law since the changed benefit provisions and changed disqualification provisions will become effective immediately in 1952.

In the first of the series of articles starting in The Graphic this week, the entire eligibility requirements and the individual benefit year and base period will be explained. Later articles will go into disqualifications, employer responsibilities in reporting certain facts that may affect the validity of a claim for unemployment benefits, the method of charging an employer's account with benefits paid to his former workers, the system of keeping employer accounts, the experience rating provisions of the law and the appeal rights of claimants and employers.

Rep. Rawson Says Care of Indigent Sick Public Matter

Representative George E. Rawson has filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives a bill which is the Massachusetts Hospital Association, several hospitals, including Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and himself. This bill provides that the Commonwealth, counties, cities and towns shall reimburse voluntary hospitals for the full cost of care of welfare and old age assistance patients.

The cost of care of these patients is a severe drain on the voluntary hospitals. Prior to 1947 the hospitals were reimbursed only $6 per day. In that year an act was passed increasing the reimbursement to $8 per day. In 1949 Rep. Rawson led the successful fight to increase it to $10 per day, though he sought full reimbursement at that time. Last year he filed a bill again seeking full reimbursement, but $12 per day was the limit that the General Court would allow.

While this $12 per day is a help, it falls far short of the full reimbursement which the hospitals need. In the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, for instance, the cost of this care of needy persons averages $20.05 per day. The gap between the $12 reimbursement and this figure results in a deficit to the hospital of $8.05 which is approximately double the endowment income of the hospital.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

"MACK" MCGUINNESS rehearses a monologue, with the approval of his wife, Alma, son John, and mother-in-law.

Folks have often been surprised when the burly policeman at West Newton Square would give directions to the Worcester turnpike, or Route 9, before they even had the window rolled down to ask him the question. But to John J. McGuinness, of Newton Highlands, who has been directing traffic there for 2½ years, it's all a matter of knowing your public.

"There is more to police work than arresting people, or passing out tickets," says Mr. McGuinness, flashing his well-known grin. I guess that's why I like being a policeman; we help our fellow men during emergencies, protect and help guide them to a better life."

What is the most popular question, besides "where is route 9"? Where can one find a place to stay, where is the nearest gas station, what can one do about lost keys, and would he please check the house for prowlers.

He has been before the public long before he joined the police force; he was in show business for 20 years. "I like people," he says, his blue Irish eyes twinkling. "The world is too serious; I like to think a smile will help to spread a bit of happiness."

Now using his talents as a hobby, he's brought on many a smile with his comedy act of a German or Italian dignitary at Charity parties, banquets, and smokers. He wears no make-up, nor costuming, which is why no one ever questions his identity when he is introduced as a visiting dignitary. He speaks French and German, and may use these accents, or a Scottish burr, Jewish or French Canadian accent, or any of his other accents when introduced; whatever the occasion demands.

Mr. Frank W. Geary of Wellesley, noted in the music field, played with Mr. McGuinness for many years as a team. Mr. Geary plays piano, while Mr. McGuinness handles the comedy. They also had an entertainment bureau.

Mr. McGuinness, or Mack, as his friends know him, is an able master of ceremonies. As such, he played at the Opera House, in St. John's, New Brunswick, and up and down the East Coast.

He's had many laughs during his years in show business. One night, when playing at the St. John's Opera House, he billed on his show, "Cowboy Jack," just in from the West. The cowboy was to sing on stage, while on a horse. It seems the horse just wasn't used to theatre work, and before the cowboy could get into his number, the horse reared, upsetting the backdrops. "Shorty, come out here and hold this dad-durned horse," yelled the cowboy to his assistant, and with all the backdrops in motion, went into his song.

Mack was in school and church plays as a youngster in Newton. When about sixteen, he boxed at clubs, but decided it was more fun to entertain as a real showman. He and another fellow got up a Jewish dialect act of an Army-Navy recruiting sketch. Since then, although few would care to wrangle in the ring with Mack, comedy, rather than boxing has been his hobby.

In 1925, he joined the National Guard, and served seven years as sergeant in C Company, 101st Infantry. In 1943, he went to Fort Custer, Michigan, for basic training in the regular army. His company commander saw his record of entertainment and asked him to put on a show for completion of basic training exercises. He was noted by a special service officer and Mack soon found himself in Special Service. He toured the middle West with the picture, "This is the Army."

He felt he could do more toward the war effort as a soldier at the front, and asked for a transfer to overseas duty. He went overseas in April, 1944, in the 553rd M. P. Escort Guard Company, as a combat M. P., which later was attached to Infantry and tank divisions for the handling of prisoners of war. He was in the invasion of Normandy. He also saw action in Northern France, Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg.

When attached to the 101st Airborne, he and another soldier took out the last German prisoners, before the Germans closed the circle in Bastogne, during the battle of the Bulge.

He was in the first division of G. I.'s that entered German soil, and went across the Rhine river when attached to 9th Divisions. He was also at the Ludendorf Bridge when it collapsed, after bombing by the enemy. He remained in combat all through the war, with no time out for "town duty" as an M. P.

His wife Alma, and son, John J. Jr., are proud of his souvenirs, helmets, flags, and mugs, which he now has in his basement "rathskeller." He also has a piano there, and many friends have sat at the tables, covered with red and white checkered tablecloths, European style, and enjoyed a laugh with Mack.

Mr. McGuinness begins his fifth year with the police department by starting duty in the cruiser-ambulance. Perhaps many of you will laugh with Mack at a social this coming year, but more of you will have reason to think of him as a man who protects your community, and perhaps, saves your life.

PATROLMAN MCGUINNESS is pictured on his last night directing traffic at Washington and Elm streets, West Newton.

Former Newspaper Man Praises Graphic

The Newton Graphic:

I am enclosing stamps for which please send me a copy of your paper, one which I thought I had, but seem to have thrown out.

The one that I wish is that which has a picture of a new school that has been designed by Mr. A. B. Sziklas, and is on the front page of your intriguing and interesting paper that I do so thoroughly enjoy every week.

As a former newspaper man myself, I find it one of the most interesting and well put together papers that it has been my privilege to read, and I've perused many during the past 20 years I assure you.

Congratulations on its format, as they say now, for it is certainly one well worth reading, and full of vital interest in every phase.

Very sincerely yours,

DONALD P. HOLT,
888 Beacon street,
Newton Centre, Mass.

Laureate's Lines

The Newton Graphic invites its readers to submit to this column, original, unpublished, verse, sonnet, or prose. Name of poet must be included.

ROOFS

The road is wide and the stars are out and the breath of the night is sweet
And this is the time when wanderlust should seize upon my feet
But I'm glad to turn from the open road and the starlight on my face,
And to leave the splendor of out-of-doors for a human dwelling-place.
I never have seen a vagabond who really liked to roam
All up and down the streets of the world and not have a home;
The tramp who slept in your barn last night and left at break of day
Will wander only until he finds another place to stay.
A gypsy man will sleep in his cart with canvas overhead,
Or else he'll go into his tent when it is time for bed.
He'll sit on the grass and take his ease so long as the sun is high,
But when it is dark he wants a roof to keep away the sky.
If you call a gypsy a vagabond, I think you do him wrong,
For he never goes a-traveling but he takes his home along.
And the only reason a road is good, as every wanderer knows,
Is just because of the homes, the homes to which it goes.
They say that life is a highway and its milestones are the years,
And now and then there's a toll-gate where you buy your way with tears.
It's a rough road and a steep road and it stretches broad and far,
But at last it leads to a golden Town where golden Houses are.

Joyce Kilmer

Fire Department News and Notes

Newton as a community can only be as safe from fires in the homes and places of business as its inhabitants, the employees, make it by their cooperation in trying to combat the various existing hazardous conditions. Along with this, the cultivation of safety habits especially when using matches or smoking or when burning brush and other materials in the open. It is the combination of these items that cause our largest number of fire calls. A community regardless of how efficient or modern its Fire Department may be will be fighting a losing battle if the householders and the places of business do not do their share of work to eliminate the breeders of unnecessary fires.

There are certain laws that respect the rights of home owners whereby the Fire Department cannot inspect a private home without the direct consent of the occupant living there. This should not create the idea that because of this they can flaunt all of the safety rules and plain common sense, which after all, when complied with, will help to improve our living conditions and make a much safer home for all concerned.

Unless we as individuals realize that a fire no matter how small it may be when it starts, if it is not controlled at once it may spread and destroy not only our homes and property but even ourselves. It is very unwise to feel that it can't happen to me. This sort of a person usually finds out that it can happen, but then it's too late to prevent it. In many cases some of the simple hazardous conditions found in the average home can be corrected at very little expense. Doing the various things in the right way in most cases is easier than doing them the wrong way, because it takes additional time to make the necessary corrections later. Here are a few items that we should all give serious consideration in order to have a fire safe home and peace of mind for 1952.

The disposal of rubbish should be placed in containers outside of a building instead of being thrown in a heap in the cellar, hoping that someone else will remove it. Take a second and think what the results would be if someone dropped a match into them or the hot ashes from a cigarette fell there unnoticed.

Newspapers should be placed in a neat pile, not just dropped at the head of the stairs to slip down themselves. This makes a perfect patch of travel for a fire to spread upward into a building. The use of metal containers for all hot ashes instead of placing them on the floor or into a combustible container which may ignite when least expected.

The disposal of worn out articles, either by sending them out outside to be collected by the Highway Department. All stairways should be kept free and clear of all articles so that they will not help a fire to spread and so as not to impede the progress of anyone using them. This also applies to the cellar and attic stairs as it is not unusual to have fires start in either places. All rags or clothes that have been used in connection with painting or with oils should be removed outside of the building unless stored in a tight metal safety container.

Combustible materials such as grass and papers should be kept away from buildings so that if a fire should start outside it would not ignite the building.

The practice of doing these simple things requires little or no money just the expenditure of a few moments of time on our part. Yet if we did them they would materially reduce our fire losses here in Newton. It would save our much needed homes, expensive repair bills or maybe save a life, it could be yours.

With the dawn of this New Year let us all resolve to "Make Newton the safest community there is in the United States in which to live and work."

Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Parlato of Boylston street have had the joy of adding to their home circle a son, born at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Inaugural Address Of Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood

Delivered Tuesday, January 1, 1952

The year 1951 has been outstanding for personal service by all branches and all personnel associated in maintaining the quality of government enjoyed in the City of Newton.

Just as the Aldermen have handled twice as many documents in 1951 as they handled per year prior to 1945, so has the City felt the impact of growth in schools, through increased population, and in highways and services, through record-breaking new construction.

At a time of expanded needs for new facilities and equipment, the effect of the shrunken dollar strikes on all sides, the burden of high federal taxes creating hardship for employees and citizens alike. All maintenance and service, all purchases, land-takings, and especially new buildings, have reflected severe cost advances.

While here and there Civil Service prevents changing inefficient personnel, on the whole the effort and intelligent zeal to promote the interests of the City have been everywhere manifest.

The federal government continuously has set up higher standards of pay, further largely increased by Congress in 1951. The Commonwealth has done likewise, the present Legislature having echoed the Congress. In addition, private employment has increased compensation greatly. This general situation leaves only one course open to treat properly those in city service, to retain them and be certain of sustained effort and devotion. The effort to relieve inequities must be made.

Revision of Payrolls
Accordingly, revision of payrolls will form the chief increase in the 1952 budget, and it is equally important that such outlay be offset by literal austerity in other directions. Patience must be exercised and dispensable expenditures deferred until a later date. Predictions for 1952 indicate more difficulties in procurements of the City's needs, with higher prices.

A new form of Annual City Report, designed to be highly informative to the average citizen, is being prepared, and should result in improved civic interest, improved self in voting, and aid and encouragement for those striving to serve the public.

The maintenance of traditions and heritages in a city recognized nationally for its good government and citizenship is of prime importance. In periods of rapid growth, real effort should extend towards retention of the characteristics that have led so many to build and locate here in this city of homes. Newcomers should be taught, and absorbed, learning our traditions. Industry, as well as homeowners, need this education.

Changes within the government during the past two years have been too numerous to list here, but will be appended to this report. However, several members of the official family have passed to their reward and deserve mention.

In April of 1950 John E. Barwise, member of the Recreation Commission, formerly active as Alderman from 1935 to 1947, passed away after long service with dignity and distinction.

On May 17, 1950 the City lost a great and noble servant, loved by many, when the Honorable Edwin Child passed away. He served 30 years as Mayor.

James P. Reynolds, widely known and highly regarded Welfare Agent since 1934, passed on suddenly in February of 1951. John C. Madden, Chairman, and a faithful member of the Board of Health for 23 years, died on June 18, 1951. He also served upably on the Board of Aldermen.

Joseph J. Murray, well-known former Commissioner, died in August, 1951, after retirement May, following 17 years of fruitful service.

William J. Doherty, Chairman of the Board of Registrars of Voters, died on December 15, 1951, having retired in March, 1944, after 34 years of devotion to his city.

Aldermen Serve Capably
The Board of Aldermen have served with full devotion and capably handled a volume of general business totaling 2291 documents in 1951, compared to 83 in 1944. This included much new and difficult legislation, covering City-wide regulation as well as that related to departments, keeping the City actively abreast of the times. The Board faithfully and generously given to promote and protect interests of the entire City, the Chief Executive gratefully extends appreciation.

Outstanding among the ordinances amended and passed have been those having to do with Leave and Vacations. They bring absence within better control and supply more liberal vacations. The City physician department will now operate by modern methods. It must be recognized that the growing unbalance or population in the existing wards of the city presents a situation which demands close attention as to alteration of ward lines. While solution of the problem will throw the need of a considerable devotion of time and expense upon several City departments, it is hoped that the Aldermanic Committee appointed to study the subject will present a wise and equitable solution during the present term.

I recommend to the Board of Aldermen that they study a means of ensuring full-time devotion of a chief executive, or the subject of city management. Modern practice includes an administrative assistant to maintain continuity with city operations. The functional duties of a full-time mayor, who is constantly in touch with all departments, present a sizeable problem.

Municipal Research
Besides regular duties in assembling facts, figures and information, the Director of Municipal Research has been called upon to spread over such work as personnel officer, public relations and administrative assistant, each commonly full-time jobs in municipal practice today. The City has been represented repeatedly in panel discussions of the American Municipal Association, and has been represented among the officers of the Massachusetts Mayors' Association, the American Society of Public Administration, and the Municipal Finance Officers of New England. While the City gains much from these associations, much added burden falls upon the Research group in keeping City officers highly informed, in handling meetings and the like.

Every effort is being made to form a Municipal League of Cities and Towns in this State, as at present exists in 42 other states, with a paid staff, which would ease these burdens.

Newton has held consistently the lowest tax rate of any city in the State for the past four years, at a time when growth has required large appropriations for facilities. However, the straining demands upon this City while costs remain at record high, leave the future difficult to predict. While our citizens suffer from federal taxation, we cannot have reasonable taxes locally without foregoing some relative luxury.

If the Newton tax rate reacted to the declining value of the dollar from 1939 to 1951, the present rate would be $55 (as reflected in other less fortunate cities), instead of $38.40.

Decentralization
The continued trend of decentralization from urban locations has not only sustained our residential building in large figures, but has developed large acquisitions in mercantile shopping areas, and industrial expansion beyond our usual expectation. The latter are welcomed as agreeable contributions to the tax rate operation, but create need of special considerations not only in themselves, but for the residential class who will continue to dominate the City as to characteristics and services. Fortunately, no conflicts exist, as all elements recognize the mutual interests involved. Industry moving into Newton respects the quality of its government.

The prime factor in the American economy is the present high federal tax burden. If the federal government adopts a budget of approximately $22 billion of dollars in 1952, the federal taxes are estimated as $200 (average per family). That is about eight times the family rate for federal expenditures, $25, in 1939.

It is worthy of comment that in England, the wealthy have been practically eliminated, while great strides have been made in liquidating the middle class, with the consequence that a growing share of the burden will of necessity be shifted to others.

While we ship millions of dollars to Europe without receiving payment, the metal industries of France, Italy and West Germany, equipped and ready to produce them at half-price, are virtually closed down. For diplomatic reasons we fail to save 500 millions out of each billion. We are paying $175,000 for light tanks which cost $25,000 in World War II.

The federal income tax collected by the City alone exceeded $700,000 in 1951, and that, in turn, will be paid again by the local taxpayers. As soon as an employer deducts a new income tax increase from the payroll, an employees' committee demands a pay increase.

I mention these facts as vitally important because the man in the street is adopting an attitude of closer scrutiny to his municipal government, while he feels powerless to change national economic policies, or, in recent years, powerless to alter state policies. Unconsciously he tries to offset federal and state expenditures of astronomical proportions by insisting at times upon severe austerity on the local level. Yet he is not ready to swallow curtailment of service. So long as the federal government takes 75 percent of all taxes, I believe all citizens should protest, and this segment of 85,000 citizens be heard from.

The Main Problems
The main problems of expenditure are education, highways and relief. Purchases of modern equipment offset high labor costs.

Each M.T.A. fare increase has driven more thousands to use automobiles, and many fringe cities and towns should share the deficit with the 14 now paying. Newton's current share may reach $50,000.

In a recent State distribution of funds for Educational Aid, for example, the City of Lowell received $5.13 per capita, compared to $1.31 for Newton. Lowell received $39.64 per public school pupil, compared to Newton's figure of $14.55. Newton pays heavily in income taxes and suffers from such unfair distribution. Such inequities should be corrected by proper legislation.

Liberalization of State pension legislation has expanded greatly the list of retirements. The City itself paid out $455,000 for pensions in 1951.

A Special Report on Massachusetts Industry emphasizes excessively high State taxes, which statement has been thrust aside as anonymous manufacturer griping, but which truly deals with a vital aspect of local prosperity.

Operating in 1952 will include improved cost accounting and controls, even over office work. All departments will see that, as each employee checks his pay figures, so also must it be seen that the City is not short-changed on time. Never has it been more true that "Time is Money."

The Board of Aldermen should be commended for amending the ordinance to provide an Assistant City Clerk. All familiar with the complex duties of the department will welcome the allotment of a sizeable portion of the burden to this new assistant.

The Police Department established the School Patrol of Women in 1950, with authority as to enforcement of motor vehicle laws only. Outfitted with radio cruiser ambulances with radios, have served well and extended police coverage. Traffic enforcement, including speeding, illegal and double parking, stop and enter signs, lights and signals, will receive special attention in 1952. The 5-day week was adopted in 1950, and the new, well-equipped police garage was opened in July, 1951.

Civil Defense
While the international situation remains as it is, and Congress appropriates huge figures for national defense, it is incapable for cities, especially in prime target areas, to provide for local defense. The reactivation of the Civil Defense Department was undertaken, following the passage of a revised ordinance in late 1950, under Douglas B. Francis, as Director. He was succeeded in the late 1951 by William J. Baxter.

Mr. Melville D. Luning, former Chairman of the local Stabilization Board, is serving as Chairman of the Advisory Board for Civil Defense for the City, with an able board of 14 citizens. The Mayor heads Sector 4 of Region 5, comprising Newton, Brookline, Dover, Needham, Waltham, Watertown, Wellesley and Weston.

The Newton organization is well located, well equipped, and embraces a large number of generous and efficient citizens, soberly and intelligently devoting much time to this important work.

Newton Chapter of Red Cross is an important factor for disaster and relief, and many citizens deserve expression of appreciation for generous service.

Members of the General Court in 1951 succeeded in having important measures passed, notably the amendment of the Newton Retirement Act, the recovery of the balances of funds in State hands, and Home Rule legislation.

The new addition to the Main Library is being completed within the appropriation, which is worthy of comment. The new branch library at Newton High, equipped and ready to produce them at half-price, are virtually closed down. For diplomatic reasons we fail to save 500 millions out of each billion. We are paying $175,000 for light tanks which cost $25,000 in World War II.

The federal income tax collected by the City alone exceeded $700,000 in 1951, and that, in turn, will be paid again by the local taxpayers. As soon as an employer deducts a new income tax increase from the payroll, an employees' committee demands a pay increase.

I mention these facts as vitally important because the man in the street is adopting an attitude of closer scrutiny to his municipal government, while he feels powerless to change national economic policies, or, in recent years, powerless to alter state policies. Unconsciously he tries to offset federal and state expenditures of astronomical proportions by insisting at times upon severe austerity on the local level. Yet he is not ready to swallow curtailment of service. So long as the federal government takes 75 percent of all taxes, I believe all citizens should protest, and this segment of 85,000 citizens be heard from.

The Main Problems
The main problems of expenditure are education, highways and relief. Purchases of modern equipment offset high labor costs.

Court ruling of unconstitutionality prevented another $54,000, 000 being distributed for Old Age Assistance.

It is hoped that legislation will be passed in 1952 allowing a review of welfare disbursements at least by city officers to curb unfair burdens on taxpayers. The economic capacity of cities and towns to stand costs is unknown to the Legislature, who should give us more home rule. The year ending June 30, 1951 in Massachusetts showed 136,874 welfare cases averaging $817 each.

budget, and caution is urged not to expand borrowing beyond the debt limit. While the City debt is only $48 per $1,000 valuation, compared to $101 in the conservative days of 1900, too many uncontrollable factors exist to warrant undue expansion of liabilities. The following capacity within the debt limit is over $1,000,000.

Only pressing needs have caused bond issues, but many cities in 1951 have practiced caution at a time of large national expenditures. The Treasury Department has urged not to expand borrowing beyond the debt limit.

or a total of $112,000,000, without including Veterans' Assistance of another $25,000,000.

As a much needed project, it is recommended that the income of the Couzens Fund be devoted to building a privately-owned and operated hotel and convalescent home for aged on the presently-owned City land near the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Such a non-profit venture could well operate on the pensions of the Old-Age payroll.

The outlay for Veterans' Services in 1951, however, shows a decrease, yet this department, with a competent Advisory Board is constantly active in serving the largely increased number of service men and their families in countless ways. From 3760 Newton citizens in World War I to 9422 in World War II, and 646 in the Korean Campaign, the total reaches 15,828 today.

The chemist of the State Health Department reports pollution of the Charles River as past history.

Borrowing and City Debt
In 1951 the City has borrowed funds as low as .91% and sold bonds to yield as low as 11%, but the total debt service now exceeds 10% of the annual budget, and caution is urged not to expand borrowing beyond the debt limit. While the City debt is only $48 per $1,000 valuation, compared to $101 in the conservative days of 1900, too many uncontrollable factors exist to warrant undue expansion of liabilities. # Orange Sextet Goes After Fourth Straight Win Against Arlington

After more than a week of idleness, the G.B.I. Hockey League goes into action this Saturday afternoon at the Boston Arena and the Newton Tigers will try for its fourth straight victory when it takes on a dangerous Arlington sextet for a first ice tilt.

Coach Jack Hall has geared his boys off to their best season in many a year, with three successive triumphs to place them in a two-way tie from the top of the loop with undefeated Stoneham.

Orange wins have been posted against Cambridge Latin (3-20, Medford 3-1), and a romp over Rindge Tech (6-0). The Red Raiders have a loss and one tie to mar their record this year, and their only victory has been over Medford. Arlington will perhaps be Newton's toughest opponent thus far in league competition.

Coach Hall can be justly proud of his 1951-52 squad. He can point to senior Don Thompson, starting defenseman and winner of the "Player of the Week" award earlier in the season, as a good steady force in his well-balanced sextet. Back in the other defensive position is Vic Voner, a second year man and a senior.

Guarding the Newton citadel is senior replacement Pete Rigby, a first year man filling the skates of injured Dan Coffey.

Best for you in '52!

This year will see cutbacks in the production of goods for civilians. Companies like ours with ever-increasing defense orders, offer you greater opportunities than ever!

Newton Courtmen Down Everett, 50-36, for Third

Left forward Don Magaw led the way with a point total of 19 for Newton High's third victory of the year against Everett, 50 to 36, at the Everett Recreation Center last Saturday night. Close behind in the scoring column to make it a complete romp was right forward John Kreider with 14 points.

Coach Reggie Smith's basketball squad waited until the second period to leave the Everett club behind in the scoring. Both teams were deadlocked with eight points apiece after the first period, but the Orange pulled away in the second stanza, 27-16, and wrapped it up in the last two chapters.

Magaw hit on seven times from the floor, while accounting for five foul shots, and Kreider hooped five floor netters and four points via the free-shot stripe. Charlie Kotsatis, sophomore forward, contributed eight points to the Newton score.

While it seemed like a victory all the way, the Everett quintet caused no little worry to the Newton courtmen in the fourth period when the Red and Blue closed the scoring gap to just six points.

Everett's Bob McLean and Bob Johnston teamed up to drop in 10 points to make it 41-35, Newton. But Newton pulled away again, and netted seven more points while keeping the Everett courtmen at bay.

Games for this week and coming weeks include: Rindge Tech at the Newton High gym tomorrow afternoon. Thayer Academy at home on Jan. 9, and on Jan. 11, the annual rivalry game with Waltham, at Waltham. The summary:

Backyard Gardener

By ALFRED W. BOICOURT
Department of Floriculture, University of Massachusetts

Every Christmas the Boicourt family takes an evening to tour up and down the streets looking at gaily lighted doorways and windows. And you probably did the same. A well lighted Christmas tree always adds a note of cheer to any property.

While the holidays are still vivid in our memories, let's make definite plans to plant a live Christmas tree in 1952. In your planning, naturally the two most important questions are what kind of evergreen and where to plant the tree.

The kind of tree to plant depends upon location. Blue spruce has long been the favorite, but now the trend is to smaller trees such as upright Yews (Taxus) on either side of the doorway or at the corners of the house. The Taxus does not outgrow its bounds so fast as the spruce. Since blue spruce does not grow fast it should be planted along the boundaries of the property rather than along the foundation of the house or garage. Of course, there are exceptions. For example, if you have a large house, say two or three stories high, and a garage 30 or 40 feet to one side and even with the front line of the house, a blue spruce could be planted to screen the back door from the street and to focus the attention on the main entrance.

There is, of course, the home owner who plants a three-foot blue spruce every ten years for the main purpose of lighting it at Christmas time, after it grows from 10 to 15 feet in height, he cuts it down and plants a new one. I daresay that not one person in 10 will cut the tree down after 10 to 15 years, and the tree will eventually grow to 40 to 60 feet in height. By that time it has outlived its specific usefulness because it is too large to decorate with lights and also destroys the beauty of the house.

Says Policy Of Treasury Cheap Money

Ownership of Debt Outlined in Talk

Prof. Adams Describes the Psychology of Those Managing the Debt

At the annual meeting of the Newton Savings Bank, Professor Charles C. Abbott of the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration spoke on "Strategic Factors in Managing the Public Debt."

Professor Abbott included among these factors the great increase in the money supply occasioned by the growth of the debt; the interest policy of the Treasury, which he described as a "cheap money" policy; the maturity schedule of the debt, by which he meant the amount of obligations coming due in one year, two years, three years, etc.; the way in which ownership of the debt was distributed among the several classes of owners—such as persons, banks, business concerns, insurance companies—which he described as the "pattern of ownership"; and the psychology of persons in the Treasury charged with managing the debt.

When speaking of the maturity schedule Professor Abbott pointed out that the Treasury since the end of the Second World War had consistently refunded maturing obligations into short-term securities, most of which came due in twelve months, rather than into longer term obligations, even though it had had ample opportunity to sell long term obligations. Thus the Treasury had continued to have a very large refunding problem which, in large measure, it had created.

VFW Post Desires Canes for Hospital

Sorely Needed for Vets at Soldiers' Home

Joseph Marucci, Commander of Sgt. Eugene Daley Post No. 2384 VFW, announces that the Chelsea Soldiers' Home is sorely in need of canes for the patients who are able to walk around the hospital.

The Commander of this hospital has made an appeal to all post commanders to collect these canes and send them to the hospital.

Realizing that many citizens may have unused canes in their homes, the commander has appointed a committee consisting of William J. Maloney and Francis D. Foley to collect as many of these canes as possible and anyone wishing to contribute may contact either of these men, Maloney at Police Headquarters or Foley at the Fire Department and they will see to it that these canes are picked up.

Also a great need at this hospital are collapsible wheel chairs and anyone having such chairs may contact either of these men.

Charles P. Taft to Speak at Temple Emanuel Monday Nite

Theme "The Church, the Synagogue and the World as It Is Today"

Hon. Charles P. Taft will deliver the second in the series of the Temple Emanuel Community Lectures Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Temple auditorium, 385 Ward street, Newton Centre.

Mr. Taft, the son of the twenty-seventh President of the United States, and brother of Senator Robert A. Taft, will speak on the theme: "The Church, the Synagogue and the World Today." A question period will follow the lecture.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Charles P. Taft was the first layman to hold the office of President of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. He has served as director of War-time Economic Affairs in the State Department during the climax of the war years; director of the United States Community War Service; and was chairman of the National committee, Community Mobilization for Human Needs. He is presently a candidate for Governor of the State of Ohio.

Better Pay Should Mean Better Performance, Says L. F. Muther

Taxpayers' Executive Secretary Finds No Quarrel With Increases If Services Are Up to Par

"Better pay should mean better performance, but will it?" queried Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week in commenting upon the Mayor's recommendation that hourly paid city employees be raised 15c per hour and salaried employees be raised $112 per year.

Taxpayers who will be called upon to foot the additional $450,000 bill proposed by the city's executive know the problem of procuring and holding good municipal help in competition with business these days continued Muther, but they also are entitled to insist upon better supervision and application to the various jobs to be performed.

The Mayor's recommendation is urgent in that it is made in advance of the regular budget, stated Muther. If a 1952 budget of about $11,500,000 is assumed, of which about $4 million must be allocated to city debt and the operation of schools, the proposal would mean a budgetary increase of about 14 per cent in the figures to be submitted to the Aldermen for their decision when they review the city's financial position as a whole in March.

"Few citizens quarrel with a pay raise for city employees when they believe that the services being given are up to par," concluded Muther.

New Sunday Bus Service Is Advocated

Wants Company to Adjust Schedules

John H. Elwell Urges A More Frequent Service On Holidays As Well

John H. Elwell of 33 Brewster road, Newton Highlands, in a communication addressed to the Mayor and the management of the Middlesex & Boston St. R.R., this week urges that a "new schedule of bus service, particularly Sunday mornings," be inaugurated to better serve those attending church.

In his communication, Mr. Elwell states: "Your new schedule of bus service, particularly Sunday morning, is making it rather difficult for those depending on bus transportation to get to church. From the angle of dollars and cents, you may possibly be justified in adjusting your time schedule holidays and Sundays. On the other hand, the citizens of Newton have granted you an exclusive franchise for the transportation of its citizens and the first requisite is fulfillment of the requirement."

"It may be of interest for you to know that in one section of our country, a public transportation company to encourage church attendance has offered its service to all free of charge. While we do not feel this is necessary in a city like Newton, nevertheless, we do advocate that a broad liberal attitude be taken on the question of Sunday morning transportation service."

New P.O. Box No. Of Graphic is Now 102, Newtonville

We respectfully suggest that all advertisers and correspondents make a note of The Graphic's new post office box number for future use.

Proposal of Mayor Goes to Committee

Expect Aldermen to Take Final Action on the Matter Monday Night

Consideration of Mayor Lockwood's recommendation for wage and salary increases for all employees of the city, exclusive of the School Department, will take place tonight (Thursday) when the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen will meet and discuss the proposal. Based on the committee's action, it is likely that the entire matter of wage and salary adjustments will be voted on at the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen next Monday night.

Nearly 1200 city employees will benefit from the Mayor's recommendation if favorable action is taken by the Board of Aldermen and each employee will receive an increase of about $624 a year from the proposed increase.

Mayor Lockwood has recommended an appropriation of $382,500 to provide the cost of living adjustment of $312 for each employee and department head, and in addition an appropriation of $47,535 is requested to provide a 15-cent per hour increase in pay for about 650 employees who are paid on an hourly basis and who would not receive retroactive pay for increases which a new budget would provide.

About 550 salaried employees, for whom cost of living adjustments only are being requested at this time, are expected to receive the remaining $312 in the form of salary increases, retroactive to January 1. Until the —INCREASES—

Warn Citizens on Bogus Solicitors

Issued By the Chaplain Wm. Farrell Post

Newton citizens were warned to check with the local Chamber of Commerce before donating to solicitors who claim to represent disabled war veterans. The warning was issued this week by the Chaplain William Farrell Post, DAV, of Newton.

The action followed two reports of false solicitations in the Nonantum and Newtonville sections of the city. A woman had been victimized by merchants and residents in a phony plea for an ambulance. Earlier a man had been selling trinkets and holy in the name of the DAV.

Fourteen New Voting Members Of Unitarian Society Named

As the result of a "membership roundup," conducted by the Rev. John Ogden Fisher during the first year and a half of his ministry at the First Unitarian Society in Newton, sixteen persons, whose names should have appeared on the official church membership list for years, have now been added to the rolls.

Besides verifying these sixteen memberships, in his first membership roundup report in the January calendar of the West Newton Unitarian Church, Mr. Fisher announces the addition of fourteen new voting members of the parish during December. The new members are John C. Damon, Miss Anna P. Fessenden, Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Hill, Miss June Grant, Mrs. Carl B. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Melcher, Mrs. William C. Ripley and Miss Ruth Wise.

The Unitarian Service Committee and the Jaynes League remind members and friends of the parish to save candles, card boxes, clothes hangers, magazines, newspapers, stamps, toys and old Christmas cards. Both organizations will find a use for these articles and will gladly arrange to collect them for those unable to bring their contributions to the church.

Flowers on the altar of the First Unitarian Society in Newton Jan. 6 were given in loving memory of Mrs. Henrietta Ames Hutchinson. Floral tributes for the remaining Sundays in January will commemorate Mrs. Frank Wendall Pray Jan. 13; Alfred Tracy Haskell, Jan. 20; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jan. 27.

Winter Festive Dance to Be Held Saturday Night

One of the gayest and most enjoyable social events on the calendar will take place this Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when the annual Winter Festive Dance is held in the Temple vestry.

This highlight of the current social season will feature the music of Hal Rubin, and entertainment and luscious refreshments will make the evening complete.

For the young in heart there will be square dancing; for the sophisticated there will be rhumbas and sambas. For the rest, plenty of regular 1-2-3-4 stuff.

Dr. Herbert S. Greenblatt, dance committee chairman, and his group have lined up an eventful night which will be long remembered. Dress is completely informal, and the extent of the informality is completely optional.

The annual winter dance, as evidenced by the response in previous years, has become one of the happiest of occasions and a large turnout is expected.

To Offer Series On Dressmaking

Now is the time to think of making a new spring garment. The Pomeroy house, a Newton Red Feather Agency, 24 Hovey street, offers a series of dressmaking lessons under the direction of Miss Alma Barboni, fashion designer and dressmaker. Classes are limited to ten to insure individual attention so that any one may enter with or without experience. There is a small charge for the lessons.

Call BI 5-5614 if you are interested in entering the class beginning on Thursday, January 24th.

The Police Blotter

OF NEWTON

The problem of what to do with Christmas trees was presented to the police department last week when a call came in to investigate a group of boys throwing the outmoded trees into the street at the corner of Washington and St. James. The boys were told to remove the trees.

A resident of Ridge avenue reported that someone cut the clothes lines in the back yard and also snipped the cords holding the bamboo shades on the rear porch last Sunday night.

A father called to say his daughter, baby-sitting at a home on Chestnut street in West Newton, reported the flame in the gas stove had been extinguished and the apartment was filling with gas. She was unable to rouse the people upstairs. Inspector Lyons investigated and called the gas company.

When she let the dog out for the night, a woman living on Forrest avenue claimed she heard a gate close shut. Officers searched the area and could not locate either a night time intruder or a police canine.

A 29-year-old housewife caught her left hand in the efficient workings of a mixer, mangle, two fingers. She was taken to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital in a cruising car.

A woman on Centre street, cornered a bat in her house and called police, who destroyed the nocturnal invader.

Man found in an intoxicated state taken to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and treated for a "bruised kidney" by Officers Dargen and Bell.

A pair of kid gloves was the only description given by a Shirley street woman to police regarding a man looking into her bedroom window, 11 p.m., Friday. The gloves "Tom" ran through the back yard and across a vacant lot into Kenyon street.

Sunset street resident reported a forced entry into his locked garage and damage to his car. Officers McKenna and Manter were assigned to the case and reported considerable damage done to the automobile. An electric razor was also missing from the glove compartment.

Police of Station No. 1 aided a South Gate Park woman back into her home after she had locked herself out. Officers called fire department for assistance.

Officers Manter and McKenna hauled a woman back to safety after she had fallen out of a second story window onto a slanting porch, while clearing the window sill of snow. She was reported uninjured.

A relic of years when the car was in its infancy—a horse—was discovered in Brighton on Presensation road, belonging to the City of Newton. Old dobbie was taken back into more native surroundings.

"Your gold bracelet has been found, Hean. Pick it up at Station No. 1."

A woman in West Newton complained that her daughter's boy friends refused to leave after being asked to leave after the last television show was finished. He finally picked up and left when officers arrived.

The party who was using a display sign hung by the side of a Newton Corner automobile dealer's building as a target for his BB gun was finally apprehended.

Young man on crutches was reported soliciting funds and selling magazine subscriptions in Newton Corner last week, claiming he was working his way through college. He was seen leaving his home without the use of crutches. Officer Hickson found no such person when he arrived in the area.

Some "birds" were responsible for breaking a bird bath on the property of a Metacom road resident last week.

Second Dinner Meeting to be Held January 27

President Harry Sher of the Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel in Newton has announced that the second dinner meeting of the season will take place Thursday, January 27 at 6:30 p.m. in the Temple vestry.

Featured speakers for the evening are Ludwig Lewisohn, author, and Dr. Albert I. Gordon, Rabbi of Temple Emanuel, who will present a symposium on the subject "What Will American Jewry be Like Tomorrow?"

There are indications that the beliefs of these two distinguished leaders do not run parallel to each other and it will be more than stimulating to note how each arrives at his conclusion.

Newton Highlands

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands planned a meeting for Wednesday, January 9 but found it better to postpone it to Friday, January 25. The Workshop on Columbus street is to be the place of the meeting, which will begin at 10:30 in the morning with a Workshop in International Relations sponsored by the Newton Federation of Clubs. This will be followed by a noon box lunch. A social hour will then be enjoyed. The hostesses will be the International Relations Committee of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club. Everyone is anticipated a most interesting program.

Youngsters in our town have been doing much damage to an are light at the head of the stairs leading from the train level to Hyde street. Countless fixtures have been replaced and the railroad and police are much disturbed as well as the commuters. An engineer on Train 291 suffered cuts on his hands when boys threw stones from the Walnut street bridge just before 5 o'clock on a recent Saturday. What can be done?

Engines 3 and 7, and Ladder 2 were called to Floral street for a fire (fortunately not a serious one) last Thursday in the late afternoon. A defective oil burner was the occasion of the trouble.

Mr. Norman E. Whitney of Dickerman road has a weekend assignment from the Health Department for Saturday and Sunday, January 12 and 13: Dr. Ernest Morris has planned that those on assignment can be reached at their homes between 8:30 a.m. and 5 in the afternoon.

A truck operator from Auburn, Mass. was in collision with Mr. Pullman of Allerton road on a Waltham street recently. No fatality resulted.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tapper entertained their older daughter, and her husband, of Buzzards Bay over the Christmas holidays.

A letter received from Mrs. James Maloney, formerly of Aberdeen street, now making her home in Cincinnati, Ohio, with her younger daughter, Mrs. Charles Carroll, tells of the Christmas frolics for young folks and older ones. Block parties, and general friendly social affairs. It is fine our former neighbor is happy in her new surroundings.

Laureate's Lines

—Gertrude O'Donnell

The Newton Graphic invites its readers to submit to this column, original, unpublished, verse, sonnet, or prose. Name of poet must be included.

Wars sometimes seem like children scrapping, in the World Family.

Mothers' Children, All Through the darkness, through the night

Sons and daughters join the fight. Some for our side, some for theirs.

Each one battling His dear self. Far at home their mothers wait Praying, hoping—begging fate. (Would a Common Mother dear Whisper in each weary ear, Subtle secrets of the past To hold illusive peace, at last.) Though death claim her kindly kiss

The hearts of living murmur this, "On the land, the sea, the air— Mothers' children—everywhere."

Have you ever watched the drama of day departing?

At Dusk Twilight floats its lovely, haunting melodies Over the thundering silence, As the cold reality of day surrenders

Its harsh vitality to soft passions of dusk. For now the faint blush of the rose is cloaked By shadows of understanding trees,

The trickling brook lends harmonious enchantment To the slender weeping willow, Even tiny pebbles seem enlivened by the Flickering play of moonbeams. And life, gazing in awe at the miracle, grows weary— Then the inanimate becomes a life.

—Tünni Coolidge.

Correction On Picture in Last Week's Issue

Due to an error at the printing plant of The Graphic, the picture on page 1 of last week's issue which was captioned "Charles C. We regret this mixup occurred as it was wholly unintentional on our part.

Many Easily Prepared Meals Can Be Made from Canned Meats

By MARTHA LOGAN

Interesting, appealing meals require little time and effort when you keep a supply of good canned meats right at your fingertips. With more than twenty-five varieties of canned ready-cooked meat and meat combinations from which to choose, variety in meal planning is a simple matter.

Of course, all canned meats are ready to use when removed from the can. You may prefer to heat most canned meats and all meat combinations to serve, but meat loaves, such as popular pork and beef loaf or corned beef are equally delicious, served hot or cold. When serving cold, chill the loaves for a few hours. They will slice more easily.

When you buy canned meats, insist on a well known brand name. Since these meats are actually made according to recipe, this way, you can be assured of consistent good quality and flavor.

Fortunately, storage of canned meats at home is no problem. Except for fully cooked canned ham which must be refrigerated, canned meat and meat combinations can be kept handy on the kitchen shelf. They were packed fresh to stay fresh until you're ready to use them.

One of the most versatile of the canned meats is corned beef. A 12-ounce can holds the makings for eight good size sandwiches, taste-tempting with mustard. Or it will make six servings of the Corned Beef and Cabbage Moderne, featured today. If you've planned hash or a salad, you can count on two cups of diced corned beef from one can.

CORNEB BEEF AND CABBAGE MODERNE

Yield: 6 servings

1 medium head cabbage
1 12 oz. can corned beef
6 slices cheddar cheese
Slice cabbage into 1/2-inch slices (fasten leaves with toothpicks to hold them together). Place in hot salted water in a flat pan. Cook until just tender. Place slices of cabbage on heat-proof platter, top with slices of corned beef and cheese. Boil 4 inches from heat source until cheese is melted and corned beef is heated.

CORNEB BEEF HASH CASSEROLE

Yield: 4 to 5 servings

1 16 oz. can corned beef hash
1/4 cup catsup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 hard cooked eggs, thinly sliced
1-3 cup shredded cheese Combine hash, catsup and Worcestershire sauce. Place half the mixture in a 1 quart casserole. Arrange slices of one egg on top. Sprinkle with half of the cheese. Repeat procedure using remaining ingredients. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 20 minutes.

Your hobby may lead to extra money for you if you want to sell your handwork through want ads. Try this tested method.

Mayor Leads the Way

Mayor Lockwood's intent to secure more money for city employees' pay, as was brought out in his inaugural speech, merits support.

Municipal employees, as a whole, are a pretty conscientious group of workers and at times display magnificent composure while irate citizens go on a tirade on this or that matter. In Newton the city employees maintain a high standard and are to be congratulated on their sincere efforts to give a good day's work for a day's pay.

But somehow, in the shuffle of things, the employees of a community have been overlooked, except in the case of school teachers. Yet these employees, along with everyone else, have been faced with rising cost of living and probably have been neglected the most.

In championing a pay increase of all city employees, Mayor Lockwood has recognized the need for such action, and justifiably so. His recommendation to secure higher wages for all city employees is commendable and should be followed, even if it means temporary curtailment of certain other municipal requirements which can very well be postponed at this time.

The Graphic believes that the majority of citizens here feel as the Mayor does and that they concur with him in his recommendation that the pay of city employees be increased, at least to an extent to offset the increased cost of living.

Suppose it Was Your Kid

Suppose it was your kid—your girl or boy—happy, protected, cherished—with dreams of growing up to become a movie star or pilot.

What could happen to her—or to him, laughing and playing in the sun under your watchful eyes? The chances are, nothing.

But to thousands of such carefree loved, protected youngsters something did happen last year. Dreaded, sneak-attacking polio struck at them, childish laughter was stifled. There were days of pain—of excruciating anxiety—for some, a prospect of lifelong handicap. Suppose one of them had been your girl or boy.

January is March of Dimes month and during this time all of us have a chance to act as if our own children were among the unfortunate. We can strike back at this cruel disease by contributing generously to the MARCH OF DIMES to help them.

The job of getting kids back on their feet—in a literal sense—cannot continue unless you and I and all the rest of us put up more dollars and dimes than ever before. There have been 132,000 cases in four years, triple what used to be a normal number.

When you see the smiling-faced lad on the MARCH OF DIMES posters or in the newspapers, think of the good that can be accomplished for him and others like him through the MARCH OF DIMES.

Suppose there were no MARCH OF DIMES, suppose it were your kid and no help at hand...

Fortunately, there is a MARCH OF DIMES. You created it and you can give it the extra backing it needs this year because there are so many kids—and adults too—dependent upon it.

Who's to Blame?

Many employees, unfortunately, are beginning to regard their paychecks—after taxes—as their total pay. When tax deductions increase, they want the employer to make up the loss by raising wages.

If citizens and voters take that stand, there is little chance of ever getting taxes reduced. If everyone succeeds in passing the tax bill on to his neighbor, it's just the old rat-race down the road to inflation.

As far as necessary government spending is concerned, we are all stuck with it, and each should bear his share. When taxes begin to hurt too much, we should complain to Congress about spending for non-essentials, instead of trying to pass the buck.

It's Still Neighborly

Keeping those sidewalks free of snow and ice may seem old-fashioned, but it's still the neighborly and humane thing to do.

Pointing to present-day laxity on the part of property owners and tenants in meeting this responsibility the Institute for Safer

Living warns that the number of violent deaths and injuries on slippery sidewalks is growing year by year. This winter, with unusually severe weather conditions across the northern part of the country, may become the worst yet.

Property owners and tenants, says the Institute, should remember that while sidewalks are municipally owned in many communities they are still not relieved of their moral and legal obligations to keep sidewalks free of danger to the public. The following suggestions are offered for keeping sidewalks accident free:

Inspect sidewalks frequently to see if any holes, depressions, humps or other flaws have developed. If so, take steps to have them corrected. See that there are no downspouts or similar channels on your property which may allow water to flow over sidewalks and freeze. Many lawsuits arise from this cause of falls and the property owner is legally liable.

Don't delay, arrange to shovel snow from walks as soon as possible after it falls. This makes the job easier, and gives you and the public immediate protection.

Elderly persons or anyone suffering from a coronary condition should take it easy while cleaning walks, and in any doubtful instance, should first have an O.K. from a doctor.

Apply a combination of sand and rock salt or calcium chloride to walks immediately after a freezing snow or rain. Rock salt is preferable because it will do less damage to rugs if tracked in the house. All property owners or tenants should keep on hand such a supply of sand and melting agent, which can be purchased from hardware stores, building supply houses, or sand and gravel companies at nominal cost. A recommended mixture is one pound of melting agent to each hundred pounds of sand.

A twenty-five pound bag of melting agent is enough to last the average property owner through the most severe winter season. Some city street departments will be glad to furnish such a sand mixture to home owners who call for it at the city yard.

Claim files testify to the fact that sidewalk falls produce unusually severe injuries and a high rate of deaths. Such falls are often violent, and the victim may also suffer shock or heart failure due to tenseness at the time the fall occurs.

ON POLITICS

Eisenhower Backers Face Real Fight...

G.O.P. Trying to Avoid Primary Battle...

Senator Lodge and other supporters of General Eisenhower may be putting on something of a political act in expressing their delight over the statement he issued in Paris declaring his willingness to accept the Republican nomination for President if the delegates to the G.O.P. national convention vote next July to give it to him.

General Eisenhower's chances of becoming the G.O.P. standard-bearer may depend on what he meant in certain parts of his pronouncement and whether he actually intends to remain entirely on the sidelines and wait to be drafted.

Professional politicians know that there is really no such thing as drafting a man for the Presidency of the United States. A candidate gets delegate votes by fighting for them and by lining up the men who will cast them at the convention.

In Eisenhower's case the fighting and lining up seemingly must be done by the men who are running his campaign and apparently without much, if any, help from him. That may not prove quite as easy a task as it appears at first glance.

There are some States, for example, where Eisenhower's name cannot be entered in the pre-primary election of delegates unless he gives his explicit sanction, and if the General issues such an authorization he will be directly soliciting votes, which he has said he will not do. There are only a few States such as New Hampshire where his name can be entered without any action on his part.

"Under no circumstances will I ask for relief from this assignment in order to seek nomination to political office, and I shall not participate in the pre-primary convention activities of others who may have such an intention with respect to me," declared General Eisenhower.

We interpret that as meaning that the General will engage in no effort whatever to obtain the Republican nomination for President. We assume that it means that he will not allow his name to go before the voters in any State where his official assent is necessary.

A man would have to hold a tremendous appeal for both the people and the politicians to achieve a nomination under such circumstances, and while General Eisenhower is held in great respect and esteem there is no evidence that his prospective candidacy has fired the public imagination.

To the cold, practical professional politician, Eisenhower has one decided advantage over Senator Robert A. Taft. He probably would have a considerably better chance of winning election next November.

Even that observation can be tempered, however. On the basis of his showing in his home State of Ohio, when he won reelection in 1950, Senator Taft would be far from a pushover for President Truman, and Mr. Truman is far and away the strongest candidate the Democrats can offer. As a matter of fact, he is the only outstanding candidate on the Democratic horizon right now.

A good many Democratic leaders, among them Governor Dever, are beginning to realize that Supreme Court Justice Vinson, mentioned frequently as a possible Democratic candidate if Mr. Truman steps down, would be no political ball of fire.

Senator Taft has one big advantage over General Eisenhower as far as the Republican chieftains are considered. He's a politician and one of them. They know what to expect from him if he is elected. General Eisenhower is a military man. He owes no great loyalty or allegiance to the G.O.P. He has achieved his advancement, his success and his recognition under Democratic Presidents. His views on domestic matters are unknown.

From the way the political trade winds are blowing, it seems that Senator Taft is clearly leading in the race for the Republican nomination for President. With General Eisenhower maintaining a hands-off policy and leaving entirely to his lieutenants the promotion of his draft, the task of overcoming that lead may be far from an easy one.

Top Massachusetts Republican leaders already are trying to exact from the men who would like the G.O.P. nomination for Governor a promise that they will drop out of the race if they are passed over at the Republican State convention to be held in June.

This is part of an all-out movement to avoid a costly primary battle such as occurred in 1950 when the G.O.P. money-raisers spent so much in the fight for the nomination that they were almost broke in the subsequent election.

Republican House Leader Charles

Gibbons has assented to these terms. He is a candidate for the Governorship, but if the delegates to the G.O.P. State convention pass him over in favor of convention.

someone else he will withdraw from the State Senator Sumner G. Whittier of Everett, who right now shapes up as possibly the outstanding candidate for the G.O.P. gubernatorial nomination, probably will make a similar pact. Whittier, it is understood, is not interested in running for the Governorship unless he has a reasonably clear field in the primary.

Whether some of the other men disposed to bid for the nomination will enter the agreement remains to be seen.

Former Governor Robert F. Bradford is the mastermind behind the Republican plan to cut down the battling that has split the G.O.P. into factions in the past and has left feuds and scars. His maneuvering may place the Republican ticket in a much stronger position for next autumn's election.

Nine bell-ringers at St. Andrew's church in Swanick, England, went out on strike when the Rev. L. H. Roper told them they would have to attend services in addition to ringing the bell.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

THE STORY-TIME LADY smiles from the land of make-believe, behind the microphone. (Photo, Ralph S. Coolidge)

"Good morning, boys and girls," sounds a cheerful voice from the radio. "It's nine-thirty, Saturday morning, and that means it's—(then voices of children in the radio studio shout)—'Story Time.' And Elaine Reed, of Newton, radio's 'Story Time Lady,' is off to another 15 minutes of enchantment.

"I like to feel that my program not only amuses children, but is constructive," says the versatile, blue-eyed, honey-haired charmer. Like a fairy godmother, Elaine opens the door to the land of make-believe.

She animates stories with her own character impersonations. She's the lady of a thousand voices. Her program is designed to interest children, 4 to 10. She tells a wide variety of stories about wee folk and animals, from fairy tales to modern narrations.

One of her favorite stories is that of the "Churkendooze." This whimsical little character is a combination of chicken, turkey, duck and goose, and speaks in rhyme. Elaine's voice changes to that of a "Churkendooze" (of course) when she says, "I can't walk, I wouldn't take the chance, but if you give me some muffs, I'll go into my dance."

During her program, Elaine interviews children who are her guests in the studio. When she first began the Story Time show, she invited certain children to attend. Now, the program has become so popular with children and parents alike, that the studio is usually crowded.

Elaine sometimes has amusing answers to questions during interview time before her stories, and discussions afterwards. One little friend, when asked where flowers come from, answered, "From the garden, of course." Once the announcer, in giving timing cues to Elaine, pointed to a young man she was interviewing, (meanwhile she had one more minute), the little fellow looked at the announcer and said, "Nuts to you," right into the microphone!

Elaine finds children usually prefer the old time Fairy tales. She receives many comments on her show; and welcomes suggestions, or preferences as to stories. Parents enjoy tales that have a moral point.

Christmas day, she had a special show, featuring "Felix the Wise Man." The story goes something like this—Felix longs to see a wise man. One night a star appears at the window and tells him that he someday will see a wise man. Johann goes away to the city to make a fortune; Felix stays home and is called "Good Felix."

When he is old, his bother returns and after a pleasant visit, Felix falls asleep. Then the star again appears and shows him the way to the wise man, who turns out to be Felix himself. When Felix is gone from the village and this world, the people place a plaque on his door. It reads, "The House of Felix, the Wise Man." This story is only one of the moral type narrations which Elaine reads to the children.

Jay T. Stocking is the author of this story, and of many others that all have enjoyed. His month contests, where children compete with cut-out, coloring, etc. Lollypops are given to those who attend the radio show. Most of her listeners belong to her Story Time Club. They receive membership cards and buttons.

When she was 13, she conducted a play school group at a summer camp; a position which she held each summer for 10 years. "Perhaps it's there that I learned to love children, and grew to know them and what entertainment they liked," she says.

Miss Reed is a graduate of Newton High School and Lasell College, where she majored in journalism. While in college, she had a column in a local paper called, "News From the Lasell Campus." She gained her interest in radio as a means of expression while at Leland Powers, where she studied Theatre and Radio. She started out in radio as Radio Time salesman. Daily one minute spot commercials were her introduction to the air waves.

Always the mental explorer, she began her children's program two years ago, then ran a personal shopping column in The Newton Graphic newspaper. Besides her program, she is now an account executive with the O'Leary Advertising agency.

Elaine Reed says of her Story Time program, "Working with children is very gratifying and never dull." She hopes someday to have her own TV program. We feel that the kiddies who now go running to the studio, or listen to her voice every Saturday over WCRB radio station, will follow their "Story Time Lady" wherever she may go!

itself. Professor Abbott noted that short term debt, plus debt redeemable on demand such as savings bonds, amounted to something like $127 billion, roughly half the total debt of $256 billion.

As the debt grew during the war, Professor Abbott said, the quantities of assets held by the different portions of society—persons, business corporations, bank, etc.—also grew, and a larger portion of these assets was invested in government securities than had been the case before the war. Thus, the way in which the ownership of the debt was distributed could be described as the pattern of ownership. Were the pattern of ownership constant, debt management would be much simpler than it actually is.

But in a free economy, transfers of debt must take place among the several types of owners—people must be free to buy and sell their bonds. If these transactions result in larger holdings by the Reserve Banks this tends to expand the money supply and to increase inflationary pressures. Thus basic considerations in debt management are: How is the debt best accommodated within the asset structure of the economy? What portions should be owned by persons, business concerns, trust funds, banks, government agencies, etc.? How can the shifting in ownership of Treasury obligations that must take place in a free economy be kept from increasing inflationary tendencies? Professor Abbott indicated that, in his opinion, if the Treasury had been willing some years ago to abandon the "cheap money" policy that had governed its actions for twenty years the problems which it now confronted would not be so severe.

Fire Department

NEWS and NOTES

Winter is the dangerous season for fires in buildings largely because common-sense precautions necessary for safe operation of heating equipment are very often neglected. Winter fire hazards are likely to be more acute wherever and whenever there is a fuel shortage as it usually causes people to improvise their own auxiliary heating facilities, sometimes with little regard to fire safety.

Fire prevention and control of fires cover many items and conditions that nearly everyone can in some way take an active part. The major problem that is facing the Fire Department now is in trying to dig out the fire hydrants after the snow storms so that they will be available for use at all times. Many people have little regard for the fire hydrant, as they dig out their driveway or path, they carelessly shovel the snow on or around it, or place barrels of rubbish so close to it that when they freeze there it is impossible to operate the hydrant or even find it!

It should be remembered that the fire hydrants and the fire alarm boxes are your "silent friends" whose services may be required at any time of the day or night to help save your home, your business or your life if a fire breaks out.

No matter how aggressively the city departments tackle the job of snow removal it is usually several days after the storm before the snow can be cleared away from all of the fire hydrants in the community. Then as the streets are plowed again and again they may be covered up or the openings plugged so that they cannot be seen too easily. In the mean time, with the response of the fire apparatus slowed down by ice, snow, improper parking of autos and autos that fail to give the fire apparatus the right of way, together with the minutes lost in trying to locate and dig out obstructed hydrants, all of these factors can help make a small fire turn into a disastrous one.

Don't let the fire hydrant nearest your home or place of business become obstructed or buried. Every second it takes to get into operation means just so much more headway the fire is gaining, which might have been avoided by a few minutes of consideration on your part.

Without the proper and adequate water supply a fire department could be helpless. If there is any evidence that the fire hydrant nearest your home or property is leaking or is in any way damaged, please notify the Fire Department, BI 4-0030 or the Water Department at once. Many a small fire has spread beyond control and lives lost while the firemen have struggled with a damaged hydrant or one that was obstructed. In the event that you should have a fire or see or smell smoke that cannot be accounted for in your home, report it to the Fire Department at once. Do not waste precious time in trying to locate it until you have reported it.

This will enable the Fire Department to get there as fast as possible, consistent with the road conditions and prevailing weather and hold the fire if possible to the place of origin. If the fire is in a room that has a door that can be easily closed without injury to anyone, the closing will help to retard the spread of fire. Get everyone out of the building as fast as possible. If there is anyone who is sick in bed or infirm, be sure to notify the firemen as soon as they arrive so that they can make the necessary arrangements for their protection or removal. If we will all do our part many of these critical fires will be avoided.

In private life Professor Teeny is Robert W. Katz, a resident of Newtonville and a member of a Brookline law firm. Under the title of "Children's Radio and TV Programs", his address to the PTA will be based upon his conviction, borne out by the popularity of his own radio show, that juvenile programs need not be full of violence and crime to catch their audience.

To Head Muscular Dystrophy Drive

Chester A. Dolan Jr., of Jamaica Plain, well known clerk of the Massachusetts Supreme Court and former president of the Massachusetts Senate, where he served for twelve years, has joined the fight on muscular dystrophy.

At a meeting held recently, Dolan announced his acceptance of the post of campaign chairman of the Greater Boston Muscular Dystrophy Association. In its December-January drive, the national organization hopes to raise $750,000 to sponsor research to stop this brutal child killer. Boston's quota is $65,000. This will offer only one dollar towards research for each child who is going to die of dystrophy.

The research teams are available and willing to do research in this new field. Just recently a grant of $60,000 was given to a noted chemist and Noble Prize winner, Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgy, Director of the Institute for Muscle Research at Woods Hole, Massachusetts.

What they need now are laymen who can do anything from answer the phone to running bridge parties and dances, to raise funds to support this grant, and others that will be equally well spent.

Director of the campaign in Newton is Miss Helen Gusmini of 17 Bowen street, Newtonville, who says that the biggest job will be that of placing canisters in stores, theatres and restaurants.

Any residents who are willing to help in any capacity are asked to contact Miss Gusmini at LA-sell 7-1283, who will be glad to supply information about the disease, the organization that has been formed to fight it and where help is needed most.

Friendsgate Club Carries Out Many Activities of YMCA

Back in the fall of 1950 a group of Young Adults headed by Sergeant John Foley of the Newton Police, who were using the Newton Y facilities for informal dance classes decided that they would like to band together under the sponsorship of the Newton YMCA to carry on a more extensive recreation, social, and educational program for the benefit of their own age group, and in turn they would carry on service projects through the Y for the community.

In March they formally organized with a set of by-laws, a National YMCA recognition charter under the name of the Friendsgate Club—with the idea in mind that it could act as a gate to friendship for the working young adults who are new to the community and to those Young Adults, single or married, who wished to make new friends and enjoy the type of program offered.

To date the program has varied greatly since the dance sessions to satisfy the wishes of all.

There have been dances and parties, and outings ranging from back yard cookouts to mountain climbs and sailing trips. At other times they have renewed youth activities such as roller skating parties, etc. Combining recreation and education there have been such programs as trips through historical Concord and Lexington, and group attendances at theatrical productions.

The group holds two business meetings per month at which time programs, policies, and services to others are discussed and voted upon, thus the wheels of progress of the club have ground out a most successful program for this age group.

The services rendered to date have been to act as host to servicemen, to raise money for holiday meals for needy families in Newton, and to act as host and hostess guides and serve at enumerable Y functions such as the Annual Meeting and the New Year's Open House.

The officers of this group for the past year are President, Robert Roche of 99 Jewett street; Vice President, Miss Rosamund Armstrong of 5 Park place, Newtonville; Secretary, Miss Mary Hannon of 59 Boyd street, Newton, and Treasurer, Frank Bar-nicle of 200 Church street, Newton.

On Friday, January 11 the above mentioned officers will install the newly elected officers who will preside for the coming season. They are Mr. Robert M. Johnson of 212 Beacon street, Boston as President; Miss Eleanor MacCabe of 65 Boyd street, Newton as Vice President; Miss Katherine Francis of 49 Boyd street, Newton, as Secretary; and Mr. Harlan Kinsbury of 36 Oxford road, Newton as Treasurer.

Newton Art Association Painting Demonstration

At the next meeting of the Newton Art Association at the Newtonville Public Library, Thursday, Jan. 17th Mr. Otis Philbrick will be the guest artist. This meeting provides an opportunity for the members to bring a sample of their own work and have it criticized by a qualified artist.

The purpose of these occasions is to discuss such matters as draftsmanship, pictorial composition, and the use of proper color values to help the artist to make the next picture a little better than the previous one.

At the last meeting, Mr. James K. Bonnar, former president of the Association, and now President of the Boston Business Men's Art Club, gave a demonstration in oil painting. As the picture developed it gradually became clear why Mr. Bonnar is considered one of the foremost painters of New England marines and landscapes. He explained during his work, the importance of establishing the proper values, their relationship to each other, and their treatment in color and perspective, to produce the most interesting picture.

Some of the members are represented at the exhibition of the Boston Society of Independent Artists currently showing at the Museum of Fine Arts at Boston. Those represented include Harriet Appleton, Sophia Coty, Clare Hudson, Amy Jarvis, Harland Riker, Mrs. Grace Stone, and Mr. Bonnar.

Newton Highlands

Early in December the Newton Art Association met at the Newtonville Library, 85 members and guests, to view a demonstration in the oil technique, of the actual painting of a portrait. Rutledge Bate of Rockport, a well-known member of the Boston Guild of Artists, was the artist, and Dr. James Janney of Wellesley was the subject. Mr. Bate made a point of the importance of keeping in contact with the subject by conversation or gestures in order to attain the desirable objective of animation naturally depicted.

December 20, a Christmas party was held by the Association in the Newtonville Women's Clubhouse. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis were the most and hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Morris, also Club members, entertained the group with colored pictures, with running comment on their recent trip to Mexico.

December 26, a short circuit in a switch box at the Joseph Sykes Company on Needham street resulted in a fire to which three pieces of apparatus responded. Fortunately the blaze was soon extinguished.

Veteran Service Commissioner Edmund T. Dungan of Winchester street, was so unfortunate as to have his parked car struck and damaged by a driver who was blinded by lights from an oncoming car. Both cars had to be towed away, and the driver had to be removed to the Newton-Wellesley hospital for treatment.

Want ads don't look important and they don't cost a lot of money, but they are just about the most efficient and economical way to buy or sell, or to find a job or a new employee.

Personal Mention

What Shall We Eat . . . For A Sunday Snack

Sunday afternoons in mid-winter are a good time to catch up on the friendships we want to keep warm—to entertain the visitors whom the busy fall and holiday seasons kept us from seeing. And it's nice to be able to welcome them without being haunted by the "What can I serve them?" problem. A clever hostess can enjoy her visitors without reservation when she has on hand the making of refreshments that are flavorful and unusual like these Sunday Sandwiches.

Serve them with a glass of milk and you have a snack that's quick and easy, yet it has a party air when garnished with a bit of chili sauce and served informally before the fire.

Sunday Sandwiches for Four
1 6-oz. can boned chicken (1 cup)
1/2 cup celery, finely chopped
1/4 cup sweet pickles, finely chopped
1/3 cup mayonnaise
Salt and pepper
4 slices toast
4 slices cheese
Chili sauce.
Cut or chop chicken. Combine with celery, pickles and mayonnaise. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Spread on each slice of toast and cover with sliced cheese. Bake in a hot oven (400 deg. F.) or broil until cheese is melted. Garnish with a dot of chili sauce and serve immediately.

And the practical beauty of these Sunday Sandwiches is that almost any canned meat or fish can be substituted for the chicken—and, of course, leftover meat is delicious served this way.

YOU CAN'T BUILD ELECTRIC PLANTS FOR PEANUTS!

Building dozens of new units to produce electricity more economically—to help hold rates down—is an expensive job. For example, the post-war expansion program of the business-managed companies supplying New England's electric power already runs to more than a HALF BILLION DOLLARS.

Now, as you know, electric companies are not permitted to earn enough to pay for new construction on this scale out of their own pockets. Neither do they dip into the taxpayers' pockets via Federal subsidies.

Then where does the money come from? It comes from the savings of millions of thrifty people who realize the vital part electricity plays in New England's prosperity. As long as the electric companies earn a fair return on plant investment, prudent citizens will always be ready to help finance necessary expansion.

SO THAT THEY MAY WALK TOMORROW!

Despite yearly increases in March of Dimes receipts, the rising tide of polio has forced the National Foundation into debt each of the last four years. The debt in 1951 was approximately $5,000,000. The financial crisis faced by the March of Dimes has been brought about not only by increased incidence but also by increased costs and increased numbers of carry-over cases requiring aid long after they have been stricken. The March of Dimes aided 45,000 such cases last year, in addition to the four out of five new patients needing aid in 1951.

Precious Optical Illusion
 Palladium, one of the precious platinum metals, is the newest of the rare metals used in jewelry today. The majority of the engagement rings sold in 1950 contained diamonds weighing between one-sixth and one-third of a carat. Buyers of these diamonds frequently prefer to have them set in special settings that make the gems appear larger. It is important that these special settings be made of a white precious metal. Palladium is preferred because the diamond is held securely by this white metal of high strength.

Back in 1936, the world's first outdoor steam electric station was built in Utah. Today, the world's largest is being built on the Ohio River near Joppla, Ill., to power a new Atomic Energy Commission plant.

We're Rolling At High Speed But Not Fast Enough

As the March of Dimes drive for polio funds swung into its second week in Newton, campaign director Thomas W. Leydon issued this appeal, "We're rolling at high speed but not fast enough."

Reports reaching campaign headquarters showed that thousands in every community across the country were enthusiastically working to make the 1952 March of Dimes the outstanding event in the history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. This is necessary, Mr. Leydon said, because "the March of Dimes has not kept pace with the march of polio."

"The National Foundation cannot carry on its work efficiently if it has a reputation for 'slow pay' in meeting hospital and treatment bills for polio cases. The National Foundation, moreover, must continue to keep its promise to the people that no case of this crippling disease shall be denied adequate medical care for lack of family funds."

The coming week will be of vital importance to the drive, according to the campaign director. There are just three more weeks to cover this community and make sure that every contribution is collected. Those working in the campaign are trying to make it easy for people to give. In other words, they are ready at all times of the day to receive donations, the chairman said.

Donations for the Newton March of Dimes should be sent to Mr. William J. Payne, Treasurer, Newton National Bank, 384 Centre street, Newton, Mass.

They Look to You for Help

Geraldine Czarnecki visits Saul Morse during recess from schoolroom classes in polio ward of New York hospital. These two young patients and tens of thousands of others in all parts of the country look to the March of Dimes for help when polio strikes. Tripled polio incidence of the past four years has taxed the March of Dimes so severely that the 1952 drive period has been doubled to include all of January.

Short Facts About Polio

About 10 per cent of the total number of polio cases reported use the iron lung. The March of Dimes maintains iron lungs at strategically located depots, ready for emergency calls anywhere in the country.

Four out of five individuals stricken with polio cannot afford to pay all of the heavy medical expense necessary. In these cases the March of Dimes steps in and, with money contributed by you, purchases for them the hospitalization and the most scientific medical treatment for the disease.

Of every 100 individuals stricken with polio, 25 per cent recover completely; 25 per cent recover with no disabling after-effects; 17 per cent may be severely paralyzed and about 8 per cent may die. But the March of Dimes provides for care in whole or in part for every polio patient in the United States who needs financial assistance.

Full toll of polio cases for 1951 can only be estimated but the total is likely to run close to 28,500. The March of Dimes has come to the rescue of four out of five of these cases, providing them with hospitalization and patient care.
 By mid-October, 1951, nearly $7,000,000 in March of Dimes funds had been rushed to some 900 Chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis that had gone broke fighting polio in 45 states.
 Usually polio is only painful during the acute stage of 7 to 10 days, although severe cases may suffer pain for longer periods. The March of Dimes stands ready to help polio victims through the long weeks and months of convalescence.
 For every diagnosed case of polio it is estimated there are 100 to 1000 persons who have the virus in their systems without being ill. Those unknowingly affected can pass on the virus to susceptible persons. This explains why isolation and quarantine do not stop epidemics and why March of Dimes funds must always be on hand to combat outbreaks of the disease.
 The road back from polio is a long and costly one. Maximum recovery usually can be expected within 18 months, but improvement may continue for a number of years. So long as there is any change of medical improvement, the March of Dimes stays on the job.

Platinum "Anti-Knock"

In spite of their rarity and high cost, the precious metals are used as catalysts in the production of gasoline and nitric acid, and also in producing glass fibre, electric light bulbs, rayon, chemicals and pharmaceuticals. The exceptional ability of the platinum metals to withstand high temperature and severe corrosion are important in these applications.

Can you afford to give a dime . . .
 or can you afford not to?

Polio and its dread consequences are the ever-present threats that shadow the well-being of each and every one of us. No one is too young . . . or too old to be a victim of polio. Your dime will go a long way toward helping to ease the financial burden of stricken families . . . help give proper treatment to all who need it. Your dime can help lift the dark shadow of polio.

Nickel From Canada

The largest Canadian producer has increased its production of refined nickel approximately five per cent in the current year and the output of the second largest producer has also been increased. A new Canadian nickel producer will be in the field within the next two or three years.

Nickel Entertains

Essential elements of tubes of radio and television sets are made from nickel. Technicolor movies are dependent to a large extent upon this metal since nickel alloys are essential in the special machinery used in developing and transferring the film.

Two-Fold Discovery

Faraday's discovery of obtaining electricity from magnetism was observed through the use of an electroplating machine constructed by Prime and Company in 1844. Electroplating had a two-fold effect upon nickel — introduced silver-plated ware on a nickel silver base and nickel plating itself.

Your Income Taxes

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

(This is the first of a series of eight articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by Boston chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.)

Who must file a Federal tax return?

A Federal tax return must be filed by every individual who has taxable income of $600 or more during a taxable year.

Has my Federal income tax increased very much?

You will pay approximately 17% more in 1951 than you did in 1950. If your tax for 1950 was $250, your liability on the same income for 1951 will be approximately $293; if your tax for 1950 was $400, your liability for 1951 will be approximately $466.

How is my tax determined?

Your tax liability is computed by applying the following formula:

Gross income; Less-adjusted gross deductions.

Adjusted gross income; Less-other deduction.

Net income; Less-exemptions.

Taxable income.

The tax rates are applied to your taxable income. Each item in the formula will be explained in this tax series.

What is "gross income"?

Gross income is taxable income. It includes compensation for personal services, income from a business, profits from the sales of property, unless exempt from tax.

What is meant by "exempt income"?

Exempt income is income which does not have to be included in computing your tax liability. It includes such items as the following:

1. Interest on state and municipal obligations.
2. Accident insurance proceeds.
3. Benefit payments to veterans under the G. I. Bill.
4. Combat pay for enlisted members of the armed forces (limited to $200 per month for officers).
5. Group life insurance premiums paid by your employer.
6. Gifts and inheritances.
7. Life insurance proceeds paid as a result of death.
8. Old age and survivors' benefit payments under the Social Security Act or the Railroad Retirement Act.
9. Certain stock dividends.
10. Supper money paid by your employer.
11. Unemployment benefits.
12. Veteran's disability benefits.
13. Payments received under

Workmen's Compensation Acts. 14. Dividends on National Service Life Insurance.

Corrosion Is Expensive

Annual world cost of replacing and repairing corroded materials and equipment is estimated at $6,000,000,000 by the Electrochemical Society.

Birth Of Nickel

Recently displayed by International Nickel at the National Metals Exposition in Detroit was a scale model of the laboratory in which 200 years ago the Swedish scientist Cronstedt discovered the element nickel. Although the face of the model measures only 22" by 7", it contained hundreds of authenticated items of the time in miniature.

628 Pounds Per Diesel

Over 4,300 diesel locomotives were built during 1950, almost twice as many as in the previous year. These locomotives accounted for nearly 40 per cent of the estimated 6,500,000 pounds of nickel consumed by the railroad industry.

Plentiful But Hard to Mine

Nickel is distributed widely by nature but in only few localities is nickel mineralization sufficiently concentrated to constitute ore bodies.

The highest and lowest points in the United States are both in California, according to the Coast and Geodetic Survey. Mt. Whitney is 14,495 feet above sea level and Death Valley is 280 feet below. There are 41 peaks higher than 10,000 feet in the state. Sometimes people get giddy in California.

HOW'S BUSINESS?

The Chances of Deflation

By ROGER W. BABSON

The chances of any appreciable deflation before November 4, 1952, are about as good as the proverbial snowball! Nothing would hurt the chances of the Democratic party more in the 1952 election than a bad setback in business before then. Nobody wants to see Santa Claus! It is hard to kick a President out of office when everybody is enjoying good business. The Republicans are aware of this as are the Democrats. Hence, the Administration has not tried to stop creeping inflation; it is a good business tonic and has kept business up at present high levels.

Everyone also realizes that the present Administration is favorable to labor. There have been six rounds of wage raises since the close of World War II; and the seventh round is in the burning period. The demands of the CIO Steel Workers will be followed by the United Mine Workers—or rather by the demands of John L. Lewis. He will ask for and get more than Phil Murray gets, in order to show that he always gets more for his Union than any other Union leader. However, as much as we may dislike Lewis' methods, we must admit that he is a fighter and that he has done plenty for the United miners. With the Truman Administration, labor leaders are going to capitalize on the situation and "get while the getting is good."

How does business fit into this situation? Higher wages mean higher prices for the consumer. Some prices have already reached the buy resistance level. Any appreciable increase in prices from the present level is bound to reduce sales in many commodities. Then superimpose on all this added price burden more taxation and you can get some idea what eventually will happen to business profits—but everything will be done to keep business good until election. If Joseph Stalin wrote a program for us it would be higher money wages, higher prices, higher costs, excessive taxation, more inflation and ...

United States advertisers spend more than five and one half billion dollars a year offering their wares to the American people through newspaper, magazines, radio, television, billboards and other media, according to Printers' Ink. In 1950, newspapers topped them all with paid space totalling over two billion dollars, or better than 36 per cent of the total.

The divorce rate in the United States per 1000 population increased about five times from 1890 to 1950, or from .5 to 2.5, the United States Public Health Service disclosed. But the modern generation beats its grandmothers at going to the altar in the first place. 1950 marriages topped 1890 by 11 to 9, while in 1946 when millions of soldiers were returning home, American weddings reached an all-time high of more than 16 per thousand.

The best chance anyone has of getting married is to be a single girl of 15 to 17 years of age, the United States Bureau of Census discloses. She can figure on a 93.5 per cent of wedded bliss. The fabled fair, fat and forty female has a 20 per cent chance, or one out of five. The highest male expectancy of union is figured at 92.7 per cent at the age of 19.

The changing appearance of want ads is due to quick results.

Deaths and Funerals

JAMES STUART FARQUHAR

Mr. James Stuart Farquhar, age 77, died Sunday afternoon, December 30, at 3:30 p. m.

Mr. Farquhar of 524 California street, Newtonville, was born in Burnisland, Fife, Scotland, and lived during his early childhood in South Boston where he married Fire Chief Twiss's daughter, Annie Rebecca Twiss, in South Boston's old Holy Trinity Church.

After being very successful in the wool business, the newlyweds moved to Newton and purchased the old Celia Thaxter homestead on the corner of California and Nevada streets, Newtonville. Being a good friend of his Scottish neighbor Andrew Carnegie, "Jim" Farquhar was fond of calling his huge Victorian mansion, Skibo Castle in honor of his friend's home in Scotland (Andrew Carnegie). Mr. Farquhar was the retired president of the wool firm of Avery and Farquhar in Boston. Newton will miss "Jim" Farquhar's stories of how Newton was when he first arrived here from his former home in South Boston.

Mr. Farquhar died of hardening of the arteries just ten years after his wife's death. He is survived by a son, Malcolm R. Farquhar of Newtonville and a daughter, Mrs. H. Cecil Stockdale, also of Newtonville. He leaves a brother who is a prominent dentist in Medford, and another brother who is a retired warden of the Concord State Reformatory.

Funeral services for Axel A. Johnson, 80, of River street, South Acton, father of Dr. Raymond E. Johnson of 1082 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, who died January 2, were held last Friday at the Newton Cemetery Chapel.

Mr. Johnson leaves his wife, two sons, Dr. Raymond Johnson and Rev. Roland Johnson of All Souls Congregational-Unitarian Church of Lowell and formerly chaplain at Middlebury College, and a daughter, Mrs. Haviland Sutton of Cambridge, organist and choir director of the First Baptist Church of Norwood.

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen G. (Linahan) Roche, was held last Friday morning from her home, 58 Henshaw street, West Newton, with a Solemn Requiem Mass in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton at 9 o'clock.

Celebrant was Rev. John A. Saunders; the deacon, Rev. Francis P. Sullivan, and the sub-deacon, Rev. Robert E. Brennan. Pallbearers were Alderman Kenneth E. Prior, Thomas Minton, John Gleason, and Edward Kelly.

Interment was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline, with prayers by Rev. Francis W. Mackin, C.P.S., of the Stigmatine Seminary in Waltham.

DAVIS WILLCUTT

Funeral services for Davis Willcutt of 26 Larchmont avenue Waban, were held last Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Brigham Chapel of the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre.

Mr. Willcutt is survived by his wife, Mrs. Edna (Sarver) Willcutt; a daughter, Miss Priscilla Willcutt of Waban; a son, Taber S. Willcutt of Needham Heights; a sister, Mrs. Frank H. Roberts of Colorado; and a brother, William B. Willcutt of New York City.

Davis Willcutt

Funeral services for Davis Willcutt, of 26 Larchmont avenue, Waban, were held, Jan. 4, 1952 at the Brigham Chapel of the First Congregational Church.

Newton Centre. Mr. Willcutt was a realtor and appraiser, well known in Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts. He died in Needham Hospital, Tuesday, Jan. 1, after a long illness.

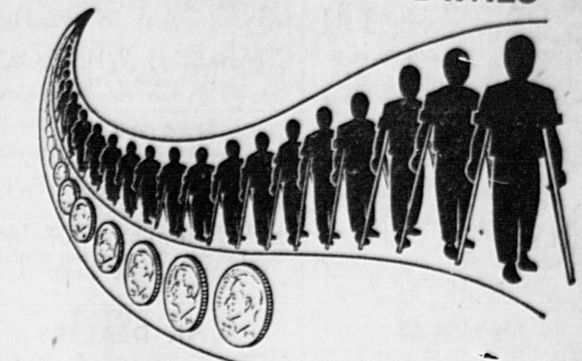

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Edna (Sarver) Willcutt; a daughter, Miss Priscilla Willcutt of Waban; a son, Taber S. Willcutt of Needham Heights; a sister, Mrs. Frank H. Roberts of Colorado; and a brother, William B. Willcutt of New York City.

Mrs. N. Peale to Speak

Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale, of New York, wife of the famous author and clergyman, will be the speaker at the afternoon meeting of the Institute sponsored by the Massachusetts Council of Church Women, January 17, which will be held in the Brookline Baptist Church, 1371 Beacon street, Coolidge Corner. The business meeting will begin at 10:30, with Mrs. Emil M. Hartl, president of the Council, presiding.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30. Reservations should be sent to Mrs. Ernest Porter, 74 Perry street, Brookline. Mrs. John H. Hitchcock, of Worcester, will preside in the afternoon. Mrs. Alexander Henderson will lead the worship service.

The March of Polio is OUT-PACING THE MARCH OF DIMES

March of Dimes incurred $5,000,000 debt aiding 67,800 Polio patients in 1951. This included 45,000 cases carried over from previous years.

Despite yearly increases in March of Dimes receipts, the rising tide of polio has forced the National Foundation into debt each of the last four years. The debt in 1951 was approximately $5,000,000. The financial crisis faced by the March of Dimes has been brought about not only by increased incidence but also by increased costs and increased numbers of carry-over cases requiring aid long after they have been stricken. The March of Dimes aided 45,000 such cases last year, in addition to the four out of five new patients needing aid in 1951.

"GIVE WHERE YOU LIVE!" January 3-31

THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION for Infantile Paralysis annually divides the Nation into County units. Your County, Middlesex, is one of the largest in area and population.

THE FUNDS collected during the four weeks of THE MARCH OF DIMES are disbursed over fifty-two weeks of the year.

AND no patient in our County has ever been refused help by our County Chapter.

HOW IS IT DONE?

From time to time we "borrow" or take back from Foundation Headquarters large amounts of money. This money is allocated from counties throughout the U. S. A. which have not been as "hard hit" as our own.

We have finished 1951 "in the red"

We know that Middlesex County folks WILL NOT LET US DOWN

We hope that you will heed local polio victims when they say—
"GIVE WHERE YOU LIVE"

Arlington Hands Orange First Season Loss, 3-1

The Newton High hockey set will attempt to snap back on the winning trail this Saturday afternoon against Melrose in a first ice engagement to make up for its first defeat of the season to Arlington last Saturday, 3 to 1, at the Boston Arena.

Melrose will enter the fray with a record of one victory, two losses and a tie. Melrose is statically and hockey-wise a second division club, and the Orange skaters, coached by Jack Hall, should have little trouble with this week's opponent.

Last Saturday's trimming by the Spy Ponders was very decisive, with Newton going scoreless until the last period after trailing by two goals. As a result, the Hallmen dropped out of a two-way tie for first place, and Stoneham takes undisputed possession of the top of the G. B. I. heap with four straight triumphs.

Entering the contest Newton had a perfect record of three successive wins to guard. But the Arlington icemen, improving steadily after an early season loss and one tie, proved too aggressive and rink-wise for the Jack Hall crew.

The Spy Ponders' captain Don Cronin hit for the red light late in the second period at just 7:15. Cronin picked up a pass from about the blue line from Art Noyes, soloed in past a Newton defender and jammed the disc net-ward in front of goalie Pete Rigby.

After Arlington tallied again at 3:39 of the third period on a solo by Leary, Don Thompson, able defenseman for the Orange club, zoomed in alone to ram home a backhand try that caught the right hand corner. Thompson drove down the right side to start his unassisted lamp lighter.

Arlington sewed it up later in the same stanza when Noyes flipped in a 15-footer after gathering in a pass from Cronin. Final goal came at 8:46.

The defeat drops the Orange skaters out of first place and in the No. 3 spot, behind Stoneham and Belmont. Belmont, Newton's future opponent, has three wins and one tie for the season. The summary:

Newton Trackmen Top Brookline as New Records Set

In its second Metropolitan League track meet, Newton High romped over Brookline High, 48 to 29, at the 101st Infantry Armory in Boston last Saturday afternoon, with rapid Bob Morrison and the Newton relay team setting the pace for the victory. Morrison ran away in the 600-yard run, setting a new record of 1:20.3 for the Met League. The fast Orange star also ran the anchor leg on the relay team, which finished one-tenth of a second better than the record set by Cambridge Latin.

Roland Pollard also created a new league record by clearing the wire in the high jump at 5 ft. 11.8 in.

Other winners on the Lem Boyle-coached track team were Don French, finishing the 1000-yard run at 2:37.6, John Newell in the mile with a time of five minutes, 13.610 seconds, and the 60-yard dash, won by Paul Gould in 5.8 seconds.

Newton's relay team was comprised of Gould, George Howland, George Flynn, and Morrison, setting the new record at 2:06.9.

Brookline posted firsts in the shot put, 300-yard run, and the 45-yard high hurdles.

Waban

Leaving old man Winter outside, members of Tau Beta Beta will enjoy a taste of spring when they meet January 8 at the Neighborhood Club in Waban. For there, Mrs. Albert R. Sharp, popular judge at flower shows, will give a talk on uses of flowers, demonstrating her talk with arrangements of her own. Hostesses for the afternoon include Mesdames Warren K. ## Newton Five Opens Season With 2 Wins

The Newton High basketball quintet opened its 1952 Suburban League battle last week by posting two wins to get off to a good start, easily downing defending champion Watertown, 51 to 33, Wednesday, and edging a good Rindge Tech aggregation, 52 to 48, Friday afternoon.

In both contests forward Don Magaw led in the scoring, dropping in a dozen points in the Watertown game and claiming a high with 15 in the Rindge encounter. Center Don Dunbar followed close behind in the tallying circle, with 10 points for the first game and 14 in the second.

Except for the first two minutes of the opening period, when Watertown led by four points, the Reggie Smith-coached team kept up the pace throughout the remainder of the game. Late in the third period the Orange exploded with a steady stream of layups and outside swish shots, pulling away to a wide point range in the last stanza to turn the game into a walkaway.

Rindge Proves Tougher
The Orange fell behind twice during the Tech engagement, but finally emerged with the victory with the help of center Dunbar, who sparked his club late in the game to sustain the win with two floor shots.

The 5-11 pivot man scored six of Newton's points in the first period for a 10-4 edge, but Rindge snapped back to close the gap to 10-9 and pull ahead in the second period, 13-12. Magaw came in for his bit of court magic, erasing a one-point lead with a set shot from the right which gave Newton the lead it never lost.

Dunbar hit from the outside, and forward John Marshall exploded for five straight points for a 19-17 margin. Marshall netted his points on a foul shot, a driving layup and tapping home his own rebound.

Rindge managed to keep in the game by tying the count in the third period at 25-25, but guard Bob Moss hit the basket on a floor shot and followed a Bob Vallee foul pointer with a rebound of a free throw.

A late one-hander from in front of the Newton basket by Dunbar widened the Orange scoring gap, 51-46 with only seconds remaining. Rindge threatened to pull the game out on a long one-hand swish shot by Tom Magnarelli, but Newton held fast to its lead and time ran out with the Smithmen on the long end of the 52-48 final.

The Newton Jayvees also posted double victories last week, edging Watertown's juniors, 34-33, and besting Rindge, 41-29. The summaries:

5,100 Children Take Part in PTA Council Skating Program

Average of 1,300 a Day at Sessions Held at Boston Skating Club

At the Executive Board meeting of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations held last Thursday at the School of Music, Benjamin Bereson, chairman of the Skating Committee, reported that 5,100 children had taken advantage of the skating program sponsored by the Council and held at the Boston Skating Club. This was an average of 1,300 children a week who were taken by bus and supervised while skating by members of the P.T.A.

A motion picture, "What Price Government" was shown through the courtesy of the Newton Teachers Federation. It was based on the findings of the Hoover Commission and showed in an interesting and simple way some of the reforms necessary in the reorganization of the various departments of government.

Mrs. Hazel Stratton, chairman of the Legislative Committee, urged the Council to take action on House Bill 1326, the Mayors' Bill. The Council voted to take action opposing the Bill.

The Council voted to sponsor a lecture by Dr. Louis Bates Ames, a staff member of the famous Gesell Institute at New Haven. "Why Children Act That Way" will be the subject of the lecture and will deal with problems of children from two years to sixteen. This event will be held at the Levi Warren Junior High School in West Newton, February 7, at 8 o'clock.

Charles Richter, assistant superintendent of Newton Schools, distributed to the members of the Council, the pamphlet published by the Newton Public Schools entitled, "For You—For Education in Newton." This pamphlet has been sent to Universities and Teachers' Colleges throughout the United States, in the hopes that the many advantages of the city of Newton and the advantages of teaching in Newton's excellent schools, will attract teachers to the schools here.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, on January 8th, the following resolution was presented by Mrs. P. Edward Eden, Vice Chairman of Service Groups, in commemoration of the death of Mrs. Emily Legnard, longtime volunteer of the Chapter:

Newton Chap. of American Red Cross, Pays Honor to Volunteer

Pass Resolution in Commemoration of Death of Mrs. Emily Legnard, Long-time Active Worker

"There are few in Newton Chapter—or in Red Cross generally—who have given as long and continuous service as did Mrs. Legnard. She became affiliated with the Chapter in 1920—only two years after it received its charter—and for thirty-one years gave of herself to the cause she loved most of all. Particularly active during World War II she gave, during that period alone, over 5000 hours of untiring service to the Sewing and Knitting Divisions of Production. Workrooms throughout the city knew her as the 'little lady at headquarters' who made all the sample garments, patiently remade articles when mistakes had been made, and inventoried the finished garments to make ready for shipment.

"When the Production quotas gradually ceased after the war, Mrs. Legnard continued to give service whenever and wherever called upon—Staff Aide, Canteen, Junior Red Cross, Sewing and other departments, adding another 2000 hours to her record.

"The words came from her heart when she so often said 'Red Cross has meant more to me than you will ever know. It is my life and I have received from it far more than I have ever given.' A retiring, sensitive person by nature, understanding friends know how she valued the little attentions of life—a kind gesture or a friendly smile. Those who had the privilege of working with her and knowing the high purpose of her life, feel she did not live in vain.

"He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and women and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it—whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; whose life has been a service to others.

Arrest May Solve Series of Thefts

The arrest of two 14-year-old Newton boys last Saturday may have solved a series of car thefts and handbag snatches in both Newton and Watertown, police revealed. The boys have already admitted riding 29 cars in parking lots in Newton and it is believed there are several others in Watertown and Newton for which the same boys are responsible.

Sergeant John Regan and Walter Drew of the Newton police arrested the boys in Newtonville as they were leaving a laundry which it is charged they broke into.

Red Cross Is In Need of Volunteers

Fund Workers for March Campaign Essential to Secure Success

The willingness of Newton people to volunteer their services, regardless of personal inconvenience is one of the heart-warming things about Red Cross. One wintry day a call came from Newton-Wellesley Hospital for blood of an extremely rare type. The Center had only one pint of this type on hand so the worker at the Chapter House turned to the file of volunteer donors. There were not too many of this type and most of them seemed to be out for the afternoon, so she was greatly cheered when a sweet voice on the other line said, "I'll be glad to go." The worker jumped into her car, picked up the donor, and within half an hour she was at the hospital. Months later the worker met her at a bloodmobile visit. "You know, I never told you that you picked me up, that I left a cake in the oven to go to the hospital. But I just turned the heat on again when I got home, and the cake came out fine!"

This is typical of the spirit exemplified by Red Cross volunteers in all services. At the moment the most urgent need, according to Chapter Chairman Maxwell P. Gaddis, is for volunteer fund workers for the March 1952 Campaign. Workers are needed to call on people in their neighborhood to solicit funds in order that the services of the Chapter to help those in trouble may continue. It may not be as dramatic as leaving a cake in the oven to give a pint of blood, but it is just as fundamental a service, for without funds to operate the Chapter House and to provide twenty-four hour telephone coverage for emergency such as this, the Blood Program and other vital services could not be carried on. Anyone willing to donate a few hours time during the month of March to fund solicitation may call Mrs. Henry T. Patch at the Newton Red Cross Chapter, LA 7-6000.

Maloney Re-elected Chairman of UVO

Group Want Flags to Be Flown Election Day

William J. Maloney of 46 Eden avenue, West Newton, was re-elected chairman of the United Veterans Organizations of Newton at the January meeting of the organization, held at the quarters of Post No. 50, Italian-American World War Veterans, on Adams street, Newton.

Elmer H. King, P. C. of Thos. Burnett Camp No. 10, USWV, was elected vice-chairman. Also elected were treasurer, James D. Coletti, commander of the Italian American War Veteran Post; Secretary Harry Kane, commander of Thos. Burnett Camp and Historian Henry N. Ellison, commander of Post 211, Jewish War Veterans of Newton.

Chairman Maloney is a past commander of Sgt. Eugene Daley Post, VFW, being a veteran of World War I. During World War II, he served as major in the Mass. State Guard, acting as executive officer in the 2nd battalion of the 26th Inf. MSG at the Irvington St. Armory, Boston. For 29 years he has been a member of the Newton Police Department, at present a desk officer at police headquarters.

Following the election, the UVON voted that Mayor Lockwood be requested to see to it that the American Flag is displayed in all polling places on election days in Newton.

Mr. Maloney reported that the Waltham Welfare Department had contributed 36 canes to the Sgt. Daley's drive for such canes. He presented to the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea, after a plea for these canes had been issued by the Commandant of the hospital.

The next monthly send-off, under supervision of the UVON, will take place January 29 when seven Newton boys will be inducted into the armed forces from Selective Service Hdqrs., 430 Walnut street, Newtonville.

The next meeting of the UVON will be held Tuesday, February 5, at the War Memorial Bldg., Newton Centre.

Mothers' March on Polio Asks Citizens to Turn On Porch Lights Between 7 and 8 P.M.

The Newton "March of Dimes" Committee is asking that all citizens turn on their porch lights January 31, between 7 and 8 p.m. A volunteer worker of the Mothers' March on Polio will call at every lighted home for contributions.

How the March of Dimes has helped polio patients in Newton in their fight for recovery was revealed today by Thomas W. Leydon, chairman of the Newton Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

In addition to Newton children and adults receiving aid this past year, polio patients stricken in previous years still are receiving assistance from the chapter for surgery, home treatment and appliances.

Mr. Leydon concludes: "The March of Dimes is Newton citizens' weapon in the battle against polio. More money contributed to the March of Dimes for treatment and research will assure ultimate victory for the people."

Recent Newton volunteers include Chief of Police Phillip Purcell, chairman of Municipal Division; Mrs. Margaret Watkins, vice chairman of School Division; members of the Coin Collection Committee, Herman Adleson, Newton Highlands; Harold W. Leydon, Newton Centre; Robert B. Turner, Newton Upper Falls; Dr. Morton Ross, Newtonville; Dr. Arnold Glashon, Newton Centre; Frederick B. Percy, Newtonville; Joseph Ahearn, Newtonville, Special Gifts Committee; and Mrs. Joseph Ahearn, Women's Division.

Advertising Showed 15 P. C. Increase During Last Year

Newspapers Receive 37% Of Total Sum Spent

Expenditures on advertising in all media in 1951 by United States advertisers reached a record of $6,548,200,000, up 15 percent over 1950, the magazine Publishers' Ink stated in its issue last week.

The estimate, described as preliminary, was prepared by the central research department of McCann-Erickson, Inc., advertising agency.

It reports national advertising at $3,761,200,000, a gain of 16.2 percent, and local advertising at $2,787,000,000, an increase of 13.5 percent.

Newspapers got the largest share in 1951, the report says, amounting to $2,226,000,000 or 34 percent of the total.

Work Being Done at Children's Center Vividly Told in Talk

"Behind the Scenes at the Children's Hospital and Children's Medical Center" was the subject of Mrs. James W. Sever, Public Relation Chairman of the Medical Center who spoke to the directors of the Newton District Nursing Association, a Red Feather Agency at their monthly meeting in the Newtonville Library, Monday morning.

Mrs. Sever told in a fascinating manner about the work done at the Children's Center and its affiliated units which is the only hospital of its kind in the world. Pictures of types of cases and the care which is given to babies and children through adolescence illustrated her vital message. Outstanding work is being done there in infantile paralysis.

A moving picture "That Children May Live" was also shown. Mrs. Thomas Lanman, the president of the Nursing Association conducted the business meeting. The Association's outstanding work in Newton was reflected by Miss Hilga Nelson's

Vote Seven Percent Pay Adjustment

Hourly Rate Employees Also Receive A 15c Per Hour Increase

A seven per cent cost of living adjustment pay increase, with a maximum of $300, for all city employees, as compared to an across the board increase of $312 as recommended by Mayor Lockwood, was unanimously voted at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday night. The Board also voted an additional increase of 15 cents an hour for employees on an hourly rate.

This action, based on a 12 month period, would mean in the opinion of some city officials a $4 increase in the tax rate this year and together with a similar action by the School Committee, would mean another $1 increase or an increase in total of about $5.

During the discussion on the proposed increases, no little amount of plain language was spoken and it was pointed out that under the raise, clerks in the employ of the School Committee will receive about $630 a year more than clerks doing the same type of work in City Hall. Alderman Clyde S. Casady asserted that he was opposed to across-the-board raises, which are not based on merit, and that the raise to the hourly employees did not commit the Board to similar raises for the rest of the personnel.

Aldermen Paul S. Rich and Leo M. Cannon asserted that the raise to hourly employees committed the Board to similar increases to the other employees when the budget is adopted. "Raises to the hourly wage employees cannot be retroactive so that such increase could not

Child Welfare Program to Be Held at High School Jan. 29

January 29, the Newton Teachers Federation is sponsoring a Child Welfare Conference in the Newton High School Auditorium. The purpose for holding this meeting is the growing realization on the part of all that child welfare is an area in which many different agencies and institutions are interested and that their efforts must be coordinated if we are to serve children as well as we can. The Newton Teachers Federation hopes by sponsoring this Conference that the activities and functions of the various Child Welfare Agencies will be better understood by those working with children.

The following agencies and representatives will present their various functions and activities in a series of workshops:

Girl Scouts, Miss Elizabeth Richardson; Boy Scouts, Leigh M. Nisbet; Newton Community Council, Mrs. Eugenia T. Copeland; All Newton Music School, Mrs. Mabel B. Worth; Family Service Bureau, Mrs. Catherine S. Holden; Rebecca Pomroy House, Miss Helen I. Sandstrom; West Newton Community Center, Mrs. Elizabeth G. # Fire Department

NEWS and NOTES

Several cases are on record where persons have been seriously burned in connection with banked fires in home heating equipment. In some instances serious property damage has resulted and in a number of cases people who were sleeping in the house have died from the effects of escaping toxic gases that the furnace or stove liberated.

With a bed of hot coals in a furnace it is common practice to bank the fire at night. This is done by placing a considerable amount of fresh coal on the fire and by closing off the draft and the damper in the smoke pipe.

The new coal, being acted upon by the hot coals below, generates gases and builds up a certain amount of pressure. The gas is mostly carbon monoxide, which however, cannot burn because there is not sufficient air to support combustion. Even though the furnace door might be left open, thus providing air for combustion, there will still not be any burning of these gases if the blanket of new coal is too thick for the flame to come through it. Under these conditions the mixture of readily combustible carbon monoxide and air may completely fill the furnace or stove and even the chimney.

With this mixture of air and heated combustible gases, there is only needed a flame for an explosion or flash to take place. This flame comes eventually, due to the burning through the blanket of coal. Sometimes the ignition is so rapid as to produce explosive effects, blowing off doors on the furnace or stove or wrecking the stove pipe and flues. Under these conditions, flames may be discharged and woodwork or other combustible materials can become ignited. It may liberate large quantities of smoke and fumes, which seeping through the house undetected may result in death to the occupants.

Furnace back drafts have seriously burned people when they have opened the furnace door to inspect the progress of the fire. As with all other preventative matters, knowledge of what happens and why is necessary if such explosions and back flashes are to be prevented.

First and most important, always leave a small spot of hot coals exposed. Thus any gases will be ignited before they accumulate in dangerous quantities. Second, cut off all intake air from below the fire, and third, provide plenty of air above the fire.

The proper procedure in banking a fire in the ordinary house heater is to pull the hot coals to the front of the fire box, letting them slant downward to the back of the furnace. Then put on fresh coal, but leave a spot of hot coals, about the size of a hand, uncovered at the front. Open the ports in the firing door and close off all bottom drafts. The damper should not be entirely closed.

Even with these precautions, slight puffs may occasionally occur. If the smoke pipe is poorly installed, or badly corroded this may result in opening up the pipe sufficiently to allow smoke to fill the house and do considerable damage, or possibly have a harmful effect on the occupants.

When cleaning out the ash pit of the stove or furnace never place the ashes into any type of a combustible container, such as wood, paper or cardboard. The hot ashes may ignite it and in turn set the building on fire. Be safe and use only a metal container which is placed a safe distance away from easily combustible materials.

Smoke pipes from furnaces using oil should also be checked, to make sure that they are in good condition and not clogged. A clogged pipe may cause the smoke to back-up and be forced out of the cracks of the furnace door. Chimneys should be cleaned out periodically to make sure that a fire will not start in them. It also helps to improve the draft so that the fire will burn correctly.

Mrs. Gustav Hagen Spoke at D.A.R.

On Monday, January 14, the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., held its monthly meeting in the Chapter House at Newton Lower Falls. At 1 o'clock coffee, sandwiches and cakes were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Edward Frost, Mrs. George F. Howland, Miss Eva Van Wagenen, Miss Jane Hobart, Mrs. Elmer M. Kling, Mrs. William Carroll Hill, Mrs. Henry P. Richmond, Miss Jennie B. Kenrick, Mrs. Arthur C. Dunmore, Miss Edith R. Robinson, Mrs. S. Seifert Smith, with Mrs. Walter R. Amesbury and Mrs. Leslie P. Phinney as co-chairmen.

The business meeting opened at 2 o'clock at which delegates to the March conference to be held in Boston March 20 and 21 were elected. Mrs. Gustav A. Hagen and Mrs. Merwin S. Giles are delegates by virtue of their offices as Regent and Vice Regent. Elected as delegates were Mrs. Benjamin G. Rae and Mrs. Arthur S. Tucker. Alternates were Mrs. J. Walter Allen, Mrs. Harry D. Cabot, Mrs. Harold A. Carnes, Mrs. George H. Norton, Mrs. Edward B. Parker, Mrs. Leslie P. Phinney and Mrs. Louis J. Vassalotti.

Also elected at this meeting were the members of a nominating committee for the annual election of officers at the May 12 meeting. The members of this committee are Mrs. Paul E. Duttelle, Mrs. Edward B. Parker and Mrs. Peter M. Strang.

The program, honoring past regents, was in charge of Mrs. Merwin S. Giles who introduced five past regents of Lucy Jackson Chapter: Mrs. Edward B. Parker, Mrs. J. Walter Allen, Mrs. George F. Howland, Mrs. Holcombe J. Brown and Mrs. Frank S. Larkin, each of whom gave the highlights of her term of office. Mrs. Hagen spoke for Mrs. John H. Eaton, regent from 1924-1929, since she was unable to be present.

A very pleasing conclusion to the afternoon's program was Mrs. Larkin's showing of slides of Memorial Continental Hall in Washington.

Blood Donor Visit Adds to Blood Bank

The supply of blood in Massachusetts, drained dangerously low during the holidays, was appreciably improved as a result of two bloodmobile visits in Newton last week. One hundred forty-four pints were collected in Auburndale on January 8, while the Freshmen and Sophomores of the R.O.T.C. unit at Boston College donated 168 pints on Jan. 9.

Laureate's Lines

The Newton Graphic invites its readers to submit to this column, original, unpublished verse, sonnet, or prose. Name of poet must be included.

To a well-loved teacher, concerning her work and project, on the occasion of her retirement:

Under the spreading universe
Miss Mabel Smith doth stand,
Her forge a flaming crater,
Protected by some sand.

The children watch the planets
Revolve about the sun;
They see the moon, the earth,
The stars,
They see the lava run.

What are the children thinking,
As they contemplate with awe
These colorful examples

Of universal law?

I know what we are thinking,
As we gather here today
In tribute to a teacher
Who has been a cosmic ray.

We are thinking of the kind of thing
That time cannot erase:
Of character, integrity,
As permanent as space.

And of a teacher's orbit,
So small and yet so vast,
Dynamics of an influence
That evermore will last.

And so we say to Mabel Smith,
"May all your skies be blue,
And through the days and months and years,
May time be kind to you!"

Highland Glee Club Sings At Boston Rotary Club Weekly Meeting

The Highland Glee Club of Newton filled an unusual engagement on Wednesday of last week when they sang at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Boston at the Hotel Statler. Forty-five members of the club who were not out of reach of the Statler by business or professional duties were on hand at noontime to be guests of the club at luncheon and to offer a representative and well-balanced program from the club repertoire.

Following the Rotary business meeting, President John "Joe" Quinn called on McKinley H. Warren, chairman of the program (and who has more than a passive interest in both Highland and Rotary), to present the entertainment of the day. Mr. Warren gave a short background sketch of the history, personnel, and seasonal activities of the glee club and introduced from the head table President George H. Wight and Director D. Ralph Maclean.

The singers then took over to give for three quarters of an hour a varied program from the vocal fanfare of "A Choral Prelude" by Homer through sprightly, folksong, comedy, and sacred numbers to the closing patriotic number composed by Geoffrey O'Hara, "Sons and Daughters of a Land Re-born."

Tenor solo parts in two southern negro songs were carried by Norman M. Dow. The singing of the double chorus arrangement of the 400 year old polyphonic "O Magnum Mysterium" by J. Handl was enthusiastically received as was Irving Berlin's "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" which draws its lyric theme from an inscription on the Statue of Liberty.

The Highland Glee Club felt well repaid for its mid-day excursion to the Statler's Georgian Room by the warm and responsive reception given by music-loving Boston Rotary.

News In Brief

DUE IN SENATE. A new move to call State Labor Commissioner John J. DeMonte of Newton before the Massachusetts Senate for possible contempt proceedings, has been made by Sen. Philip G. Bowker (R., Brookline), who led the drive to censure DeMonte last year. He filed a new order last Monday to call DeMonte in next Monday for questioning about a speech he made at a labor convention in Boston last month, while the Legislature was in recess.

ALL BUT ONE. All except one of the 15 food establishments which were given pre-license renewal tests were approved before the end of December, it was stated this week in a monthly report of Chief Sanitary Officer Harlan W. Kingsbury of the Health Department.

THREE INJURED. An operator, a pedestrian and a passenger in a car were injured in auto accidents here during the weekend, according to reports to the police traffic division. James Young, 37, of 114 South Main street, Natick, was treated at the hospital for lacerations of his scalp and face. An injury to his left leg was suffered by Frank J. Cunningham, 61, of 400 Cherry street, West Newton, when he was struck by a car at about 6:50 p.m., Saturday. Marjorie Schmeisser, 28, of 25 Elanson road, Natick, complained of an injury to her knee and foot, after a car in which she was riding was in collision with another car Sunday at Boylston street and Meredith avenue, Newton Lower Falls.

INFLAMMABLE SWEATER. An inflammable sweater was uncovered in Newton Monday, when it was turned in by Louis DeGorio of 731 Washington street, Newtonville. He told police he bought the sweater for $8 last week. The sweater was being held in the inspector's Division until authorities could determine whether to take any action against the seller.

Letters to the Editor

SIDEWALKS IN NEWTON

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I would like to suggest that homeowners shovel a path along their sidewalks. It need only be a narrow one, if backache forbids anything too elaborate. I offer this suggestion for the following reasons:

1. Old people simply cannot brave the deplorably slippery sidewalks left unshoveled by fully 90 percent of home owners. They, therefore, must remain confined to barracks.

2. Middle-aged, young people and school children, however, must brave the elements. They must buy the family groceries or go to school. Use the car, you will say. Well, everyone has not got a car. Moreover, he or she who plutocratically does possess one, may not be able to get it out. It is pretty difficult and very perilous to carry a peck of potatoes on Newton's perfectly ghastly sidewalks. It is polite and thoughtful to help one's fellow citizens by clearing the sidewalks.

3. You cannot depend on that little snow plow. I have only seen it one active service once this season. On that occasion it invaded Lake avenue like a juggernaut. As it noisily and destructively proceeded along our sidewalks, it ripped up as much grass and earth as it threw snow to the side. It removed a lot of snow but it left plenty—enough to break your neck on. I sighed for the old horse plow.

4. The law says you must clear your sidewalk whether you like it or not. If you think you can use the road—just try it! You are most certainly asking for trouble. The average automobilist is naturally sadistic. Hitting you would give him joy. No! do not use the roads.

5. If someone should decide to fall and break his leg on your ice-covered sidewalk, you can be brought into court. You can be forced to pay a fantastic sum to compensate for medical and hospital bills, and time lost. If you carry insurance of course you need not worry, provided you have enough. But if you have not protective insurance, believe me you will have to pawn everything you own to pay the award granted the plaintiff. Do not forget this either, juries invariably decide for the injured party. If the milkman, postman, or pedestrian fractures a bone on your sidewalk and you have failed to shovel it, Mr. Homemaker, you will be the loser by many thousands of dollars.

Therefore, the moral is, attend to the sidewalk in front of your home. The police will not force you to do so. Your conscience should.

W. MacDONALD, M. D.,

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Wood of Natick announce a daughter, born at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Parents of mother are Mr. and Mrs. Calrk E. Woodward, Brookline, formerly of Newton Center. Parents of father, Mr. and Mrs. Horace D. Wood, of Waban.

Miss Mabel Smith Ends 26 Years of Teaching Duty

"I've taught the children of my former pupils and now I think I'd better leave before I have the grandchildren in my classes."

Miss Mabel Smith, who has taught Sixth Grade pupils at the Franklin School, West Newton, for 26 years, retired the first of the year after 26 years in the Newton school system. Still full of energy and enthusiasm for the future, Miss Smith is thoroughly convinced that life has just begun and not ended.

Recently, Miss Smith was given a testimonial by the Franklin P.T.A. when she was presented an electric clock-radio as a going-away gift. Mrs. Dorothy Flagg, one of her former pupils made the presentation on behalf of the P.T.A. The school auditorium was filled to capacity for the Christmas program which featured the Bedford Bell Ringers. Miss Smith was also guest of honor at a testimonial dinner in her honor given at the Abner Wheeler House in Framingham, by 28 of her associates on the faculty at the Franklin School, who presented her with a gold watch.

A former resident of Waltham and Newton, Miss Smith now makes her home at 51 Kingsbury street, Wellesley. After graduation from the Waltham High School, she studied at Smith College, and later lived abroad for a year and a half.

She began her teaching at private schools in Washington, D. C., at the Lincoln School, Providence, R. I., and then taught at Miss Carroll's School, West Newton, prior to joining the staff of the Newton public schools.

On her retirement, Miss Smith plans to spend a few weeks' vacation in Connecticut. After that, she would like to continue her work in dramatics and speech work.

That old table or lamp you have no further use for may be just the thing someone is looking for. Let them know about it with a want ad.

"Creeping Socialism"

In a world where dangers lurk on all sides, "Creeping Socialism" is one of our most dangerous enemies.

Americans are alert to the menace of Communism and even Stalin's stooges know we'll have none of it.

But many of us have been and still can be fooled by socialist proposals advanced under the so-called "Welfare clause" of our Constitution.

It is a fine thing, for instance, to aid the unemployed, but it is something else to pass laws that enable idlers to winter on Southern beaches while the rest of the country is in the grip of a hard winter.

To protect the is a noble objective, but in doing so we must not discourage all saving for a rainy day. There are many other objectives, good in theory, but in practice leading to "Creeping Socialism."

Let us firmly resolve to detect all such menaces to our liberties, and fight to save the nation from them before it is too late.

The Tax Collector Is Here

The Federal tax collector's 1952 bite into the family paychecks began when whistles and bells heralded the New Year Tuesday.

And like the man who comes to dinner and outstays his welcome, the tax collector will be with us, nibbling away at the family paycheck, until 1952 rolls away to join the endless past.

The 1952 tax bite will average about $409 for every man, woman, and child in the United States. From the average family of four the collector will seize about $1,636.

ON POLITICS

Democrats Lack Presidential Candidates . . .

Whether Governor Dever intends to do so or not, he is creating the impression that he does not believe President Truman intends to run for reelection.

In serving notice that he and other Governors do not propose to allow Mr. Truman to dictate the nomination of Supreme Court Chief Justice Vinson as the next Democrat for President, Mr. Dever has made quite an impact upon the public.

He has tempered his pronouncement by emphasizing that he will support the President if he stands for another term, but the fact nevertheless remains that Dever is threatening what amounts to a revolt against any attempt by President Truman to tell next July's Democratic national convention what to do.

One thing certain is that the Democratic conclave will be the setting for a terrific battle next summer if Mr. Truman decides to yield to his wife's urging, leave the White House at the end of 1952 and return to Independence, Mo.

The blunt fact of the matter also is that the Democratic party, which has run the White House since 1933, will be hard pressed to nominate an outstanding candidate if President Truman steps out.

Justice Vinson seemingly has little color, and as a campaigner he probably would be no ball of fire. But it will be that he would be the strongest contender the Democrats could nominate. Justice Douglas, who is understood to be Mr. Truman's second choice after Vinson, has announced that he would not be a candidate for either President or Vice President.

When Senator Douglas of Illinois was here last week, he suggested that if the Republicans nominate General Eisenhower as their candidate for President, the Democrats should do the same, with the two parties choosing different candidates for Vice President in order to preserve the two-party system.

In response to questions as to who he felt would be the strongest candidate the Democrats could name if Mr. Truman stepped out, Douglas named Senator Kefauver of Tennessee.

Kefauver commanded tremendous publicity by his crime probe last winter, but most practical and realistic politicians privately believe that he probably would not be a potent Presidential candidate and that he might be a setup for either Taft or Eisenhower.

Senator Kefauver is very unpopular with his colleagues in the South. President Truman and the Dixiecrats, in fact, see eye to eye on just about one thing. That is their mutual dislike for Kefauver, and the Dixie delegates certainly would resist any move to nominate him.

Presumably, Kefauver as the Democratic candidate for President would carry the South since he is from Tennessee. But despite his civil rights record, which is just about as tolerant as that of President Truman who is facing another Dixiecrat uprising if he runs again, we doubt that Kefauver would be able to carry those Northern States where the colored voters hold the balance of power. A good many Negroes would be very likely to hesitate about voting for anyone from Tennessee, irrespective of his record on civil rights.

If you strike out Vinson, Douglas and Kefauver as Presidential possibilities, you begin to get down to names that don't carry a familiar ring to the rank and file of Democratic voters. Should Vinson be the candidate, incidentally, someone other than Barkley would have to be his Vice Presidential running mate. Both Vinson and Barkley are from Kentucky and under the Constitution the two could not hold office at the same time.

An unusual aspect to the Democratic future is that Vinson would be acceptable to the Dixiecrats but that Kefauver, from the deep South, would not.

President Truman's political plans constitute the No. 1 mystery of the day in Washington, and Mr. Truman seems to delight in mystifying the newsmen who sit in on his press conferences. Some of the persons very close to the President say they don't really know what he actually intends to do.

Senator Douglas echoed the widely held opinion that Mr. Truman will stand for reelection if Senator Taft is the Republican candidate for President but will retire from office if Eisenhower is the G.O.P. nominee.

The implication behind Douglas' statement was that Mr. Truman believes he could defeat Taft but considers he would lose to Eisenhower.

Other observers, however, interpret some of the President's past pronouncements as meaning that he would step out if the Republicans nominate a candidate who would pursue his own program for permanent peace but would run again if the G.O.P. puts up an isolationist.

Mr. Truman and General Eisenhower see eye to eye on foreign policy, and the President does consider Taft an isolationist.

But President Truman himself knocked out that line of reasoning last week when he declared that he will make known his intention before the Republican national convention in July. Unless the G.O.P. picture changes a great deal before July, Mr. Truman won't know in advance of the convention who the G.O.P. standard-bearer is to be.

Mrs. Anna Katzman of Hartford is still trying to reconcile the two notices she received from city officials. The first informed her that the tax assessment on her tenement house had been raised 20 per cent. The second notified her that the building department had ruled the structure unfit for occupancy.

Fire Chief Archie Conner of Hobbs, New Mexico, closed down his department for two days and posted a warning which read, "Positively no fires allowed!"

Mrs. Catherine Towsersey obtained a second divorce in London after charges that her husband was carrying on with the same woman she had named as correspondent in 1934 when she divorced him the first time.

When a Birmingham judge asked him what his initials stood for, a jury member named W. J. Weaver explained: "My mother and daddy had eleven daughters in a row. They decided to call me Welcome John."

Forrest Rollins of Los Angeles was indignant when he was arrested for going out into the street unclad to buy a package of cigarettes. "This is the way God made me," protested he to the unsympathetic cops.

Three years after getting punched in the nose in a street brawl, Steve Senich caught up with his assailant and presented him with $10 because the blow had cured Senich of an old breathing disorder.

Just before the S.S. Sibajak sailed from Rotterdam for New Zealand, a Dutch emigrant cancelled passage, explaining that his mother and sister had not yet finished knitting the six pairs of socks he needed for a fresh start in life.

After Stanley Decker got roaring drunk at a party given by the American Airmotive Corp., he took part in five fist fights, was hauled away by police and fined $10, he explained to a judge: "I was there to keep the other guests from acting the way I did. I'm a private detective."

A Seattle driver had a remarkable explanation when Police Captain R. W. Zottman quizzed him as to why he had been driving 60 miles an hour on a slippery street. "I was listening to a traffic safety program," he said, "and when the announcer asked, 'Will you be America's millionth traffic victim?' I just forgot where I was and started going faster."

Molly Mayfield, a sob sister on the Rocky Mountain News in Denver, got a letter from a correspondent named Eve who wrote her: "After 34 years together, I'm beginning to dislike my husband. He has developed a marked resemblance to President Truman."

On trial in Elk City, Okla., on charges of illegally possessing liquor in a dry state, Clyde Brewer was held in contempt of court when he admitted that during a recess he had consumed half a pint of Exhibit A.

Bartender Rafael Ruiz has asked El Paso police to find a man who walked into his tavern, asked for a $10 bill in exchange for ten $1 bills, then gave Ruiz back the $10 bill and the ten $1 bills in exchange for a $20 bill.

OF OUR COUNTRY

While serving aboard the attack transport U.S.S. Latimer with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, Edward L. McBarron, storekeeper, third class, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McBarron of 36 Aberdeen street, Newton Highlands, spent the Christmas holidays in Naples, Italy.

Cpl. Richard W. Van Why, 38 Elm street, Newton, has been awarded the first Oak Leaf Cluster to his Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service during nine months of Korean combat. Cpl. Van Why, who has departed Korea for the United States, served with the heavy tank company of the 3rd Division's 7th Infantry Regiment. He initially was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in action. The Oak Leaf Cluster was presented in recognition of Van Why's service between November 17, 1950, and August 31, 1951. His wife, Doris, also lives in Newton.

Private Frank B. Smith, 21, of 63 Harvard street, Newtonville, has arrived at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation for a 16-week basic training cycle. His schooling with the famed 5th "Red Diamond" Division will include the care and use of light and heavy infantry weapons, living in the field, strenuous day and night marches, and combat tactics. Most of his training will be conducted by combat-toughened veterans of the Korean conflict, or veterans of battle in World War II. Pvt. Smith was an attendant at the Frary Service Station before he was called to the service.

Spotlight on the Newtons

ROBERT D. HALL, JR. (left) Newton Graphic staff and Jaycee member, discusses newspaper coverage of Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce Safety Campaign with Stuart M. Spaulding (second from right), Jaycees President, and Safety Committee—(left to right), Charles E. Feeley, police officer; Richard E. Eagan, and Robert Moulton. (Photo by Ralph S. Coolidge).

Action—Get out the votes! Clean up the town! Let's organize our troops for the physically handicapped! What about a Junior Civic Symphony! Christmas parties for needy kids!!! A manifestation of "don't take no for an answer," the Newton Jaycee organization, though only three years old, has already put on a successful Heart Campaign, a Freedom Crusade (support for Radio Free Europe), and more recently, sponsored, "Bicycle Paint-Up Week."

Jaycees support worthy projects to benefit the community. They are now going all out for the Mass "Boy's Town" and March of Dimes program. A Safety Campaign is now in progress.

Edwin West conducted a safety survey at the corner of Highland Avenue and Walnut streets, Newtonville. In a 25 minute period, between 9:00 and 10:00 in the morning, he discovered 25 jaywalkers. At a stop sign, eight out of 10 motorists failed to obey stop signs. These evidences of potential accidents need no further proof that safety needs attention, now!

Patrolman Charles E. Feeley, chairman of the safety campaign, says, "There seems to be a complete indifference to safety signs. People will drive right through a stop sign, yet slow down at the sight of a policeman, whether they are detected or not. Fear of tickets, not safety, makes them pay attention to traffic regulations."

The Jaycees are extending their Safety Program to adults and children. They expounded their aim on the airwaves at WCRB last Tuesday. Their program may be seen on WBZ-TV, Friday, at 1:00.

The Junior Chambers of Commerce are expanding their efforts to Hawaii and Alaska. Jaycee groups have now been formed in 40 foreign countries, including Canada, Mexico and the Philippines. Their good work has spread as far as Hong Kong and South Africa.

It all started in 1915, when

Henry Geissenbier, St. Louis, Missouri, decided there should be a young men's organization to help civic affairs.

Nearly everybody in the new organization enlisted in the first World War. When the boys came home, Clarence H. Howard, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce aided the Jaycees, which was then called, "Young Men's Progressive Civic Association."

In gratitude for assistance, the name was changed to, "Jr. Chamber of Commerce." A helping hand is the only present association with the Senior Chambers of Commerce.

The conflicting names and Universal membership of Jaycees has caused a movement to change the name to Jaycees International.

Membership is limited to ages 21 to 35. "Middle-aged" Newton Jaycee President Spaulding, is 28. "Stu" Spaulding studied at Peekskill Military Academy in New York, and M. I. T. In June, 1943, he entered the Coast Guard. Independent to the core, he has his own radio and television service business.

An experienced leader, Stu is a past president of the YMCA Softball league, past director of American Legion, Newton Post 48; a member of the Newtonville Improvement Association, and member of the Senior Chamber of Commerce. He is now captain of the Numac bowling league.

Mr. Spaulding is married to the former Dorothy Lawson, of Waltham, and is father of a five and a half year old boy, Charles.

Ronald. Stu's father, Charles, Ralph Spaulding was well-known in this locale as Supervisor of Instrumental Music, Newton School Department.

Jaycees are the "cream of the crop," everywhere. They have two purposes: To improve and develop their community, and to improve and develop themselves for business and civic leadership.

Where do they get funds for their projects? Well, they smile at this question. Jaycees usually work on a shoe-string and the sweat of their brows. Funds are derived from membership dues and private donations. As Newton has but 40 members at present, the "shoe-string" is worn rather than! But again, through their own hard work, valiantly, they carry on!

Jaycee President Spaulding has this to say: "The Jr. Chamber of Commerce is the only organization of its kind wherein a young man may gain leadership and knowledge of civic duties, doing what he can to improve his community, state and nation."

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

THE CENTRAL IDEA What's new for '52? NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

1. HEADING UP the progress parade are still more smooth, clean new diesels. Enough are due in '52 to put New York Central's diesel-electric horsepower over the two and a quarter million mark. Since the start of 1945, that will mean a three-fold increase for your Railroad.

2. SEVEN YARD GAIN! East and west, seven of your Railroad's key freight-switching yards are being enlarged and streamlined. New, longer tracks... scales that weigh cars while switching... new diesel service facilities. Progress in yards to put shipments miles ahead on New York Central!

3. GETTING THEIR LETTERS! Thousands more new freight cars will join New York Central's great transportation team this year. They'll bring your Railroad's new car total since 1945 to more than 59,000! Every one will do more work, too, thanks to Central's faster modern freight trains.

4. IN YOUR COMMUNITY and every other along New York Central's 11,000 miles, these improvements will mean still finer rail service. Fast, all-weather movement to market of the things you grow or make... dependable delivery of the things you buy or use. For that is the CENTRAL IDEA!

All Newton Music School Mid-Winter Meeting Is Held

The Board of Trustees of the All Newton Music School held its mid-winter open meeting at the school Wednesday evening, January 9. Dessert and after dinner coffee was served at 7:30 o'clock followed by a short musical program presented by Arlene Babbin, soprano, recipient of the William Lester Bates Scholarship, and Beverly Bickum, pianist, holder of a Mothers' Auxiliary Scholarship.

After the music, Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, vice-president, presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Philip Guile, cordially welcomed the members of the board, staff, faculty, and guests who were present. Mrs. McGinn spoke of the unusually active program of the Music School reporting that the enrollment of 536 individuals was the highest in the school's 41 years, the piano department alone numbering 308 students and the average weekly attendance running to 650. She announced the opening of a new department for double bass instruction and one for class instruction in recorder playing.

Morris L. Brown, treasurer, in his financial statement reported that the school was in good financial standing, having been over 85 percent self supporting in 1951, the remaining 15 percent being a grant from the Newton Community Chest.

The chairman of scholarships, Mrs. Eugene Lebert, gave an interesting account of the five special funds which made it possible to award scholarships each year to talented and outstanding students of the Music School. She listed the funds as follows: Luke-Seaver Memorial, established over 35 years ago; William Lester Bates Memorial, established in 1946 at the time of his death in memory of Mr. Bates who had been vice-president of the board of trustees for over 20 years; Mothers' Auxiliary Scholarships established in 1948; to be awarded for outstanding talent, co-operation and school spirit; Newton Chamber Music Committee Scholarships for violoncello study; a new scholarship for piano study given by her family in memory of Anna J. Cook, who for six years was a student at the Music School; and the Elizabeth Fyfe, Honorary Scholarship to which gifts have been steadily coming in since the scholarship was established last April, as a tribute to Miss Pyffe on the 40 anniversary of the founding of the school.

Mrs. Loomis Patrick reported briefly on a new music playing adult group meeting at intervals, under the direction of Donald March, for the purpose of playing good music together. There have been two meetings so far, with others scheduled for the coming months.

Plans for necessary rehabilitation of the Music School Building were outlined by Mrs. C. B. Jones, chairman of the House Committee. Mrs. Jones reported that during the summer, a new roof had been installed on the entire building and other repairs made during the fall. She was especially pleased to call attention to the executive office just completed and waiting now for furnishing. Mrs. Jones said there was still much to be done before the building would be in presentable condition and hoped that funds would be made available to go forward with this necessary work.

Mrs. McGinn called on Mrs. George Arnold, chairman of the Mothers' Auxiliary, who spoke briefly on the activities of this group and then introduced Mrs. Henry Balos, chairman of the Spring Auction to be held on Saturday, April 25, at the Newtonville Woman's Club on Washington Park. Mrs. Balos gave an exhilarating account of the plans already well under way and made a special plea for donations of treasures and worth while articles for the auction.

Mrs. Worth, executive director, reported that the annual conference of the National Guild of Community Music Schools would be held at New Haven, Conn., Feb. 1, 2, and 3, and extended a cordial invitation to all present to attend if possible. A brief resume of the excellent program planned for this conference was read. For the Fifth Annual Pop Concert which has been set for Friday evening, March 28, a long list of sponsors will be announced in the near future.

Mrs. McGinn, in introducing the guest speaker, Mr. Harold Gores, superintendent of the Newton public schools, said that it was a great pleasure to present one who was an outstanding educator as well as administrator and one who expressed himself as being especially interested in the All Newton Music School, the work and progress of which institution he had followed over a period of several years.

Mr. Gores spoke to the group on the needs of the child in a rapidly growing community and drawing upon his wide and varied experience, presented much food for thought to all interested in the educational and cultural advancement of the youth of our own community as well as the country at large. His talk brought the evening to a close on a high inspirational note.

Dance Program Presented At Newton Club Meeting

The January meeting of the Newton Junior Women's Club featured Esther Newton's Dance Academy under the direction of Esther McMullen. An interesting program was presented with various dance steps demonstrated.

The program opened with the "Sappy Tapper" consisting of Micheline Lentino, Nancy McElroy, Sandra DeAngelo, Maurer Denahy, Jeanne Cormier, Janet Boudreau, and Maureen Regan. Other highlights of the evening were an acrobatic dance performed by Rose Marie Geng, a ballerina dance by Lynn Sawyer and a rhythm tap executed by Cynthia Boudreau.

Peter McMullen, Robert Sampson, Paul Deutscher and Allan Deutsch were the boy acrobats who also did a very fine job.

The evening ended with Mrs. Richard Brown, club member, giving her own dance steps for the benefit of club members. The meeting ended with refreshments served by Mrs. Edward Williams, III, of Waban.

New Year's Baby Is Pleased With Many Gifts

LITTLE MISS SUSAN FARIST BUTLER appears a little unconcerned but her mother is beaming as she views the 5 Way Wonda-Chair which will be presented to her next week by Babyhood Distributors, 108 Huntington Avenue, Boston, because little Susan was the first baby born at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital in 1952. Besides Mrs. Butler and Susan, others show in picture are Elaine Sinoff, who is telling Mrs. Butler of the many advantages of Wonda-Chair, and Mr. Jerry Ricchuti, Boston manager of Babyhood Distributors.

Miss Susan Farist Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Butler, Jr., 14 Nimitz road, Natick, didn't wait until she became of age for her debut to the public. She came into the limelight and was pictured on the first page of the Newton Graphic, with the honor of being 1952's New Year Baby.

Miss Butler accepted all congratulations with poise and dignity, for such a young lady. We were unable to receive a statement from the new celebrity, but word has been received that she is enjoying the many gifts given her for her prompt arrival as first baby of the year, at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

One of the gifts that we understand she will soon be testing, is the fabulous, functional "Wonda Chair", given by the Babyhood Distributors Company, 108 Huntington Avenue, Boston. Susan cast the "glad glance" at the Wonda-Chair, which was demonstrated to her mother this week; but, we must confess, she gave a "aren't you rushing me" yawn to her mother, during the demonstration. But as she'll be spending a lot of time discovering its delights, we'll describe this novel chair for her future reference.

Wonda-Chair is a three-piece convertible, which has five different uses.

As a Hi-Chair, it is Tip-Proof. Locked on, (not snap-buttoned) crotch strap and airplane type safety belt of durable plastic will insure safety from any conceivable danger. Adjustable back will encourage Miss Butler to nap comfortably after eating or playing. Adjustable foot rests fit growth, and encourage healthful leg exercise. The reinforced tray is practically unbreakable. Seamless, crack-proof, it's as easily cleaned as a china dish. Susan will enjoy the luxuriant upholstery of Boltflex which is moisture-proof, stain-proof, more durable than leather.

As a Youth Chair, it will provide a comfortable seat at the dinner table, when Susan can eat with the folks. Mrs. Butler simply has to remove the tray, for this conversion.

As a Tot's Table and Chair Set, Wonda-Chair will provide the link in changing to more grown-up furniture, with the same familiar chair transformed. Porcelain-hard table top is scratch-proof and may be cleaned with a damp cloth. This will aid mother's efficiency.

Incidentally, if Susan isn't listening, we'll give mother the tip that Wonda-Chair, thus transformed, will make a convenient snack table after baby has retired.

As a Car Seat, the lower frame wedges between seat cushion and back cushion. It will be safe even if Mr. Butler has to stop in a hurry. For added comfort and convenience, tray and footrest may be attached in a jiffy. Reclining back will permit Susan to use Wonda-Chair as a car bed on the rear floor.

As a stroller, mother will find it light and easy-rolling. Susan will enjoy its comfort and safety. It has a strong plastic safety belt and crotch strap; positive action two-wheel friction lock brake. Heavy rubber tires, reclining back and adjustable footrest are other attractions. Even Susan (well, maybe a bit later) could snap on the chair section. Handles collapse when not in use.

Wonda-Chair is light weight, sturdy and tip-proof. A grown man's weight on the very edge will not upset it. (Try it, Mr. Butler!)

Wonda-Chair salutes our New Year's Baby and to Susan we say, "Many Happy Birthdays," may they all be as eventful!

Tax Rate-

wait until the budget is approved, it was pointed out.

About 550 hourly employees, who now receive $1.38 per hour, will under the new schedule receive a 15 cent an hour raise, plus the seven per cent cost of living adjustment which figures to about 9 1/2 cents per hour, making their total $1.62 per hour.

The vote for the 15 cent an hour raise to hourly employees was unanimous, while the vote on the cost of living adjustment was 19 to 1 with Alderman V. Stoddard Bigelow opposed asserting that more time was required to study the raises.

Alderman Rich opposed the cost of living adjustment at this time for those employees who were awarded the 15 cents an hour increase.

Voted for the hourly employees were the following sums: Public Buildings department, $1200; Recreation, $1600; Street, $40,000; and, Water, $4535.

Cost of living adjustments for the first four months of the year were voted as follows: General department, $85; Executive, $1560; Civil Defense, $140; Accounting, $550; Treasurer, $850; Assessing, $850; City Clerk, $700; Veterans Service, $275; Law, $100; Engineering, $1600; Public Buildings, $2490; Police, $14,300; Fire and Wire, $16,500; Sealer, $95; Health, $1400; Welfare, $1300; City Physician, $75; Library, $3000; Recreation, $3150; Street, $35,000; Public Works, $160; and, Water, $26,208.

Wonda-Chair is light weight, sturdy and tip-proof. A grown man's weight on the very edge will not upset it. (Try it, Mr. Butler!)

Wonda-Chair salutes our New Year's Baby and to Susan we say, "Many Happy Birthdays," may they all be as eventful!

PRESIDENT STUART SPAULDING of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce is shown presenting to Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood a traffic safety display donated by the Junior Chamber for educational purposes here. Shown looking on approvingly is Police Chief Philip Purcell who is constantly striving to improve the traffic safety record of the city.

Mayor Lockwood Endorses Jaycee Safety Drive Here

At a City Hall gathering of twenty-five or thirty people Tuesday afternoon, Mayor Theodore Lockwood commended the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce for their interest and continued activity in civic affairs. At the same time he acknowledged and endorsed the Safety Program of the Jaycees which is under the direction of President Stuart M. Spaulding and Safety Officer Charles E. Feeley.

In accepting a Safety Display donated by the Junior Chamber of Commerce through President Stuart M. Spaulding, Mayor Lockwood commented at length on the definite need of some sort of educational program that might be effective as regards traffic safety. This is especially so in view of the apparent indifference of altogether too many Massachusetts drivers to the conventional traffic signs. The Jaycees suggested program utilizes humorous but effective traffic sign posters which are meant to acquaint the non-receptive drivers and pedestrians with the meanings of the various general forms of regular traffic signs.

Also endorsing this safety program at this meeting was Chief Philip Purcell of the Police Department and numerous City Hall department heads. Others at this meeting in the Mayor's office were C. Evan Johnson, head of the Recreation Department, Lt. William E. Burke of the Newton Police, Mr. Carl Peirce of the Executive Department, Miss Louise Egglestone and Miss Janet Rounding of the Municipal Research Department.

The Police Blotter

OF NEWTON

Home on Walnut street, Newtonville, was broken into last Friday between the hours of 6 and 12 p. m. Entrance was made by breaking the glass in the dining room door over the loft. First and second floors of the house were completely ransacked. Owners had been away in Texas and are reported to be driving home.

A 59-year-old insurance salesman was admitted to the Newton-Wellesley hospital with a bad concussion received from a fall down his cellar stairs last Saturday night.

Officers Rogers and Rivers answered a complaint that a gang of boys were breaking street lights in the vicinity of Allerton road around 10 p. m., Saturday. The marksmen were gone when police arrived.

Officer on the beat found the front door of a Newton Corner newspaper office unlocked. Owner notified that the door could not be secured.

Newton police picked up three inflammable sweaters last week. A Parmenter road resident reported his suspicion when he purchased one of the dangerous articles, and two men, described as 24 and 40, tried to sell some "hot" jackets to an employee of a Washington street firm in Newtonville. The men were driving a large sedan. Captain Crowley investigated.

Borderline courtesy was displayed last week when the Brookline police requested Newton police to meet their cruiser at the city line and take a woman to the Wellesley line, at which point the Wellesley police would transport the VIP to her home in Wellesley. The operation went off without a hitch.

A lost dog was taken to Station No. 1 last week with a Chelsea license tag. Officer Madden informed Chelsea police and learned that the dog belonged to a party that had recently moved to Newton.

A Newton Lower Falls resident reported that the roof of his convertible was torn off while parked in a gas station overnight last week. The car was also moved about 25 feet out of the station and onto Washington street in front of his house next door.

While attending church services last Tuesday evening, a woman claimed that someone stole a purse containing some change and three keys from her pocketbook.

A 10-year-old boy caught his right hand in a mixer master and needed the apparatus of the Newton Fire Department to extricate his paw. Officers McCormack and Dwyer took the lad to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment of cuts to the hand and fingers.

After breaking off the lock on a door of a second floor apartment on Newtonville avenue, an intruder replaced the lock again with a piece of cardboard and two new screws to hold it in place. Nothing was reported missing following an investigation by police in answer to the owner's call.

A male resident on Commonwealth avenue reported that he received two telephone calls from an unknown person last week. The party used indecent language, speaking in a soft voice.

Woman reported the loss of a red sweater and a red velvet skirt somewhere in Newton Corner last Tuesday afternoon.

Inspector Halloran investigated a complaint of a worthless check being passed at a coffee shop in Newtonville last Monday night.

Newton Quintet Downs Waltham, 38-33, for Third

Coach Reggie Smith's basketball aggregation swept to its third Suburban League victory last Friday night, edging its traditional rival Waltham High, 38 to 33, at the Waltham High gym. Forward John Kreider paved the scoring trail for the Newton quintet with 15 points, and the Orange kept its slate clean to hold onto first place in league standing along with undefeated Brookline High.

Newton never fell behind in the scoring, getting off to a fast start, and warding off a late-game Waltham threat to notch the win.

The Crimson's high scorer for the thrilling evening battle was 6-5 center Ray Deveaux with 12 points to the good, sparking Waltham's last minute scoring spurt which brought his club to within four points of Newton.

Waltham closed in with only a minute left to play as Deveaux dropped a foul shot to knot the count at 33-33, but Kreider took a jump tap and swished in a one-hander to break the deadlock and the Orange never worried thereafter.

John Magaw and Fred Dauten flipped in eight points apiece to follow Kreider in the scoring department. Kreider netted seven floor goals while sinking one foul try. Led by a front wall made up of Kreider, Magaw and Dauten, Newton jumped off to a 14-1 edge during the first few minutes of the game.

In the junior varsity tussle prior to the main event, the Waltham JV's edged Newton, 25-24. Tom McGovern was high for the Crimson with eight, and Willard Hamill netted nine points for the Newton cause.

In an independent fray played last Wednesday afternoon at the Newton High gym, the Orange quintet downed Thayer Academy, 45-31. Freider was tops in this affair also with nine markers, and left the game early along with the rest of the first stringers. Most of the Smith seconds finished the court tilt.

Morrison Sets New Met Record

Setting a new Metropolitan League record for the third straight race, Newton's ace trackstar Bob Morrison ran away with top honors in the 600-yarder in just 1m 19.8s, beating his closest rival by 10 yards, as the Orange track team beat B. C. High, 47 to 30, at the 101st Infantry Armory last Saturday night.

In the third Met League meeting Morrison lost the lead to B. C.'s John Folan but caught him in the backstretch to win handsily. Also setting a new Met record was Roland Pollard who won the high jump at 5ft. 11 1/2 in. Both records were for Division I.

This Saturday will be the day for the 25th annual indoor track meet held by Northeastern University at the Boston Garden for 44 high schools. Morrison will probably be the star attraction in the 600-yarder, as he tries to better his own record. Newton will enter about 27 track men in the interscholastic meet. ## Orange Hockey Team Posts 2-1 Victory Over Melrose in G. B. I. Tilt

The Newton High pucksters were forced to come from behind to notch their fourth victory of the season in the G.B.I. League last Saturday afternoon, with Paul Fitzgerald breaking a 1-1 deadlock in the last period on a back-hand stab for the winning goal, giving the Orange a 2 to 1 triumph over Melrose at the Boston Arena.

Coach Jack Hall's lads needed to warm to their task after a rather slow and aimless first period which saw Melrose charge down for the initial tally, putting the pressure on the Newton skaters. The Hallmen were equal to the assignment and Joe Salvia counted with the tying marker in the middle stanza, and Fitzgerald accounted for the winner in the third.

Except for its one defeat at the hand of an improved Arlington sextet last week, Newton has a clean record of four victories, and take up second place in the G.B.I. standings. Stoneham, winner of five straight, appears to be the league's classiest outfit and leads the rest of the high school members.

The Orange played last week's first period in a casual manner, allowing Melrose to score easily at the six minute mark. Wingman John Connolly picked up a side board pass from Fran Twail and beat goalie Dan Coffey with a forward smash, the puck jumping over Coffey's stick and between his legs.

Salvia and center Don Fox combined to give the Orange the tying goal in the second period, at just 4:48, and Fitzgerald came up with the final tally at 1:44 of the last period on a backhand drive after grabbing a pass from Fox on the side.

It will be do or die for the Hall-coached club this Saturday when it collides with the fast-skating and scrappy Stoneham sextet. Stoneham is usually a tight defensive organization.

Leading the league in points with 19 scored against opponents, Stoneham has allowed only four tallies to go by its nets. An experienced front wall made up of center Charles Sprott and wings Bob Bemis and Steve Larson can move the disc around at a fast clip. The highest scoring game was against Rindge Tech when the Stoneham skaters tallied eight times, while allowing Rindge one goal.

Day Junior High School Notes

The week of January 2 marked the Crusade for Freedom campaign in our school. We enrolled 100 percent and raised $39.49 to help combat Communism with the truth concerning our Democracy.

The basketball season opened with games between Day and Weeks Friday, January 4. Day varsity defeated Weeks by a score of 33-32; the J. V.'s lost, 25-30.

Our principal, Ralph Morse, has been holding informal talks with ninth grade classes which are now looking forward to the selection of high school curriculum.

Now that pupils are approaching the half-way mark in the school year, Mr. Morse pointed out that each one should make a self-inventory in terms of where am I? Where am I going? Am I doing my best? The development of good study habits and maximum effort will pay big dividends in the years to come.

At a recent meeting of the Newton High School Music Club, the members voted unanimously to support the Operation Music Project of which Mrs. Serge Koussevitzky is the national chairman. Operation Music is one of the many interests of Children to Palestine, a Christian sponsored organization. The purpose of this project is to collect music materials, records, instruments, record players—old or new—to be used by musically talented orphan children of war-torn Europe who have found a haven in Israel. The Music Club has already started its drive which will last until February 1.

At that time all schools and colleges of Greater Boston will begin their for the month of February.

Thus far, a great deal of material has been brought in by students of Newton High School. Information about materials that are available are brought to Connie Brown, Pam Cook, Jack Bresnahan or Mr. Lasker, who is the chairman of the Boston District. Any heavy materials are picked up by proper representatives.

Hold Exhibit At Jackson Homestead

Historic Dioramas In Return Showing

Posters are in evidence throughout the Newtons announcing a return showing of the historical dioramas at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton. These beautifully-constructed little scenes of historical events which took place in this area are on loan to the Trustees of the Homestead through the courtesy of Filene's.

Among the subjects is a depiction of John Eliot, reaching to the Indians on Nonantum Hill in Newton. These may be viewed each afternoon, Tuesdays through Saturdays, from three to five.

Further notice comes from the Homestead of a special exhibition of fire apparatus to be shown Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 1, 2, and 3, from three to five.

At the winter meeting of the Bay State Historical League at Tufts College, Saturday, January 19, Mrs. Madeleine A. Arnold of the Homestead led a discussion program for a group of workers engaged in historical activities. The subject under consideration was "How to interest children and young people in local history." Many interesting suggestions were contributed by the group.

An increasing number of organizations in Newton are taking advantage of the program offered by the Homestead, either at their regular meeting places or in combination with a group tour of the house. Arrangements for a talk with slides on the subject of old Newton may be made by calling Mrs. Arnold at DE 2-3920.

Gray, president of the Newton Hospital and Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, director of the hospital presented the greetings of the trustees and the hospital staff.

Mrs. Abraham E. Pinanski, chairman of the committee on Women's Hospital Auxiliaries was the principal speaker and discussed the value of the well organized auxiliary to the individual hospital and to the community which it serves. Mrs. Pinanski stressed the need for raising the sights of the members of the auxiliary to the state and national levels so that legislation affecting hospitals and hospital services could be understood and acted upon by those interested.

Mrs. Theron B. Walker presented the reports of the Coffee and Gift Shops which are among the major producing activities of the Association. Last year the Coffee Shop served over 99,000

To Send Records to Students in Europe

Album of Music Is Being Assembled for Shipment

The students of Newton High School, under the direction of Mr. Donald March and Mr. James Remley, and with the sponsorship of the American Junior Red Cross, are composing an album of records that is to be presented for the benefit and enjoyment of the students of Europe. This album will also show those boys and girls what American students are doing in the line of music.

The numbers being recorded are Hallelujah by the A Cappella choir, America the Beautiful by the orchestra, Jacob's Ladder and German Instrumental by the Boys' Chorus, March Gloria Choral from the Sleeper's Wake by Bach, and Nocturne by the Girls' Chorus. A recording is also being made by the Danceband of Bewitching, a song in last year's Spring Musical. Peggy Montgomery will again have the lead, backed up by Beverly Bickum, Peggy Gallagher, Natalie Mollomo, Janet Tevekelian and Connie Golub.

The idea of making these recordings was that of several students after hearing albums that other high schools had made.

Mayor To Urge His Wage Proposal Be Sustained

Taxpayers to Ask for City Pay Analysis

Opportunity Now To Use Revised Salaries To Improve City Service

The Mayor's veto of the Aldermen's vote on a cost of living increase for city employees gives Newton a chance to do a really constructive job on its wage and salary scale, asserted Lorenz F. Mather, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week in commenting on a proposed $600 pay raise for city employees.

Stating that taxpayers know only too well about the increase in the cost of living, Mather affirmed the approval of an approximate $300 raise. He noted that the hourly paid workers of four departments already had received such an increase and said that other employees should not be penalized in relation to them.

It is the additional proposed $300 that really bothers, declared Mather. However, although it would be difficult, it would not be impossible to apply adjustments within that figure so as to begin to use relative financial reward as an incentive to both supervisory and regular personnel to give the citizens better service.

Analysis of Schedules

An analysis of the pay schedules within and between the departments, a comparison with business practice and that of other municipalities, a review of the current employment market by classes of work and at least a start on eliminating old inequities in the pay scale is not too hard to accomplish between now and the passage of the budget, Mather said. Many of the city executives and employee groups have a good deal of that material already practically at their fingertips. The rub really comes when the results of such an analysis are to be translated into individual pay checks.

"In view of the recent course of events, the whole problem of wages and salaries can be handled more openly than has been the practice in past years," stated Mather. "The Taxpayers' Association has long recommended a re-examination of wage scales and last year proposed a budgetary procedure reform. The desirability of both those proposals is enhanced in my opinion by the manner in which the pay scale question has been handled so far this year by the school department and the city."

"Analysis of just the material already at hand plus a known policy of applying proper restraints and minimizing entrenchment—TAXPAYERS—

Says Citizens Paid High Price For State Government in '51

Rep. Christian Herter Jr., Gives A Comprehensive Report on Legislature

Citizens of Massachusetts paid a high price for state government in 1951, Representative Christian A. Herter, Jr., (R-Newton) stated this week in a report summarizing the accomplishments and failures of the General Court during the 1951 session. "It was an expensive year," he said and "will cost the taxpayers $275,000,000, to carry on the business of the Commonwealth until June 30, 1952."

In a most comprehensive survey of the legislative session during the past year, Rep. Herter delves into all phases of the work undertaken in 1951 including increased expenditures, taxes, labor and industries, crime and corruption, education, social legislation, home rule, election laws, communism and various other matters and in conclusion states that "until the voters feel sufficiently strongly about the principles and elected representatives of either the Republicans or the Democrats, so as to insure control by one group, in my opinion there is little chance of substantially decreasing the length of the legislative session, particularly during the first year of an administration."

CHRISTIAN A. HERTER, JR.

In outlining the legislative work, Rep. Herter says that "such a summary must of necessity be factual and condensed. I hope, however, that it will prove useful and interesting to my constituents, many of whom have expressed real concern about what is taking place on Beacon Hill."

Hearing Concluded on Case of City Against Reiss Associates

At the trial in the Middlesex Superior Court last week on the bills in equity brought by the city in an attempt to curtail the activities of the Reiss Associates plastic plant at 48 Elmwood street, Newton, testimony was made that objectionable odors were apparent several blocks from the site.

City Solicitor Matt B. Jones presented eight witnesses at the hearing before Judge Jesse W. Morton in an attempt to show that the company is storing inflammable fluids without a license and is conducting operations detrimental to the neighborhood because of a fire hazard and objectionable odors. An allegation that the Building Code was being violated through the escape of steam into the sewer system was withdrawn by the city after the company remedied the situation, Mr. Jones states.

In one bill brought in the name of the city, an injunction is sought against the storing of inflammable fluids without a license and in the other, brought in the name of Public Buildings Commissioner Arthur Campbell, an injunction is requested against alleged violations of the Building Code through the maintenance of a fire hazard and causing of objectionable odors.

Witnesses presented by City Solicitor Jones and cross-examined by Hugh S. Boyd attorney for the respondents included City Clerk Frank M. Grank, Sgt. John Sadler of the State Police, Francis Hankind, chemist for the Department of Public Safety, Hiram J. Waterhouse, chemist for the Boston Fire Department, Newton Fire Chief John E. Corcoran, William H. Kugler of 180 Hunnewell avenue, Norman Whitney, inspector for the Newton Health Department, Dr. C. H. Davenport of 75 Park street, Newton, and Frank R. Wasson of 117 Vernon street, Newton.

To Register Facts Before Aldermen

Says 7 Per Cent Cost of Living Adjustment Does Not Serve the Purpose

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood will go before the Board of Aldermen at its meeting Monday night, February 4, with detailed facts and figures to support the reasons for his veto of the action taken by the Board of Aldermen in passing a salary and wage adjustment schedule which was not in accordance with his recommendation.

At that meeting the Board of Aldermen voted a 7 percent cost of living adjustment for city employees but Mayor Lockwood is of the opinion that such a plan will "not serve the purpose" of his recommendation which was for a straight $312 payment to each employee. The Mayor did sign, however, the Board's order granting about 550 hourly employees a raise in pay of 15 cents an hour as the Mayor had recommended.

In vetoing the proposal of the Board of Aldermen, Mayor Lockwood reported that he has received a number of complaints from employees in the lower salary groups, many of whom would receive about $150 adjustment under the Board's order instead of the $312 as recommended by the Mayor. The Mayor asserted that he has repeatedly urged the Board of Aldermen to appoint a committee to study salaries and wages and said that the presence of such a committee would have avoided the present situation.

It is believed that the action by the Board of Aldermen is not a thoroughly considered one and that only about an hour was devoted to the wage and salary matter by the Board before it took the action which it did and that it followed a plan which it is believed the School Committee will propose.

Wants $312 Adjustment

However, in view of the fact that the salary scale in the school system is considerably above the scale for other municipal employees, these other employees will be penalized by a straight 7 percent increase rather than a general $312 adjustment scale.

In his veto message Mayor Lockwood stated: "With regret the Mayor finds upon review and study that Order No. 100,708, passed by your Honorable Board at the regular meeting on January 14, 1952, is not in accordance with the recommendation of the Mayor."

High Price-

paid a high price for state government in 1951. The General Court did not prorogue until early Sunday morning, November 18th, thus winding up its 180th legislative day, the longest session in the history of the Commonwealth. 3655 separate matters had been acted upon, of which only 809 Acts and 86 Resolves survived the initial approval of numerous committees, lengthy debate in both branches of the Legislature and finally the signature of the Governor himself.

It was an expensive year. It will cost the taxpayers $275,000-000, to carry on the business of the Commonwealth until June 30, 1952. Of this amount, a little over $200,000,000, was appropriated for what are generally regarded as state services and the balance of $72,000,000, goes for reimbursements to cities and towns in the form of old age assistance, aid to dependent children, school lunch programs, etc.
In addition, the Administration was authorized to borrow $23-250,000, for capital outlay and a separate item of $2,500,000, was approved for the construction of a new hangar at the Logan Airport. The total authorized debt of Massachusetts is now $376-500,000. This money has been and will be used for new highways, capital outlay, veterans' services, Logan Airport and the Port of Boston. Bonds representing $180,000,000, of this indebtedness have not yet been sold. No one could deny that conducting the affairs of this state is "big business".

INCREASED EXPENDITUR-ES: Included in the above mentioned $200,000,000, for the cost of state services in 1951 are the numerous salary increases authorized by the Legislature. Generally speaking, these increases were intended to reflect the rise in the cost of living. The biggest item was, of course, the $360, raise for all state and county employees. The most of this increase alone will be in excess of $10,000,000. Despite considerable adverse public comment, the legislators raised their own salary from $3750. to $4500. a year. Not only did a number of department and agency heads receive the benefit of legislative largesse but almost the entire judicial system was taken care of as well.

Almost without exception, every judge in the state received a raise, as did the numerous registrars, clerks of court, court officers, probation officers, etc.
There is no doubt in my mind that the majority of these salary increases were justified.

It will be recalled that the Supreme Judicial Court declared unconstitutional the referendum on increased old age assistance payments. Feeling, however, that the referendum represented a popular mandate, the Legislature increased the minimum payments under the Old Age Assistance Law to $75, plus $4 for leisure time activities. Massachusetts is now close to the leading state in the country in the amount of its assistance to the aged. To be sure, the lien laws relative to recipients' estates were strengthened, but this was largely off-set by increasing the exemptions for children who must contribute to the support of their parents.

In order to permit state participation in the federal program for aid to the totally and permanently disabled, further expansion of our welfare program was authorized.

The largest economy effected through Republican efforts was the lopping off of almost $17-000,000, from the $40,000,000, capital outlay program originally proposed by the Governor.

Another important saving was accomplished when an attempt to appropriate $500,000, for further plans for the construction of a second East Boston tunnel was defeated.

Customers' Corner

What is VALUE—anyway?

You've probably seen the word hundreds of times.
Ever stop to think of what it means? Just this: Getting your money's worth!

At A&P we see to it that value really means something—not just on a few items—but on everything we sell in our stores. We think that adds up to serving you better—greater satisfaction—and just plain good sense. Don't you agree?

On the Left . . .

is an ordinary porterhouse steak weighing 2 pounds, 6 ounces. Larger than the steak on the right, it may look like a better buy. But looks are deceiving! For 10 ounces of this steak are excess fat and tail meat (flank) that's too tough to broil. Yet these parts cost just as much per pound as the 1 3/4 pound heart of the steak.
Assuming that ordinary porterhouse steaks cost from $1.05 to $1.15 per pound, you'd pay over 65c for excess fat and tail—between $2.49 and $2.73 for a 2-pound, 6-ounce steak like this.
Hardly a bargain!

On the Right . . .

is an A&P Close-Trimmed "Super-Right" porterhouse steak. Note that the 10 ounces of excess fat and tail have been removed. They don't cost you a cent! (Unless you wish to buy the 1/2 pound of tail meat as hamburger for 33c)
Only the tender, juicy heart of the steak is sold at A&P's porterhouse price of $1.20 per pound.
It gives you just as much good eating as the one on the left—1 3/4 pounds—but costs only $2.10. Your A&P steak actually costs you up to 63 cents less.

Doesn't that Prove . . .

that you can't judge meat value by price per pound alone—that A&P's way of trimming "Super-Right" steaks saves you money? To make similar savings on all your meats buy them at A&P, where every "Super-Right" cut is Announcing the Golden Anniversary-

Cadillac

...WITH THE FINEST PERFORMANCE OF ALL TIME!

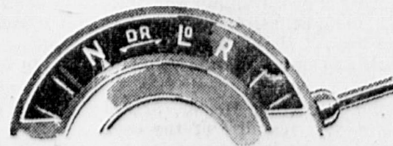

Featuring 3 of Cadillac's Greatest Engineering Achievements!

THE NEW 190 H. P. CADILLAC ENGINE

Here is the most powerful, the most durable, and the most efficient automotive engine ever offered in a Cadillac car. Its power increase alone is almost 20%—and its new four-throated carburetor, larger exhaust valves, wider exhaust ports and new dual exhaust system make this engine one of the most dynamic performers of all time.

Fifty years ago, the first Cadillac car made its bow to the public.
Today, as a fitting climax to those fifty years of progress, we are presenting in our showrooms the Golden Anniversary Cadillac—by far the finest car ever to bear this distinguished name. . . . It is easily the most beautiful of all Cadillacs. Numerous changes have sharpened and smartened the exterior design—while the wholly-new interiors are a revelation in comfort and luxury. . . . Performance is the finest of all time. The great Cadillac engine has a power increase of almost twenty per cent—and is even smoother and quieter in its operation.
. . . There's a new Hydra-Matic Drive that gives the proper power application for every need. At a flick of the finger, you can have extra power and acceleration for city traffic and mountain driving—or wonderfully smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road.
. . . And there's a new "power steering" mechanism, optional at extra cost, which reduces normal steering effort by as much as seventy-five per cent! . . . If ever it could be said of a car's performance that it is "out of this world," it can be said of the performance of the new Cadillac. The Golden Anniversary Cadillac is available in three series
—the "Sixty-Two," the "Sixty Special" and the "Seventy-Five." . . .
These new creations are now on display in our showrooms—and we invite you to see and inspect them at your earliest convenience.

THE NEW HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

By introducing an entirely new performance range, Cadillac's Hydra-Matic provides the proper power for every need . . . extra acceleration and responsiveness for city and mountain driving; smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. Optional at extra cost on Series 75. Standard equipment on all other models.

THE NEW CADILLAC POWER STEERING

This "power steering" mechanism eliminates as much as seventy-five per cent of all normal steering effort.
It provides incredible handling ease, and yet does not interfere in any way with the driver's "road feel" or directional control. Available as an option at extra cost.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

ARTIST NAZZARO puts finishing touches on picture of ranch-type home of Monte B. Basbos, Attorney-at-Law and Newton Assistant City Clerk.

You've bought that cozy "dream cottage," nestled in the countryside, or perhaps it's the fine old Colonial you've always wanted, or the efficient Ranch-type. Like the portrait you had painted of your bride, or your first child, a "portrayal of your home is a milestone," the landmark of your life. Such is the specialty of artist Landis Nazzaro, 79 Dickerman road, Newton Highlands.

His pictures are vibrant, alive. Bold, bright colors deftly applied, attest to his mid-day painting. "I like color," he says with animation, "that's why I paint when the sun is high—then the house is pictured in its full glory."

Water-color is his chosen method of expression.

Mr. Nazzaro is at the mercy of the elements when painting homes. When the sun is bright and the day is right, he completes a 14x18 picture from his car. It may take him 10 to 15 hours to complete a painting. These hours may be spread between two or three weeks depending on the weather. He often returns again and again to assure perfection.

This "on the spot" picture is a good size for the average home. He often completes a larger painting to scale from the original, at his studio in his own home.

Spring and summer are favorite seasons for his portrayals, although we were delighted with one of a red house, with snow on the roof. "The rich red just had to be done in winter, with snow," he told us. He made pen and ink Christmas cards of this house in the winter setting. Using his home portraits as motif, Mr. Nazzaro often obliges with greeting cards of all types.

A versatile artist, Mr. Nazzaro now has on exhibit at the Newtonville Library, 22 water colors of New Hampshire, Rockport, Gloucester, Maine and local scenes.

Fishing boat and dragger; tug boat at the waterfront, are two pictures painted in Plymouth, that may be seen in the exhibit. Also on exhibit, are paintings of lobster shacks and fishing boats at Tenant's Harbor, and Rockland, Maine.

He first began training evenings for an art career, while still in high school. He graduated from English High School with a firm determination to continue his art work, and the Cumston $200 prize (best all-around student) to back it up. Then he devoted full time to his art studies at the old Boston Normal Art School, which is now Massachusetts School of Art.

His first job was as Commercial Artist and designer, with the Nashua Gummed & Coated Paper Co., of New Hampshire. But Boston was home to him. He returned to Massachusetts and worked in an engraving house.

Lithograph color work for a German artist was the next step in his career. Under the tutelage of the German master, our artist gained technical knowledge and a love of color.

He has been 24 years with a Boston newspaper and is now on its night art staff.

Mr. Nazzaro organized the first Boston Newspaper Artist Association, which had its opening exhibit May 28, 1947. National acclaim was awarded this "first of its kind" exhibit, which included oil paintings, water colors, cartoons and other graphic arts in black and white.

The organization had 114 members and represented six Boston newspapers. Mr. Nazzaro was presented a huge book of the exhibit, as its founder and first president. The organization is still in existence today. He first began his "portrayals of homes" about six years ago, when living in Wellesley. He had hardly framed the picture of his own home, when he was commissioned to do two more. He glanced about his studio at the many paintings as he told us, "Until then, I was a week-end artist."

Of his home portraits, we'll enumerate a few types:

- 1—Large Early Colonial
- 2—Salt Box, 1704
- 3—Old Plain Cape Cod
- 4—Modern Cape Cod, with dormer windows
- 5—Square Georgian
- 6—Dutch Colonial
- 7—Modern Ranch-type

His favorite picture is that of a five-room Cape Cod, with "16 lights" windows, and garage. It is in a beautiful corner setting, with well-balanced landscaping. This picture, like his others, is not only architecturally correct, but looks so realistic we had the sensation of walking up the path and into the doorway—as we walked toward the picture. Mr. Nazzaro enjoys the freedom of painting outdoors, but sometimes there are perils to the painter.

Once, when painting a covered bridge at Turkey Hill, N. H., a young man looked at his painting from a distance, craning his neck to see clearly. "That's a nice picture, Mister," he said, "but do you know you're sitting in poison ivy?"

He didn't know then—but he was sure of it later. He was wearing shorts.

Although it didn't seem funny at the time, it was an amusing incident that caused our artist to think twice before revisiting Gloucester. He and a friend set up their easels before an Italian fishing boat, which was on its cradle. As they became more and more engrossed in their work, excitement grew aboard the ship.

A "pop" that sounded like a champagne bottle breaking over the bow, cheers from the deck, and away went their "model" down the ways and out to the bay.

The artists went to the theatre.

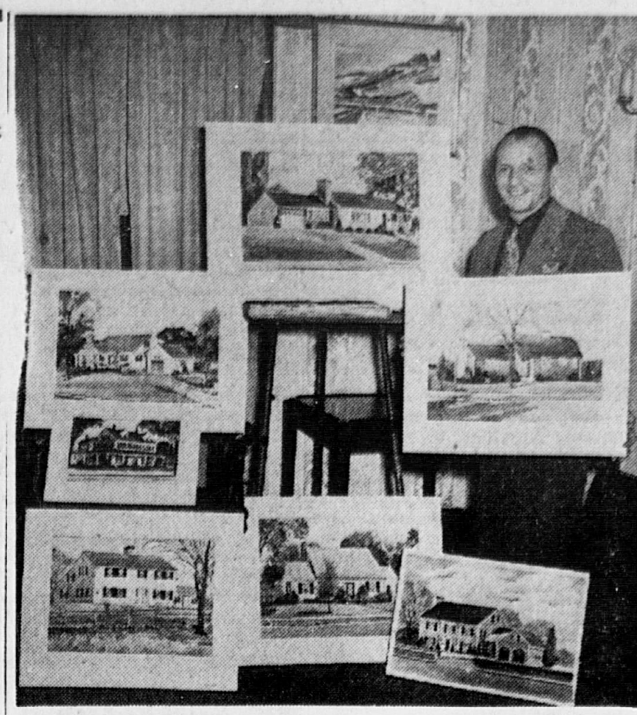

And then there's drama. In August, 1945, Mr. Nazzaro was completing a beach scene at Eagle Hill, Ipswich. A realist, he painted in the bare flagpole which was by some boats. As he was packing up to go, he heard voices shouting, "The War's Over!" A group of boys came running down to the beach and hoisted a flag to the empty flag pole. Again, the realist and honest artist, Mr. Nazzaro unpicked his brush and palette, and painted in the flag. Today this picture is one of his prized paintings of historic value.

He feels art should be within the means of all. "Art should not be a luxury, but a part of everyday living." He brings out this point with his paintings of homes, an important part of everyone's life.

Letters to the Editor

MORE ABOUT SIDEWALKS

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Is there anything I can add to the doctor's letter in your paper about the sidewalks of Newton?

Evidently the people here have been allowed to be careless and thoughtless so long that they are indifferent to their fellow neighbors. I have only been here a year but I dread to see the snow fall. As was said, 90 percent of the people let it all lie and it quickly turns into ice. Walking in Newton is as perilous as plane riding was in the years following the Wright Brothers.

Within the last few weeks, I have fallen four times even though I walk slowly and try to watch what I am doing. Fortunately for my children, I have broken no bones so far but yesterday I got quite a bump, and it hurt.

The City can't do a colossal job of that type. Each householder can easily care for his own if he only will. If ill, children are plentiful who would like to earn a coin.

The citizens of Newton could make this a Garden City with a little more effort.

A 'Thank You' If You Please

Do you greet your early morning milk man with sardonic scorn? Jump on the bus, mutter to your neighbor in the next seat that it's a beastly time for even civilized slaves to have to go to work? Then turn up your collar and wish your employer a flat tire for your day's bit of cheer?

Of course you don't harbor such crude trappings of the crank, but it seems there are many who do. Look about you on the bus to-night, or if you're a motorist, watch the pained expressions of those waiting on the corner for the lights to change. That man in the brown hat—did someone step on his toes? Twitch his nose?

Where are the smiles? In what holes are they hiding?

Yesterday, we had to hop a bus into Boston to deliver papers to a girl in an office.
Folks took their change from the harried driver without so much as a "thank you." Several people asked directions, then hurried away before he even had a chance to finish the information.

When the papers were handed to the girl (a personal favor at lunch hour, she could have called for them herself), she said tartly as she snatched the papers, "It's about time." Grr-rr-r. A pox on her!

Let's have a little politeness for patient telephone operators; thank the storeman for his attention. What about a smile for the young "business man" who delivers your papers; a little kindness for the timid old lady who needs help crossing the street.

We can't all be Boy Scouts, nor Red Cross nurses, but we can be helpful to our neighbor! We can be polite! We can smile!

There's already too much sadness and tragedy in life; don't ask for it! Make an effort to enjoy each day and pass along as much cheer and happiness as you can.

Are you a "Doleful Dooze?"

With your smile down in your shoes?
Though life may be a trial,
Say! Look up, man—work that smile!

Lie Detectors

As a result of a formal protest lodged by Senator Wayne Morse (R-Oregon), the utilization of lie detectors by the State Department in screening job applicants has been discontinued.

Apparently, other federal agencies are using the truth producing device and unless the practice is stopped immediately, the Senator from Oregon threatens to introduce legislation to outlaw them on the theory that they are "repugnant, foreign and outrageous."

The Atomic Energy Commission has admitted employing polygraphs—a fancy synonym for the gadgets—as standard procedure in security checks at the Oak Ridge, Tennessee, installation. No one has seen fit to disclose whether this action resulted in the discharge of personnel of questionable loyalty. One thing, however, is certain: it did not harm national security.

A wide difference of opinion exists relative to the wisdom in the use of the lie detector, as attested by the fact that certain states regard it as an invaluable instrument of effective crime investigation while others, for various reasons, reject it.

It is difficult to think that the directors of policy in all federal agencies unanimously favor or oppose the use of the lie detector in evaluating the loyalty of prospective government employees. Consequently, certain agencies will continue to employ them and will stop only when the legislation which Senator Morse threatens to introduce is enacted.

There is a strong possibility, then, that the Congress will be asked to ban the polygraph as a security safeguard on the theory that the subjection of individuals to its powers of probing is a violation of human rights.

In such an eventuality, it would be well for the statesmen whose decisions guide the destinies of the nation to consider these important facts:

1) It has been proved that subversive elements have infiltrated into high positions in government in recent years.

2) Several convictions have resulted from the prosecutions of persons accused of espionage in the United States since the end of World War II.

3) The importance of the rights of the individual is dwarfed when measured against the importance of protecting the welfare of the nation as a whole.

4) Those who have nothing to hide have no reason to fear this method of testing their loyalty.

Iodine, when used as a preventive, may sting the finger of a man while it eliminates the possibility of the infection of his whole body; the lie detector, when used as a preventive, may sting the pride of an individual while it eliminates the possibility of the infection of a nation.

ON POLITICS

Future Plans of Gov. Dever Still Unknown

A good many Democrats are getting jittery over the uncertainty as to who will carry their political banners in the campaigns next fall.

One week the politicians emerging from conferences with President Truman report that he had implied that at the end of his present term he will retire from the White House and go home to Independence, Mo.
The next week they declare that Mr. Truman talked very much like a man who had every intention of seeking another term.

Governor Dever informs the Democratic diners at a $10-a-plate banquet that he will keep them in a state of doubt as to his own political intentions.

Right now the impression is that Mr.
Dever, who is on a five-week vacation in Florida and is known to be suffering from ulcers, will not stand for reelection.
The guessing is that he will either return to his law business or will challenge Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

There is nothing definite or specific on which to base that opinion except that the gubernatorial duties have taken a heavy physical toll of Mr. Dever, and for some time he has felt the strain of his office.

His friends, who understandably would like to see him run again and spend another two years on Beacon Hill, are hoping that a long rest in the South will place him in better physical condition and cause him to toss his hat into the ring.

Mr. Dever is suffering from an ulcer which developed about a year ago, and the understanding is that so far it hasn't responded to treatment, possibly because of the taxing gubernatorial routine.

The Democrats have two formidable potential contenders in Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin and Congressman John F. Kennedy to head their ticket if Dever decides to step out of the political ring, and since he intends to make his announcement in April that should leave plenty of time for all parties to make up their minds and their plans.

State Treasurer John E. Hurley, who has been a sort of political protégé of Dever's, has been referred to often as the Governor's personal choice to follow his footsteps. That may well be, but Hurley doesn't have the strength to challenge either Tobin or Kennedy in a primary, and it's very unlikely that he'd try.

Hurley would be a possible contender if Tobin were unwilling to leave the national picture and return to the State politics. The probability, however, is that Tobin will seek the Governorship if Dever decides to move out.

On the national front there is no such abundance of prospective candidates.
President Truman may well have some weaknesses as a candidate for reelection, but there isn't any question whatever but that he's stronger than anyone else
the Democrats could nominate.

Supreme Court Justice Vinson has no color. Senator Kefauver isn't even popular in the South. He is distrusted by Democratic politicians generally, and there is scant reason to assume the colored voters would rally behind him with any degree of enthusiasm.

Kefauver is a darkhorse contender because of the attention he attracted through his televised hearings a year ago, but he probably would have a hard time overcoming the coolness of both the administration and his fellow Senators and Congressmen from the South.

In one sense the Republicans are on firmer footing than the Democrats. The G.O.P. followers know that either Senator Taft or General Eisenhower will be their standard-bearers, and the one selected will emerge with the impetus of a winning convention drive.

The Democratic choice is between President Truman and Mr. X. And if the President declares next July that he isn't going to run, there will not be much time for the Democrats to build up the man who is to step into his place in the political lineup.

Angered because he found only 30 cents in the Pinkneyville, Ill., cafe he was robbing, a burglar soothed his indignation by smashing ten dozen eggs, pouring vanilla extract into the chile, plastering hamburger against the window and dumping a sack of sugar into the silverware. He probably figured that would teach the proprietor to leave more than 30 cents in the till the next time.

Something new was added when Lawrence
I. Lowell, 35, of Chicago sued his ex-fiancee, Mrs. Rose Cichon Potocki, 28, for $2500 to cover expenses for his courtship and reimbursement for some of the time devoted to her "which could have been used seeking wife material."

After the members of the Shelbyville, Ind., police force were required to take a competitive examination to determine the jobs they should be filling, Patrolman Lloyd Mellis was made chief, and the ex-chief was demoted to patrolman and assigned to pound a beat.

A soldier home on furlough in Gaffney,
S. C., applied to Probate Judge W. R. Douglas for a license to marry four girls, declaring he would choose between them later.

Police Chief George Houde of Bellingham, Wash., ordered what he considered the appropriate decorations for the walls of the jail's cell for drunks—pink elephants and green snakes.

While bidding farewell to his sweetheart in Cairo, Moustafa Ibrahim, 16, kissed the

Make Appeal for Used Clothing

An urgent appeal for discarded clothing of all types and sizes and other cast-off material to maintain the program of rehabilitation for handicapped in 30 different trades was made last night by Fred C. Moore, superintendent of the Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries, 85 Shawmut Ave., Boston.

"Warm clothing is especially needed at this time," Mr. Moore stated, "because many children and adults are suffering from the cold." In addition, the work of sorting, cleaning and repairing clothing and other materials will provide employment for more than 300 people each week—people who would rather work than accept public charity.

Waste material of any kind,
including newspapers, magazines, bric-a-brac, furniture and any other items, are acceptable, Moore said. Goodwill trucks making periodic trips to Greater Boston cities and towns will pick up the material if a postal card or telephone call is made to Morgan Memorial, 85 Shawmut avenue, Boston, 16, or telephone

NEWS AND NOTES

The increased number of installations of range oil burners and the use of the portable space heaters has resulted in the increased number of oil storage permits in the homes throughout the community. The principal hazards encountered are the methods of storing it and the carelessness employed in handling it.

A metal drum such as is used in the oil trade that is substantially constructed, may be used for the storage of fuel oil for the range. While it is best to have it located outside of the building under certain conditions it can be stored inside, if it is located a safe distance from all open flames or lights. It should be set upright or placed horizontally on a substantially constructed metal stand.

Withdrawal of oil may be by means of a hand operated pump, arranged to discharge the fluid into a substantial container which is used for filling the reservoir of the range burner;
or it may be an electrically operated pump discharging so that a constant level of oil is maintained. An approved lock faucet that discharges by gravity is also permitted. When the lock type faucet is used outside of a building it must be kept locked except when it is being used to fill the containers.

A vent of at least one quarter of an inch should be provided in the fill cap so that the tank will not rupture by pressure that may be built up inside of it.
If it is involved in a fire. Storage tanks over 55 gallons: that are inside of a building should have an outside vent connected to them.

Portable space heaters that employ a wick to adjust the amount of heat, probably create the greatest fire hazard due to their portability and faults of construction. Filling operations should NEVER be done while it is still burning.

The use of flimsy make-shift storage arrangement, such as glass bottles, pails of various descriptions and worn out or improper drums sooner or later invite trouble through breakage, leakage or overflow. Improper storage containers should be replaced now before any trouble starts to develop.

It is well to remember that the handling and storage of fuel oil will involve little or no danger if exposure of liquid is prevented; exposure permits the fluids to change into a vapor and when mixed with the right proportions of air it may become a flammable vapor which will ignize when it comes in contact with a spark or flame.

The usual approved size drum for home storage of range fuel oil is 55 gallons. A storage permit for the storage of 10 or more gallons of fuel oil is required by State Law. The applications may be obtained at Fire Department Headquarters, 1164 Centre street, Newton Centre. Legally fuel oil cannot be delivered unless there is a permit posted near the location of the tank so that it can be seen if requested.

For safe operation of an oil burner, range oil burner or portable heating unit they should be cleaned and repaired as soon as any faulty operation develops. All leaky connections should be corrected at once. A heating unit will only be as safe as you keep it, a clear, unit kept in good repair will give years of reliable service.

Child Conference to Be Held at High School Jan. 29

The Child Welfare Conference which is to take place on January 29, from two-thirty to eight-thirty in the Newton High School Auditorium is sponsored by the Newton Teachers Federation. Through this Conference the Federation hopes that there will come about a better understanding and a more effective coordination between the schools and the community agencies concerned with the welfare of the child.

Two nationally known leaders in educational and social welfare work are to lead the thinking of those who attend this conference. Dr. J. Roswell Gallagher, the speaker of the evening meeting, is now physician in charge of adolescent services at the Children's Medical Center in Boston, and an assistant professor of child health at the Harvard School of Public Health. He was for sixteen years the school physician at Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Massachusetts. A graduate of Yale Medical School, Dr. Gallagher served as the first chief resident at Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, before he took up his duties at Andover. A member of the AMA, the Massachusetts and the Connecticut Medical Societies, the American Public Health Society and the New England Pediatric Society, Dr. Gallagher is also on the Committee on Health and Safety of the Boy Scouts of America, a trustee of Proctor Academy in Andover, New Hampshire, and vice-president of the Yale Alumni in Medicine. He has written numerous papers for medical journals and is a frequent contributor to Atlantic Monthly, Reader's Digest and other magazines. In his recent book "Your Son's Adolescence" published by Atlantic Little Brown Dr. Gallagher has discussed in a helpful and reassuring way many of the problems that teachers and parents face.

The Federation is very happy that Dr. J. Wendell Yeo, Dean of the School of Education at Boston University has agreed to lead the Panel Discussion on the Outcomes of the various Workshops. Dr. Yeo has been a classroom teacher, a high school principal, a superintendent of schools, an instructor and the associate director of a junior college as well as a professor of education in Boston University. He has lectured and conducted class and workshops at Texas College of Mines, at University of Michigan, and at Denver University, Denver, Colorado, and has lectured at many schools and colleges.

A doctor of philosophy from Yale University, a member of the American Psychological Society, the National Society of Vocational Guidance and a member of the American Association of University Professors, Dr. Yeo has held many important community posts; he is a past president of the Greater Boston Vocational Guidance Society, a member of the board of trustees of the New England Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing and of the Board of Managers of the Boston Y.M.C.A.

Besides his many articles on professional journals, and extensive reports on Youth Problems and counselor training, Dr. Yeo is the co-author of the text book "Growing Up" — a text book that is designed for the "teenager" to help him solve his own problems. Dr. Yeo brings to this discussion a wide background of knowledge and experience.

The afternoon workshop sessions and the panel discussion are to be followed by a dinner at six-fifteen in the Newton High School cafeteria. The evening session at which Dr. J. Roswell Gallagher is to speak will be held in the Newton High School Auditorium at seven-thirty.

The Panel discussion, dinner and evening meeting are open to all who wish to come: teachers, parents, agency personnel, and outside guests.

Newton Council of Girl Scouts Annual Meeting Held Jan. 23

The annual meeting of the Newton Council of Girl Scouts, a Red Feather organization, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at 7:45 p.m. in the Parish Hall of the Second Congregational Church in West Newton.

The theme of this meeting was "An Adventure in Friendship." All adult workers in Girl Scouting were invited, as well as members of other Red Feather agencies, coffee and international deserts were served.

The slate of officers for 1952 was presented by Mrs. Robert Pettit for the nominating and membership committee, and was voted upon by members of the council. Awards were made to volunteers with five, 10 and 20 years of service. The commissioner's annual report on the work of the council, the districts and the standing committees was presented in an unusual and interesting pictorial form.

Following the business meeting, there was a showing of the World Friendship film, taken at the International Girl Scout and Girl Guide Camp in Cooperstown, N. Y., and concerned with the experiences there of an American Girl Scout. Brief talks on international Girl Scouting were given by the following Newton women, all active in scouting here: Mrs. Thomas M. Cloward, formerly commissioner for San Francisco, spoke on Scouting in Japan under the Allied Occupation; Mrs. Janis A. Kalnajs, who now has a Latvian troop in Boston, discussed Scouting for girls in displaced families; Mrs. Alexander Goodale, a leader in the Newton Center, talked about Scouting in the Philippines as she learned it at Camp Edith Macy this past summer; and Mrs. Erick Arenberg, a leader in Newtonville, who was a Girl Scout in Germany before the Hitler regime, told how it feels to live through the banishment of Scouting by politics and war.

Members of the committee who planned the annual meeting under the chairmanship of Commissioner Bourne were Mrs. Mark Walter of Waban, deputy commissioner Mrs. Henry A. Hassell of Newtonville, a leader; Mrs. Corrine W. Paul of Newton Highlands, a leader; Mrs. Henry L. Zeigel, organization chairman for Newton; Mrs. David Rutledge, program chairman for Waban; Mrs. Richard F. Morse, council member at large, and Miss Ursula Hayden, registrar of the council.

Broken Heart...

Johnny's cheeks were still wet with tears, but he was smiling as Spot's tail stirred in an attempted wag.

"He'll be good as new in 24 hours," the veterinarian said. "But it's a good thing you telephoned me as soon as you did."

Sometimes it's impossible to measure the value of a telephone call in dollars and cents. A single emergency call may be worth the cost of your telephone many times over. It may cure a broken heart... or save a human life.

Actually, the value of telephone service lies not so much in emergencies, as in everyday convenience. The convenience that brings the grocer, the druggist, the cleaner, the office, a friend or a loved one as near as your telephone.

A BIGGER VALUE THAN EVER

In relation to the high cost of most things you buy, the average telephone bill now takes a smaller part of the family budget than it did 10 years ago. What's more, service is better, faster, more efficient.

Some people who have applied for telephone service are still without it because we lack necessary equipment. To correct this situation is one of our major projects.

Some who do have service, however, are inclined to forget or overlook the telephone's real worth. It is only to such users that reference is made here to the value of telephone service.

All Newton Meeting At Museum Of Science Largely Attended

The Newtons have all but taken over Science Park, according to Bradford Washburn, Museum of Science Director.

An all-Newton meeting at the Museum last week attracted nearly five hundred Newton residents who were either enthusiastic Museum members already or anxious to become so.

The affair was arranged by the Museum's local committee on membership. More than 225 Museum members from all parts of Newton plus an alert cross-section of the Newton community heard Superintendent of Schools, Harold B. Gorcs report favorably on Museum schoolroom cooperation.

The Museum's Science Projects class has a total of twenty-four Newton teachers who meet once a month to discuss exciting techniques for classroom presentation.

In addition, the Museum has become an overwhelming favorite with Newton school children. To date, more than 43 special groups from public, private and parochial schools, as well as boy and girl scouts, have taken advantage of special morning hours during which the Museum is not open to the public. A total of 1434 youngsters from the Newtons have visited the Museum since last April.

Following a brief introduction by Superintendent Gorcs, Bradford Washburn, Museum Director, welcomed the group after which the visitors made a push-button tour of the Museum. A live animal demonstration conducted by Education Director Norman D. Harris, highlighted events in the Natural History section.

Among those present from Newton were Raymond Wass, president of LaSalle Junior College, and his wife; Judge and Mrs. George Sweeney, W. Newton; and Stephen P. Mugar, owner of Star Markets, Inc. and Mrs. Mugar.

Also present were several Protestant ministers including the Rev. Robert Woodroffe, Rector of Grace Episcopal Church; Dr. Ray Eusden, minister at the Eliot Church and Mrs. Eusden; the Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Ellis and the Rev. and Mrs. John Fisher of West Newton. Also expressing keen interest in the Museum were Rabbi Irving Mandell of the Temple Shaan together with Rabbi and Mrs. A. Irving Mandel of West Newton. Miss Alice M. Waters, teacher and prominent Catholic laywoman of 1093 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, also attended.

Newton merchants interested in the Museum included Norman Hall, from the Newton bookstore and Mrs. Hall; Charles Edwards Smith, manager of the Newton National Bank, and John J. White, manager of the Newton-Waltham Bank were accompanied by their wives. Anthony Capriccio, head of the Italian Benevolent Society and Irving M. Atwood of the Rotary were also present with their wives.

Other educators at the Newton event were Miss Vera L. Thompson, President, of the Cabot School in Newtonville and Mr. and Mrs. Hart Fessenden. Mr. Fessenden is headmaster of the Fessenden School, one of the participating schools in the special group—visit plan at Science Park.

Several Museum trustees including Dwight C. Shepler of 95 Dudley rd., Newton Center and Albert P. Everts, 114 Kirkstall road, West Newton were on hand to welcome the Newton delegation. Mr. Shepler, noted Boston artist is scheduled to begin work soon on the life-size Deer Exhibit now taking shape on the first floor exhibit hall at the Museum.

Arrangements for the all-Newton night were made by the Museum's local committee on membership, headed by Mrs. Warren G. Hill of Newtonville. Other committee members representing all the Newtons included Mrs. Robert Salinger for Newtonville; Mrs. Winslow H. Adams, Auburndale; Mrs. Isaac S. Swope, Newton; Mrs. Sanderson Sloane, Newton Center; Mrs. Thomas C. Eayrs, Jr., and Mrs. Benjamin T. Fawcett for Newton Highlands; Mrs. G. Gale Harper, Waban; Mrs. Frank P. Foster and Mrs. Lewis M. ### Prof. T. F. Lambert, Jr. To Address Brotherhood

Brotherhood Temple Emanuel has scheduled Prof. Thomas F. Lambert, Jr., as the speaker at the next Sunday morning breakfast meeting, Feb. 3. His subject will be, "What to do with Germany."

Prof. Lambert bases his discussions on his own personal observations made while serving with Gen. Omar Bradley's Headquarters during the war and later professor of law at Boston University's School of Law, who served as Legal Trial Counsel on the staff of Justice Jackson, U. S. Chief of Counsel for the Nuremberg Trials, will reveal the human interest incidents that occurred as Germany's war criminals stood trial.

The forthcoming speaker has to his credit the conviction of the notorious Martin Bormann, Chief of Staff of the Nazi Party, who was sentenced to death. His thrilling accounts of the inside preparation of the cases and ultimate conviction of these Nazis have won the ringing applause of numerous audiences.

With a keen, subtle sense of humor, Prof. Lambert, who was the youngest trial counsel to address the International Tribunal, will narrate scores of interesting and amusing anecdotes of the trial coupled with the pathos and drama that filled the Nuremberg courthouse during those busy vibrant days.

Laureate's Lines

The Newton Graphic invites its readers to submit to this column, original, unpublished verse, sonnet, or prose. Name of poet must be included.

.....here's a pretty portrait
I have a little daughter
A pretty little daughter
A little dancing daughter
With quick silver in her toes.

There's sunshine in her daughter
And freckles on her nose
She can't be still a moment
There's quick silver in her toes.

It's often quite disturbing
From an older point of view
To watch the dancing, prancing
That a child of ten can do.

For she never does grow weary
When she dances as she goes Light as thistle-down she hurries
With quick silver in her toes.
By Rachel T. Sanborn

.....but to linger here awhile
How can I be aught but dreamy
As I lie here by the shore
Where the waves in ceaseless rhythm
Lap the pebbles o'er and o'er.

Up the sandy beach they scamper
Creeping closer with each wave
Now the tide has turned they'll hasten
Till they fill the whistling cave.

Listening to this rhythmic meter
I can hear a lullaby
A soporific, drowsy murmur Which can calm the seagull's cry.

Would that I could stay forever
In this drowsy atmosphere
But the world with all its tumult Comes to claim me, even here.

Down the nearby road there thunders
A bus with petrol's evil scent
And the horn with raucous accent
All this blissful dream has rent.

Strong Stoneham Hands Newton Second Loss, 3-1

The Newton High hockey aggregation, outclassed by league-leading Stoneham High last week, 3 to 1, will battle for second place this Saturday afternoon when it squares off against an improved Belmont club at the Boston Arena in the final meeting of the G.B.I. League.

Stoneham handed the Jack Hall-coached team its second defeat of the season, but the Orange is assured of at least a first division finish. Last Saturday's fray went off as expected, although the Hallmen gave evidence of being primed for the tough Stoneham crew.

The first period saw Newton stem an aggressive opponent and show a lot of hustle and fight. But after the league-leader posted its initial tally toward the end of the opening stanza, Newton gradually lost interest.

Local fans attending the game had occasion to cheer in the last chapter when rangy center Don Fox avoided a complete whitewash by registering the Orange's only goal. Fox drove in after Don Thompson golfed a hard slam at the Stoneham goalie, taking the rebound about 10 feet in front of the cage and hitting the left side of the net. The puck jumped over goalie Paul D'Entremont's stick, time was 1:03.

The Orange tally closed the gap to 2-1, but all dreams for the upset were shattered when Charles Sprott beat goalie Dan Coffey in the closing minutes for a 3-1 final.

While Newton's greatest test is behind, Belmont looms as another stiff contest. With four wins, one tie and a loss, Belmont is deadlocked for second place in G.B.I. standings with the Orange. Belmont has knocked off Rindge Tech, Melrose, Medford and Cambridge Latin, while tying Arlington and losing to Stoneham.

Opinion is that if Newton plays this Saturday's game the way it played against Stoneham, the Hallmen can finish the season in second place.

In the initial stanza the Newton sextet gave Stoneham some worried moments, pushing the battle to the league-leader and missing goals by just inches. Don Thompson almost tallied early in the period when he broke loose from a mid-ice scramble and raced in from the right side with no one to block his progress. In his haste the fast skating and rugged defenseman lost control of the disc completely.

If this wasn't enough, wingman Paul Fitzgerald followed Thompson in, eased the puck toward the lone Stoneham goalie, but missed on a savage golf swing. Goalie D'Entremont was therefore spared the effort of making the save.

Stoneham mustered its forces soon after and tallied when Steve Larson shot home a 10-footer after taking a feed from Bob Bemis at 7:33. In the second period Warren McCarthy beat Coffey in the last minute with an assist from Charlie Sprott.

Goal tender Coffey turned in a good performance and stopped frequent Stoneham charges. He was kept busy especially during the middle chapter when the Blues cut through the Newton defense with the greatest of ease. Stoneham's Sprott made it official in the last period when he picked up a loose disc at mid-ice and zoomed in to tally with a fine forehead shot at 9:18. The summary:

STONEHAM 3, NEWTON 1
Stoneham—G. D'Entremont; rd. Knight; Id. Jackson; c. Sprott; rw. Larson; lw. Bemis. Spares—Chambers, Barney, Mitchell, W. McCarthy.
Newton—G. Coffey; rw. P. A. Fitzgerald; lw. Calvia. Spares—Murphy, Wiper, J. McCarthy, Lynch.

Score by Periods—
Stoneham 1 2 3 Total
Newton 0 0 1 1
First Period—Larson (Bemis) 7:33.
Second Period—W. McCarthy (Sprott) 9:02.
Third Period—Fox (Thompson) 1:03; Sprott (Knight) 9:18.

Boston English Beats Newton in N.U. Track Meet

Entering the 25th annual Northeastern University Track Meet a heavy favorite, the Newton High track team was forced to settle for second place behind Boston English at the Boston Garden last Saturday afternoon. English topped the Orange runners and jumpers, 23 to 17, with the locals' ace 600-yarder, Bob Morrison being upset by Rindge Tech's Charlie Jenkins.

First place awards went to dashman Paul Gould, who beat out his closest rival by two yards, and Rowland Pollard, star high jumper. Pollard scored tops with a jump of 5-10, beating second placers Jenkins and Joe Maria of Watertown.

Morrison, previously setting three Met track records, led in the 600 meter of the way until Jenkins overtook him 20 yards from the tape and broke out in front to win by two yards.

Besides taking second place in the 600, Newton finished in No. 2 spot in the relay, with English taking first in this race. English was timed at 2:26.4. Newton with 2:27 and Concord placing third just a second behind the Orange.

Other Newton participants were hurdlers Ken McAdams and Dick Farragher. Arnie Haywood placed third in the 300 and Vin Meade ended sixth in his trial heat in the 1000. Miles Paul Thomas and John Newall failed to finish their heats and shot-putters Bob Cederger and Lou Barisano fell below the 37-foot mark.

Norumbega Council Boy Scout Hold Their Winter Camporee

Norumbega Council Scouts vied with one another in demonstrating camping skills and techniques in the Winter Camporee at Nobscot Reservation. Participating in the big mid-season competitive camping event were 190 Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts, organized into 31 Boy Scout patrols and three Explorer Scout Crews. Almost all of the patrols camped in troop cabins, and the crews made tent camp outdoors at Muskie Land.

The Camporee is one time when the Scouts are completely on their own with respect to planning of menus, preparation of meals and generally setting up a good campsite. The adult Scouters who are normally their teachers sat on the sidelines in the role of judges, for Scouts are taught to be prepared to take care of themselves in all weather conditions.

The competing patrols and crews were judged on the general excellence of their camping ability and preparedness, with the more experienced Explorer Scouts competing separately and judged on a stricter basis. Upon entering the reservation at the start of the weekend, the groups were judged on their trail equipment, clothing and organization. Later in the day, they were rated on personal and camping equipment, food planning and its cost, and cooking. The following morning they were again judged on their general camping ability, including sanitation and cleanliness.

The winning patrol and crew will be announced as soon as the results are tabulated, and will receive their awards at the February Court of Honor.

Participating Scouts and adults attended a mammoth campfire in Legion Cabin, and the centrally located meeting cabin was filled to capacity despite the recent enlargement. The campfire was conducted by Field Scout Executive Don Fifield, assisted by Council President Richard E. McKown, Scout Commissioner George M. Shannon, Scout Executive Leigh Nisbet and Assistant Scout Executive Ralph Darian.

Religious services were held Sunday morning for all Scouts. Father Martin J. Dolphin conducted the Catholic service; Rabbi Albert I. Gordon the Jewish service, and Nobscot Chaplain Larry Huntley, the Protestant service.

The Camporee was under the general supervision of John B. Starkweather, chairman of the Council Camping Committee. Leigh Stanton was chief judge and Leigh Packer Assistant Chief Judge of the 50-man judging staff, aided by Order of the Arrow Scouts Elliot Tucker, Maxwell Wills and David Lewis. The cooking staff for the judges was comprised of John Sanroma, George Thompson and Burt Blunt, assisted by Order of the Arrow Scouts Armin Szatmary, David William, Richard Herman, David French and George Sanderson.

All Scouts participating in the Camporee were awarded a 1952 patch segment for their uniforms: evidence of experience in learning to become better campers and better scouts.

The Waban Woman's Club held its Annual Guest Night Jan. 21, at 8:30, at the Waban Neighborhood Club House. Harold C. Case, D.D., Litt. D., president of Boston University, spoke on the subject, "If We Would Be Free." Dr. Case has been a guest preacher in many of the churches in Europe, before and after World War II.

A March of Dimes collection box was taken from the lobby of the U. S. Post Office in Newton Corner last Friday afternoon.

A woman on Trowbridge avenue reported a man slumped over the steering wheel of his car. Investigation by Officers Dwyer and Dargen disclosed that he was just working on the automobile.

A super market in Newton Upper Falls was broken into Thursday morning and reported missing were 13 cents out of the cash register and an undetermined amount of candy and cigarettes. Entrance was made by smashing a large plate glass window of the front door.

A proprietor of a store on Washington street found to his chagrin that new uses for television didn't pay off. Using an old picture tube for a small change depository, he reported to Newton police that someone stole his TV bank, 18 inches high, 12 inches at the base and tapering to a two inch neck, which contained around $500. The tube was kept behind his counter.

A motorist, driving a green sedan, stopped to ask directions to Waltham of two school children last Thursday afternoon. The children reported to Policewoman DeStefano that he was minus his trousers.

After being refused a grant of solicited funds, two 10-year-old boys went to the garage of the home on Alexander road promptly threw garden tools about the lawn. They were gone when police arrived.

Dispersed last Tuesday night, an unscheduled petting party in front of a home on Kirkstall road.

Two more sweaters, believed to be of the inflammable type, delivered to the Newton station last Monday night by a Wood-cliff road resident. Man said he bought the sweaters from a driver of a New York car last October.

A 20-year-old youth, 5-7, 125 lbs., light hair, wearing dark zipper jacket, plaid trousers, no hat and with glasses, exposed himself to a 15-year-old girl while she was waiting for a bus at the corner of Walnut and Boylston streets last Wednesday evening. Sgt. Donahue and Officers Duffy, Nugent and Casavant searched the area but found no one answering the description.

While waiting for gas at a service station on Auburn street, a Newton motorist reported that another driver pulled up behind him, growled impatient at the long delay, honked his horn and pushed his car across the yard. Then he left.

Four young men driving a green car rang the front door bell of a house on Washington street and asked directions to Lasell Junior College. Woman believes they are the same boys who were responsible for breaking into her home last two weeks ago. Police found no one in the area upon investigation.

A car containing four sailors and two girls pulled up at a gas station on Centre street and asked directions to Allston last Saturday night. When the attendant entered the station one of the sailors grabbed a 6.50X15 whitewalled tire and headed the car in the direction of the turnpike. Sgt. Regan and Officer Hickson apprehended the occupants and made the arrest.

Ridge road resident reported that some children were throwing ice at the front door of his home and creating a disturbance almost every night between the hours of 9 and 10 p.m.

Record Sum Needed for Polio Work

Cost of Care Has Soared While Number of Polio Patients Has Increased

America's privilege for transforming crippled legs to active limbs can only be met by a record 1952 March of Dimes, emphasized Thomas W. Leydon, Newton campaign director for the January appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in a statement this week.

"It costs a great deal to bring weakened bodies back to a reasonable state of functioning," he said. "When polio leaves its mark, it's a long, uphill fight to repair the damage. That's why the March of Dimes has gone into debt for four years running. True, America has contributed more each year. However, not only has the cost of hospital care soared, but the number of polio patients needing help has increased steadily."

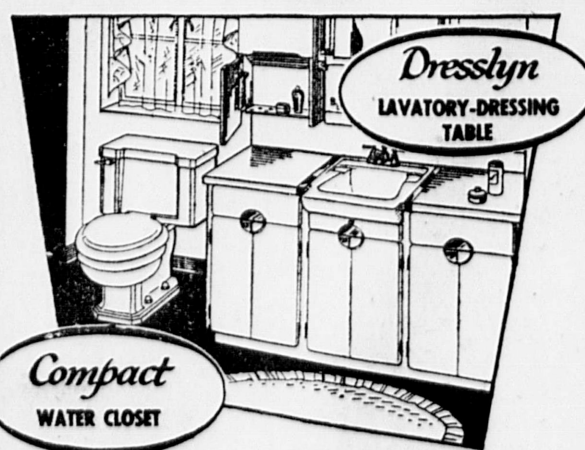

"The cost of hospitalization, nurses and equipment, like everything else, have risen," he said. "Besides that, there have been more new polio patients in the last four years (132,000) than in those previous ten years combined. Each year, tens of thousands of polio patients stricken in past years remain on March of Dimes rolls for continuing assistance. They are the more seriously involved patients, the ones that require the most attention if they are ever to lead useful lives."

Contributions should be sent to William J. Payne, March of Dimes, Newton National Bank, Newton 58, Mass.

Says War Danger With Russia Not As Great As A Year Ago

Congressman Christian Herter in Talk Here States That if Russia Wanted War in Europe, They Have Missed Their Best Time to Attack

"If Russia wanted war in Europe, they have missed their best time to attack," Congressman Christian Herter declared Monday noon at a luncheon meeting of members of Newton service clubs, held at the Normandie Room in Norumbega Park.

"Considering the picture as a whole, the danger of war with Russia is not as real now as it was 12 months ago," Mr. Herter stated. Attending the meeting were members of Kiwanis, Rotary, Zonta, and Lions Clubs of Newton, and members of the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Tracing events in three sectors of danger over the world today, Mr. Herter discussed the political and military aspects of the situation in the far East, Middle East and in Europe.

"In Korea, where we have been fighting for a year and a half, we are in an inconclusive war," he stated, "and even a truce would mean little." Mr. Herter predicted that we would no longer let the Russians pick a time and place for combat and that we can minimize the danger of a new war by firmness.

Trouble in Asia and Tunisia is a source of embarrassment to the United States, as well as future concern. Congressman Herter indicated that Communism activity in these parts had been very slight.

In the European picture, Mr. Herter indicated that the North Atlantic nations had indicated enough strength and future potential to be convincing to the Soviet states. In an ultimate test as to whether free nations or slave nations will win out, Congressman Herter felt that the forces of freedom would be victorious.

Presiding at the luncheon was Fred A. Hawkins, president of Newton Rotary Club. Invocation was asked by the Rev. Arthur Block, pastor of Newton Lutheran Church. The speaker was introduced by Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood.

ATTORNEY EDWARD O. PROCTOR of Newton and Boston, left, takes the qualifying oath of office as a member of the Judicial Council, administered by Edward J. Cronin, Secretary of the Commonwealth. Atty. ## Pros and Cons of Voting System Here Is Explained

In recent weeks, great interest has been aroused among the voters of Newton regarding the city's present Preferential Voting System, the only one of its kind in the Commonwealth and, in fact, anywhere in the world.

There is now a bill before the Massachusetts legislature to abolish preferential voting in Newton in favor of a simple plurality system. If this bill is adopted, the question will go on the ballot in 1953 as a referendum to be decided by Newton voters. Thus, it is imperative that Newton citizens consider whether it would be to their advantage to abolish the current voting system, or possibly even consider a revision of the basic structure of the city government.

The aim of the League of Women Voters of Newton is to help the individual citizen understand his form of government and the voting system of his city so that he can adequately meet the responsibility of citizenship.

In spite of league discussion groups throughout the city, information published by the City Clerk's office, and in the newspapers, there is a great lack of understanding of the Preferential Voting System on the part of Newton citizens. The preferential system has been in use since 1916, and yet few voters have used it properly. Election officials themselves find the system confusing and complicated, as was pointed up by the recent recount of votes for Ward 2 Alderman.

Our present Preferential Voting System was designed to assure a majority choice. If there are more than two candidates for an office, provision is made on the ballot for first and second choices, and also for writing in the names of additional candidates. If there are more than three candidates for an office, provision is made for first, second and third choices. In counting ballots, if no candidate receives a majority of first choice votes, the second choices are added to the first choices and then, if this still gives no one a majority vote, the third choices are added and the candidate receiving the highest number of first, second and third choices together is elected.

Final Call Made To Aid March Of Dimes Fund

Is Not Too Late to Join in the Fight — Mail Your Contribution At Once

A final call to all Newton residents to send their March of Dimes Contributions to Thomas W. Payne, treasurer, Newton National Bank, was issued by Newton Police Campaign Director, Thomas W. Leydon.

No last day house-to-house collection will be made in Newton. Mr. Leydon stated, "It is not too late to join the fight—mail your contribution today."

As the 1952 March of Dimes here neared its close this year, Campaign Director Leydon urged all workers not to relax their efforts during the closing phase of the drive. He said: "We have every reason to feel proud of the way residents of Newton are helping in this most vital March of Dimes.

"Partial returns in Newton indicate that the 1952 March of Dimes may be the best we have ever held in this city.

"At the same time," he added, "we must bear in mind that polio incidence has tripled during the past four years. The chapters of the National Foundation have been trying to do a 100 percent job with considerably less than 100 percent of the funds necessary to do it."

West Newton Missioner In Formosa

Fr. Joseph G. Cosgrove Is Pastor of Maryknoll Parish in Yuan Lin

Starting a new mission assignment at the age of 37, after ten years in China, Father Joseph G. Cosgrove of West Newton, Mass., is now pastor of the Maryknoll parish in the town of Yuan Lin, 15 miles southeast of here.

The brother of Charles H. Cosgrove of 47 Cherry street and Richard A. Cosgrove of 186 Parmenter road, West Newton, Father Cosgrove arrived here last May. After studying the language a few months, he was assigned to Yuan Lin. At present he is building a combination convent and dispensary for two Chinese Sisters also stationed there.

On Formosa the Maryknoll Fathers have charge of the Prefecture of Taichung, located in the central part of the island. Some 1,500,000 people, mostly farmers, live there. The main crops in the area are rice, potatoes, vegetables, tobacco, sugar cane, tea, and fruit, while the chief industry is sugar refining.

Father Cosgrove attended schools in West Newton before entering Maryknoll in 1928. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1940 and left for the missions of China the same year.

After a furlough in the United States in 1949, the Communists refused him a travel permit to re-enter South China. He remained in Hong Kong as assistant editor of the Sunday Examiner, a Catholic newspaper, until his Formosa assignment.

Conditions in Europe Better, States Dr. Ell

Europeans Suspicious of American Motives For Giving So Much Money

"I have found the economic situation in Europe not nearly so desperate as I had assumed," President Carl S. Ell of Northeastern University told the members of the Senior Club of the Newtonville Methodist Church, Sunday night.

Dr. and Mrs. Ell had made a two months tour through many European countries from last July to September.

"Of course, there are places where want and hunger and great need exist, where the rich are very rich and the poor are very poor, but that is also true of some places in the United States. In general, one has the feeling in traveling through these countries and talking with

The final Campaign Report of the 1952 Red Feather Campaign in Newton shows total subscriptions of $302,586. This is 94.5 per cent of Newton's goal of $320,000.

Copies of the report are being sent to all 2300 members of the 1952 Campaign organization in Newton by Robert P. Walker, Campaign Chairman. Mr. Walker points out that although the goal was not reached, the amount raised was $17,600 more than was raised last year. Mr. Walker's letter expresses his sincere personal thanks to the members of the Campaign organization for their untiring efforts in providing services which in 1952 will be used by 20,000 Newton people, together with hundreds of thousands in Greater Boston.

Point 4 Value In Years Ahead Told At Forum

International Relations Workshop Briefed By Experts From Harvard

The point 4 program for economic development of backward countries will bring back to America in the years to come, new friends, new trade and new investments, Dr. Samuel P. Huntington of the Harvard department of government told the one day Workshop on International Relations held here last Friday.

Dr. Huntington said that justification of the Point 4 program does not lie in the near future but in the years ahead. We could send rice and wheat to the backward countries now, but as it is a long-range program we send soil experts instead, so that the countries can grow their own rice and wheat.

Dr. Guy Pauker, also of Harvard's department of government, warned that the Point 4 program must become a movement if we are to win the struggle for survival.

Dr. Dan Fenn, executive director of the United Council on World Affairs, said that to blame the Kremlin for all the world's present troubles was oversimplification. He said that troubles between India and Pakistan, Arabs and Israelis, Britain and Iran needed a strong United Nations.

The Workshop was sponsored by the International Relations Committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs in cooperation with the League of Women Voters of Newton, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and local Girl Scouts, Junior Red Cross and Council of Church Women.

"Explosive" Matches Being Sold In Newton

Are Extremely Dangerous and Can Cause Trouble To the Face and Eyes

Chief John E. Corcoran of the Fire Department stated this week that recently there have been some stores throughout the city that have been selling the so-called "explosive matches." These matches are exceedingly dangerous and if used to light a cigarette could cause serious trouble to a person's face or eyes. There is also the tendency to drop the match when it explodes, and this could cause a fire if it were dropped on any type of combustible materials.

This type of match is illegal, and any store or person that is selling them should be reported to either the police or fire department at once.

The following is the law covering this type of match: Chapter 258, Acts of 1950. An Act to prohibit the sale of explosive matches. Be it enacted, etc., as follows: Chapter 148 of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after section 32 the following section: — Section 32A. Whoever sells or keeps for sale exploding matches, so called, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars.

Rep. Herter Jr., Says Citizens Paid High Price For State Government in 1951

TAXES: Of course, this considerable growth of expenditure had to be financed with new taxes. The Democrats must accept full responsibility for the following increases:

Increase from 1 1/2 per cent to 2 1/2 per cent in the tax on individual earned income. (Exemptions per child upped from $250. to $400. and exemptions on all sources of income from $1000. to $2000.)

Increase in public utilities franchise tax.

Increase in capital gains tax from 3 per cent to 6 per cent.

New stamp tax on deeds and instruments transferring real estate.

Increase in gasoline tax from 3c to 4.3c a gallon.

License and registration fees on motor vehicles, particularly trucks, almost doubled.

Extension for two years of many so-called "temporary taxes," particularly surtaxes on personal and corporation income.

Advancing the date of filing personal income tax returns from March 1st to April 15th, and increasing the exemption on the personal property tax from $1000. to $5000. represent the only measures of relief for the harassed taxpayer.

LABOR AND INDUSTRIES: Probably the most important single accomplishment in this field was the revision of the Unemployment Compensation Law. The final result represented a compromise arrived at after a long and bitter struggle. Significant changes provided by the new law include the creation of individual employer accounts, merit rating starting at 1 per cent when the reserve fund reaches 6 per cent of the total taxable payroll of the Commonwealth (5 per cent when the reserve reaches 7 per cent), base period earnings of $500. in order to qualify a recipient, and the tightening of a number of loopholes in the law of which advantage has been taken.

A bill to permit collective bargaining by "one man units" was passed over considerable opposition; it is now mandatory that both men and women be given equal pay for work of "like or comparable character."

Organized labor fell short of their program in two notable respects. A measure for a 75c minimum wage for employees in industry commerce founded on the issue of whether the present wage boards should be retained. For the third successive year the proposal for a state controlled "cash sickness" fund was defeated.

One of the most dramatic incidents of the year came about over the suppression of the so-called Blanchard Report on the situation of industry in Massachusetts. Because the report was critical of the Administration's policies toward industry, a considerable battle developed between the Senate and the Commissioner of Labor and Industries as to whether the Senate could obtain a copy of the report. The Supreme Judicial Court decided the matter in the Senate's favor and the report was finally released. It is significant that the Governor's 1952 inaugural message devotes a great deal of space to the plight of industry in the state and even goes so far as to suggest some remedial legislation.

CRIME AND CORRUPTION: In a year when daily headlines in the newspapers have been exposing graft and corruption throughout the United States, the Republicans in the Legislature got nowhere in their effort to create some sort of a crime commission. It was obvious that a legislative committee such as the House Rules Committee was incapable of adequately investigating crime. The report of this committee on the Derham-Cenedella-Kelley affair was overwhelmingly repudiated by the members of its own body. Failure of the Democrats to go along with any bill on a crime commission is somewhat analogous to the President's retaining in office the present Attorney General of the United States to investigate crime and corruption in the Department of Justice.

All attempts to bar the private practice of law by the Attorney General were defeated. After a long uphill struggle, however, the proponents of the bill to permit juries to recommend life imprisonment in first degree murder cases as an alternative to the present mandatory death penalty finally tasted the fruits of victory.

EDUCATION: One important stride forward in the field of education was made when the Legislature approved a bill to require the certification of public teachers by the Department of Education. Even though the standards established are not as stringent as some would like, Massachusetts has at last been brought in line with the rest of the country.

Although no real success was obtained in attempting to integrate the administration of our teachers' colleges and to remove the system from politics, some financial help in the form of new buildings to individual institutions was provided for in the capital outlay program. Moreover, the minimum pay for public school teachers was raised from $1800. to $2100. in towns with a valuation of less than 2 1/2 million dollars and from $2100. to $2300. in all other municipalities.

A bill to authorize the creation of a medical and dental school in the University of Massachusetts again met with defeat.

SOCIAL LEGISLATION: Perhaps the most significant step in this field was represented by the highly controversial measure to permit certain state prisoners to work on reforestation projects under the supervision of the Department of Conservation. This is an intelligent step forward in the treatment of prisoners and the opponents of the bill were pacified when an amendment was adopted to provide for public hearings in the area where the prisoners are to be put to work.

Massachusetts joined an interstate compact with three other New England states for flood control on the Connecticut River. Opposition to entering the compact was based principally on the ground that no provision is made for multi-purpose dams that can eventually be used for cheaper hydro-electric power.

The powers of inspection of the State Board of Pharmacy were extended to all types of establishments selling drugs, including grocery stores, variety stores, super-markets, etc. The Legislature has now regulated the sale of automatic spring-release knives and B-B guns.

In the closing minutes of the session, a measure to require milk producers to stamp on the bottle the butter-fat content of the milk they sell was defeated in the House by the narrowest of margins.

HOME RULE: Everyone pays extensive lip service to the theory of "home rule" for cities and towns. The concrete results during 1951, however, were disappointing. Some satisfaction is warranted in the final passage of an emasculated home rule bill which not only gives cities and towns complete discretion to appropriate funds for any of their corporate purposes but permits municipalities to transfer land held by one department to another without legislative authorization. City and town officials may now establish by law or ordinance such matters as hours of work, holiday, vacation and sick leave for municipal employees. They must also take into account a number of new factors in determining the tax rate. Previously the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation had entirely too much authority in this field.

An attempt by the Taxpayers' Federation to expose public welfare records to the scrutiny of selected citizens' committees and the financial authorities of municipalities was defeated.

Fortunately a bill to accord the Boston police the status of state employees was rejected. The Legislature, nonetheless, went out of its way to grant a substantial raise to these same police which the mayor and city council of Boston were virtually forced to approve.

A great deal of time was spent in clarifying the election provisions governing Boston's first election under Plan A. Despite considerable sound opposition, insurance companies were authorized to invest in the proposed Boston Common underground garage although private investors and the R.F.C. have so far refused to have anything to do with such a venture.

ELECTION LAWS: In this field there was great disappointment because of the failure of the Governor to sign the pre-primary convention bill. This thwarting of the legislative will deserves to be an important campaign issue for the Republicans.

Candidates for nomination to office by either political party are no longer permitted to cross-file. They can run for nomination only by the party in which they are enrolled. In connection with the coming presidential primary, an important measure to permit the voters to write in on the ballot their preference for presidential nominee was authorized.

COMMUNISM: A substantial number of bills to limit or outlaw communist activities was filed, in many instances purely for political purposes. The difficulty with most of these measures was that in attempting to get at an obvious evil, they reached into a sphere which should never be the subject of restrictive legislation.

In the last days of the session, a final compromise measure was passed. It outlaws the Communist Party and other subversive organizations in this state, providing, however, for a number of procedural safeguards in determining what is and what is not a subversive organization. More ill-considered measures such as the stringent Ober Law, the "Lawyers' Oath" bill and the so-called "college presidents' bill" died as the result of the final compromise.

MISCELLANEOUS: It is impossible in a resume such as this to report all the important legislation that was passed or failed to get through. People will differ as to what bills are worthy of mention; it is my opinion that the following matters deserve some comment:

An act to require uniform hand or electric signals for all automobile drivers.

Savings banks are now permitted to issue life insurance policies up to $5000. on a single life whereas the previous limit has been $1000.

The state and municipalities must now reimburse private hospitals $12. a day instead of $10. for the cost of care for indigent patients. This is still about $5. a day short of the actual cost.

The 1 per cent on premiums paid to the Blue Shield has been eliminated.

Regulations on the keeping, handling and transportation of bees, so important to Massachusetts agriculture, have been tightened.

An attempt to amend the Constitution to limit the length of legislative sessions to six months was defeated.

The perennial "pound" bill for humane experimentation on animals met the same fate.

At the end of the session, terrific pressure was brought by liquor dealers to authorize the A.B.C. to fix the retail prices of liquor and thus avoid a disastrous price war with resultant heavy drinking during the Christmas season. The bill failed to pass and Christmas seems to have gone by without undue strain.

As far as the City of Newton is concerned, perhaps the most important piece of legislation affecting it directly was a bill to incorporate its funded pension system for its employees into the state pension system, a system which does not permit sinking fund reserves. The advantage to Newton's employees is that the benefits paid under the Newton system will now be the same as those granted under the state system.

SUMMARY: There is no question that the Legislature has been considerably criticized for the inefficient and lengthy manner in which it did its work. Nu-

Brown Univ. Glee Club Have Feb. 9

Coming to Newton High School to perform their talents is the Brown University Glee Club. The Glee Club Concert will be at Newton High School Saturday evening, February 9.

The features of the program include, along with the Brown Club, a few songs by the A Cappella Choir of Newton High School and the Junior College Choir.

The Brown Glee Club plans, in addition to their own program, to perform a short group of two numbers by William Billings, the early 18th century American composer, which will be sung with the two Newton Choirs. The songs will probably be "Modern Music" and "Be Glad America."

A violin solo by Daniel Abbott is on the concert program. Mr. Abbott is a recent graduate of Newton High School. The piece chosen for the violin solo will be a Handel Sonata for the violin and piano. Another graduate, Norman Cleveland, will sing in the Glee Club.

In addition to the performances by the choral groups and the Brown Glee Club, there will be some arrangements played by the Jappewoods, Brown University's own Octet.

The proceeds from this presentation will go for the purchasing of badly needed robes for the Brown University Glee Club.

Army Saves $414,021 in Fort Devens Undertaking

Every man, woman and child in Newton would be entitled to $5.36, if the money saved during the past year at Fort Devens should be equally distributed.

The total amount saved was $414,021, and is the result of the Army's continuing effort to cut down expenses through disposal of materials by reuse, salvage or re-sale, as well as by consolidation of departments and functions, and the reallocation of jobs.

The whole project is part of the Army's "Cost Consciousness" program, according to Lieut. Colonel A. A. Dunn, Chief of the Management and Controls Section.

Numerous measures for changing its rules, limiting by statute the length of its sessions and providing other changes to speed up its operations have been suggested. Many of these proposals have merit. Basically, however the trouble does not lie with (To Be Concluded Next Week)

F. Hopewell Underhill, Chairman of Sponsors

Mr. F. Hopewell Underhill of 19 Birch Hill road, Newtonville, chairman of Sponsors for the Newtonville Group of Scouts, is starting his campaign for sponsors for their 19th annual show which will be held Sunday, February 3.

Mr. Underhill has been associated with scouting since 1941 when his son Bill was a cub scout in Pack 16 when it was first organized. Young Bill went on to Troop 16 (Walter B. Chase, scoutmaster), finally becoming an Eagle Scout. Mr. Underhill was treasurer of the Newtonville Group for two years, 1947 and 1948, becoming its president in 1949. He was on the committee for Troop 16 for two years and helped build its cabin at Nobscot in Sudbury the camping reservation owned by the Norumbega Council.

This annual show which had its origin in 1933 is put on each year by the Newtonville Group for the benefit of the Cub and Boy Scouts in Newtonville.

Without the help of sponsors it would be impossible to maintain the high standard of scouting which now exists in Newtonville. In becoming a sponsor, it is your way of showing that you too believe in scouting and want to share in this worthy cause.

Need More Funds To Carry On For Tuberculosis Patients

Fourteen thousand five hundred dollars has been received as of January 28, by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association in its Christmas Seal drive. More is still needed to equal the amount raised last year and to meet expenses for the coming year.

About 50 percent of the 23,344 people receiving the Christmas Seal letter have not yet been heard from. The sale of Seals is continuing and it is expected that a large number of those who have not contributed will do so after receiving their reminder cards.

Volunteers come into the association office daily to address the gaily colored reminder cards to the 50 percent of Newton residents who have still not replied to the Christmas Seal letter.

Mrs. Frank L. Ogilvie is chairman of the Seal Sale and the district chairmen are: Mrs. Anthony Chalkowski, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs. Richard J. Dore, Oak Hill Park; Mrs. Carl W. Johnson, West Newton; Mrs. Hugo Marulli, Newton Lower Falls;

Mrs. Robert McColl, Newton Centre; Mrs. Raymond E. Perkins, Auburndale; Mrs. Gordon Pinkham, Waban; Miss Cora Rogers, Newtonville; Mrs. Nehemiah Roulstone, Newton Highlands; Mrs. A. Thomas Sundborg, Newton; Mrs. George C. Thompson, West Newton; and Mrs. F. Roland Vincent, Newton Centre.

Many other Newton residents have assisted the chairman in getting the reminder cards ready for mailing.

More funds are necessary to meet the needs of the coming year. There are 24 Newton people in the Middlesex County Sanatorium as compared with 13 patients at this time a year ago. These patients all require personal counseling, aptitude tests, vocational advice and training.

More funds are also needed for X-raying the apparently healthy population. Earlier discovery of tuberculosis cases would mean a shorter and less costly hospitalization period and would help prevent the spread of the disease to healthy persons.

Newton Centre Girl Scouts Hold Investiture, Court of Awards

Girl Scout Troop 88 of Newton Centre held an investiture ceremony and court of awards at the First Church of Newton Jan. 23 at 4 p.m. Parents and friends were invited.

Chelise Finerty, Judith Johnson and Janice Meissner were awarded Second Class Scout badges.

This special event of girls becoming members of the Girl Scout organization was observed by the traditional candlelight service and a color ceremony. Flag bearers: Chelise Finerty and Judith Johnson; color guards: Janice Meissner and Elise Hegland.

The whole ceremony was planned by each and every girl in the troop and presided over by Mrs. Eldon R. Johnson, leader, and Mrs. Adolph Bassen, assistant leader.

Mrs. Constance A. Bean Is Named New Health Educator of Newton Group

The appointment of Mrs. Constance A. Bean as the new health educator at the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association is announced by Mrs. Henry A. Plimpton, president of the Association. She began her duties January 22.

She will continue the health education work of Miss Ruth N. Brooks who left the Association to be married. Miss Ruth R. Raphael is executive director of the Association.

Mrs. Bean will continue the case-finding work of the Association through X-ray surveys so that Newton residents may have free chest X-rays. She will be in charge of public education on tuberculosis and other health subjects and will attempt to make Newton people more health-conscious through meetings, newspaper articles, radio programs, and the distribution of health pamphlets which the Tuberculosis Association makes available to the public.

Mrs. Bean was graduated from Mount Holyoke College in 1949. She received her Master's degree at the Yale School of Public Health and did field training for the Tuberculosis League of Waterbury, after which she served as health educator for the Cambridge Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Meet To Form Heart Disease Screening Program In Newton

Volunteers met last Thursday evening at the Rebecca Pomroy House, to help organize a heart disease screening program in Newton Corner. Mrs. Kenneth B. Backman acted as general chairman and local residents who assisted were Mrs. Donald MacKenzie, Miss Margaret Magoley, Mrs. George E. Rawson, Mrs. Meyer Ritvo, Miss Adelaide Ball, Miss Mildred Cavanaugh, Mrs. John MacNeil, Mrs. Frank P. Scofield, Mrs. Julius W. A. Kohler, Ralph Angier, Wilfred Chagnon, Paul S. Rich, Ralph McKee, Joseph Cosmon, John Cochrane, William Wasson and William E. Hopkins.

Miss Margaret Magoley offered to serve as a clearing house for the areas to be covered by the solicitors. Mrs. Frances D. Forgie of the Weeks Junior High School, who has had previous experience in other sections, will assist in scheduling the program.

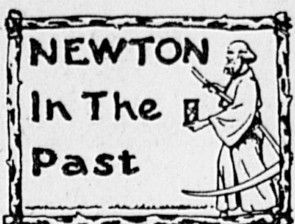

Mrs. George E. Rawson accepted the responsibility of obtaining volunteer hostesses and typists for service at the examination center.

The screening program will be similar to that previously conducted at Oak Hill, Auburndale and Newton Lower Falls. Plans call for actual screening to start February 25 and to continue through March 8. There will be afternoon and evening examination periods.

The examination center will be the Newton Public Library which through Harold A. Wooster, head librarian, has offered the use of the newly opened addition to the main library. Examination will be private, confidential and by appointment. It will be very simple and take only about 10 minutes. All residents above 18 years of age are eligible.

This is a free service offered by the Newton Public Health Department, in cooperation with the Cardiac Program Committee of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and the Newton Community Council.

The initial steps in organizing the program for Newton Corner were taken at the meeting at the Rebecca Pomroy House. Persons interested in being examined or in aiding the program should call one of the persons active in the organization.

Every Shape Has A Meaning

Last week in Newton witnessed the inauguration of a 5 point safety program under the auspices of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce. Its purpose is to try and instill into the minds of all motorists and pedestrians alike, the fact that signs are erected with various characters which have a definite and significant meaning.

There is little need to dwell here on the appalling number of deaths and accidents resulting from the ever increasing flow of automobile traffic. There is a need, however, of trying to impress upon the public's mind certain undisputable facts and upon trying to educate them to learn accurately and fully the meaning of traffic signs and signals, in order that fatalities may be cut down. This then is the aim and purpose of the campaign which the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce has undertaken and which has been endorsed by safety officials, organizations and Parent Teacher groups in this community.

It is a campaign which merits the full-hearted support of all for it has for its main purpose the reduction of accidents and fatalities of small children in particular and the general public as a whole.

The automobile today, placed in the wrong hands, is just as much a killer as any firearm, yet the total disregard with which some individuals operate a motor vehicle is both startling and alarming and should call for more drastic action and more drastic regulations.

The automobile fatality list is not going to diminish. Not unless the general public becomes aware of its ever increasing danger, for instead of fewer automobiles there is going to be an ever increasing number on the road.

In bringing forcibly to the attention of the citizens of Newton the hazards which exist, the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce is fulfilling a public-spirited undertaking and one which should have the solid backing of all substantial citizens in this community.

What Price Publicity?

The Governors of the six New England states met in Boston recently for the highly commendable purpose of devising a few effective methods for giving the anemic textile industry a much-needed shot in the arm.

Another laudable objective of the gubernatorial group was the development of feasible ways in which to promote New England as a recreational fairland, to publicize its charm and enchantment in an effort to lure summer vacationers and the millions of dollars worth of business which they represent.

In this latter connection, a committee representing hotel and travel interests attempted to sell the governors a bill of goods in the form of an expensive, four-point plan which reflects the near-sighted thinking of those who consider newspapers only as media for free publicity.

Suggestions of this committee include: 1) The publication of a New England quarterly magazine; 2) A film depicting the area's desirable recreational facilities to be produced and distributed at a cost of $100,000; 3) The preparation of pamphlets, folders, posters and sundry advertising material; 4) The hiring of a public relations firm at a standing fee of $25,000 annually to obtain an estimated $250,000 worth of free space in newspapers and magazines.

One curious fact deserves to be pointed out. Everything is to be bought and paid for with the sole exception of the $250,000 worth of free space.

The policy of extending cooperation and good will established and maintained by the press in its tireless efforts to render useful public service is being imposed upon more and more every day by certain groups, typical of which is the committee recommending this proposal to the governors for their consideration.

It has been decided that $125,000 will be spent for promoting New England. The states will get more for their money and the New England campaign will realize far greater success if this sum is used for the purchase of hard-hitting effective advertising copy in newspapers.

The results produced by this technique in other states stand as proof that such a program would do more to "sell" New England than any film or fee-minded publicity agency.

New Englanders, noted for common sense and thrifty habits, enjoy a wide reputation for getting what they pay for. It would be out of consonance with long standing tradition for their governors to do anything else.

Election Spurs Action of Legislature . . .

Our State Legislature, having been sharply criticized for taking so long to complete its business in 1951, is rushing with such speed this year that lobbyists and law-makers are all but wearing themselves out sprinting from one hearing to another.

The plan being followed by the leaders of the House and Senate for the past month has been to complete as many hearings as possible, obtain the reports and recommendations on bills filed last fall and push the full Legislature into high gear next Monday.

In order to allow legislators to concentrate on their committee duties, formal sessions of the House and Senate have been held only on Mondays, and committee hearings have run all day every day.

Whatever course is followed in an attempt to secure an early prorogation invariably runs into some snags, and that has been true during the past week.

Legislators scurrying from one room to another at the State House explain breathlessly that they are supposed to be sitting as committee members at hearings on one measure but that elsewhere other hearings are in progress on bills they themselves sponsored.

It isn't at all unusual for a Representative or Senator to appear before a committee, offer his arguments as to why some bill should be passed or defeated and then rush back to another chamber to sit in judgment as a committee member on a different proposal.

Out of this maelstrom of confusion, almost chaotic action and political cross currents, some measure of order is expected to emerge next week when the two legislative bodies settle down to the consideration of the long list of bills on which committee reports have been filed.

The tremendous burst of speed which has seen the legislative wheels turning at a fast tempo isn't prompted entirely by the criticism directed at the Legislature for sitting so long last year. This is an election year, and the law-makers want to conclude their business in time to attend the Republican and Democratic national conventions and to devote attention to their own campaigns for renomination and election.

President Truman obviously is enjoying the role he has assumed as sphinx and mystery man as far as the coming campaign is concerned, and there is a mounting suspicion on the part of political observers that he is doing so deliberately to promote interest and speculation concerning his intentions of running or not running for another term.

Mr. Truman has declared in effect that he knows what he is going to do but isn't going to tell anybody until he gets good and ready. He said further that he hasn't let anyone at all in on his secret and that this includes all the politicians who have emerged from the Blair House and announced their convictions that the President either would or would not be a candidate.

Judging from the pronouncements from some of the politicians, it also seems fair to conclude that Mr. Truman has led some to believe that he would run and has given others the idea that he wouldn't, because the trend of opinion has varied from one week to another, presumably depending upon the mood in which President Truman's visitors found him.

Most of the political wiseacres now surmise that the President will be a candidate for a third term and that he will merely delay his statement until he has made the most of his status as the Democratic sphinx who knows all but won't tell.

One thing that is sure, however, is that if Mr. Truman does decide to give in to his wife's wishes and retire from the White House, there won't be much time for a buildup for the man who is to carry the Democratic banner in his place. If you scan the list of Democratic possibilities, you're likely to agree that there isn't much of anyone except Mr. Truman himself who would appear to be well enough known to give General Eisenhower or Senator Taft a real battle.

At the moment Governor Stevenson of Illinois is considered the strongest potential candidate if President Truman decides to withdraw from the political wars, and he certainly isn't as well known as either Eisenhower or Taft in this part of the country.

Political observers don't place too much stock in President Truman's assertion that he will not attempt to dictate the choice of the Democratic candidate for President if his decision is not to run.

Again they suspect that Mr. Truman would have made no statement if it were his intention to retire from office at the end of his present term.

To this observer it seems that the President has seized on every possible opportunity to confuse, bewilder and mystify the newsmen covering his press conferences who have plied him with questions in an attempt to get some meaningful answer.

What is the explanation for an obvious attempt to build up a political mystery? Maybe the answer came from the conference of Middle Western Democratic leaders who under the guidance of Democratic National Committee Chairman Frank McKinney set in motion a move to draft Mr. Truman for another term.

Patrolman Tom Goates of Corpus Christi, Tex., emptied his pistol firing at a fugitive, in disgust hurled the weapon at him and felled him with a direct hit on the head.

Mrs. Emma Conway complained to Tulsa police that, after a row, her husband had mixed alcohol with her cosmetics, smeared sulfa cream on her clothing, cut the straps off her shoes, dumped a hot roast with gravy all over the kitchen, broke the bedroom mirror and two flower vases and slashed her brassieres to shreds. He must have been displeased.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH AND TUNNI COOLIDGE

however, many publishers assigned their best artists and verse-writers to do a professional job. More and better Valentines were the result. Beautifully printed and embossed and die-cut, the Victorian era is still remembered for its frilly, fussy Valentines.

Here in America, colonial sweethearts improvised and made their simple pen-and-ink Valentines as best they could. This continued until 1840, when Esther Howland designed and printed a batch of English-style Valentines for her delighted classmates at Mt. Holyoke College for Women.

It was Leap Year.—just 28 Leap Years ago, in fact—and the unexpected demand encouraged her to "open shop" on a larger scale. After her college days ended, Miss Howland became the head of a firm specializing in Valentines.

Name Delegates to Annual Conference

The Mothers' Auxiliary of the All Newton Music School met in the school building at 1:30 on last Friday afternoon, Jan. 25, with Mrs. George Arnold, chairman of the group, presiding. The secretary, Mrs. William Custer, and the treasurer, Mrs. Francis Manguso, each gave interesting reports, the latter showing the treasury to be in excellent condition with the report of a substantial balance in the bank.

The director, Mrs. Worth, announced the 11th annual conference of the National Guild of Community Music Schools to be held in New Haven, Conn., on Feb. 1, 2 and 3.

It was voted to send Mrs. George Arnold, chairman, and Mrs. Henry Balos, vice-chairman, to the conference as delegates from the Mothers' Auxiliary.

Mrs. Balos, chairman of the "Worth-While" Auction to be held on April 28, at the Newtonville Woman's Club, reported progress in the plans for the auction, which this year is the one big benefit held to augment funds for the Mothers' Auxiliary scholarship fund and building fund. Mrs. Balos and her committee have been hard at work organizing the various groups to make this an outstanding event and she will have interesting announcements relative to the sale from time to time. Mr. Arthur Gregorian will be the auctioneer, a fact which speaks for itself.

Donations of unusual items have been promised by interested friends of the Music School and the committee expects to have an interesting list to publish before the event takes place. Worth-while and saleable articles will gladly be received at the Music School at any time from now until the day of the auction.

The next meeting of the Mothers' Auxiliary will be on Friday evening, March 7, when there will be an interesting program of music and colored movies, the pictures being of places off the beaten path in France, Switzerland and the Alpine country.

Fire Department News and Notes

Most everybody enjoys going out to visit sometimes in the evening. In many homes this means that someone must be employed to take care of the young children.

There are many cases on record where parents have left helpless babies and small children at home in bed unattended both at night and during the day. Upon their arrival back home they have been confronted with disaster. A fire ruined home and their loved ones burnt to death or severely burned and suffering. Apparently when they had left home everything appeared to be in good order, but through some quirk of Fate, a fire developed. The children might have set it, or it might have been a short circuit, or the oil burner exploded, it could be most any of the limitless causes of fire. As there was nobody there old enough to investigate the first trace of smoke or odor of burning substances the fire developed unchecked for some period of time. When it was discovered it was too late to save the lives involved. Insurance may rebuild the homes but it cannot replace the lives of our loved ones.

You may think that in a community such as ours that a condition like this could not occur. There are no communities that are exempt from such occurrences. Fire respects nobody's life or property, you may be next. Young children should never be left in a house alone, especially at night. It may seem hard or expensive at times to locate a suitable companion to stay at the house to take care of the children but the effort is well worth it. The person engaged should be of a responsible age just in case some emergency should arise.

It is suggested that when you do engage a person that you give them certain information before leaving them, such as, the name and address of the place or the people you are visiting; the name and telephone number of a neighbor who might be close by who would come over if trouble developed, this is especially important if a young person is employed. Instruct them in the proper method of calling the Fire Department if it is needed, BT 4-0030 and tell them what to do with the children. If you have an oil burner, show them the location of the power switch so that they can shut the power off if necessary and tell them what to do in case any trouble develops from this source.

It is best to call the Fire Department at once if any smoke is detected coming from any source that cannot be easily located. Be sure to get all of the people out of the building as fast as possible. Don't take any chances and allow the fire to get a good start.

By properly instructing the person you have engaged in how to do these things and take care of the children it will relieve you of a lot of anxiety and it may be the means of saving a life or holding a fire down to a minimum loss.

Where a life is at stake the price of safety is never too great. Newton's record for fire fatalities has been very low over a period of years. It's a good record, so let's all do our part to keep it that way.

Holds Panel: "The Use of Audio-Visual Aids in the Study of Human Relations"

Mr. William L. Winston, specialist in audio-visual aids in the Newton public schools, is a member of the Massachusetts Teaching Aids Society which held its annual convention last Friday on the college campus of Babson Institute of Business Administration in Wellesley, Massachusetts. In addition to the regular business meeting, members of the Society held a panel discussion on the subject "The Use of Audio-Visual Aids in the Study of Human Relations," after which a tour was made of the Babson Institute campus so that members of the Society could see the world's largest relief map of the United States - which is sixty-five feet across and which is used in the teaching of Geography and Economic History - and the Newton Room, the actual parlor of Sir Isaac Newton, the famous physicist.

Newton Community Committee Meets

The Legislative and Special Betterment Committee of the Newton Community Club, Mrs. Clifford T. Gunsallus, chairman, presented the program for the club's regular meeting on Monday, January 21, at Grace Church, Newton. Mr. William McCormick, Chairman of the Youth Service Board of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, spoke on "Stop That Criminal!" and Mr. William E. Byrne, Director of the Newton Youth Organization, discussed "Before and After the Newton Youth Organization was Formed," and showed pictures illustrating the development of the organization. A coffee hour at 1:30 p. m. and a business meeting at 2:00 preceded the lectures.

It was through the efforts of this Legislative and Special Betterment Committee that the Youth Authority Law was established in Massachusetts. Members of the committee continue to work for social betterment, especially where young people are concerned. The progress through the legislature of bills affecting children is carefully watched, and every effort is put forth to protect the welfare of our future citizens.

Pamphlets explaining clearly to children why they should avoid contacting strangers are now in use in the Newton Public Schools, largely through the efforts of Mrs. Gunsallus and her committee, which includes the following: Mrs. Kenneth B. Backman, Mrs. George T. Dwight, Mrs. Fred D. Hardy, Mrs. George T. Higgins, Mrs. Thomas Huston, Mrs. Sterling N. Loveland, Mrs. Earl C. Mitchell, Mrs. William M. Wasson.

Educational Symposium to Be Held at Temple Shalom Feb. 6

"As the Twig Is Bent" will be the subject of a panel discussion at the next monthly meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton, Wednesday, February 6, in the Temple Shalom auditorium. Four well known educators will participate in the discussion on "How parents can develop democratic attitudes in their children."

Thomas Curtin, who will give the background and orientation of the subject, is on leave of absence as superintendent of schools in Nahant while doing research on a civic education program at Harvard. A Radcliffe College graduate, Miss Cauman has been a state supervisor of nursery school education in Rhode Island and has her B.A. in Child Development.

Library—

Branch Library" and requested "the reconsideration of the petition of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library which recommends the taking of land on the corner of Adams and Watertown streets."

In a communication to city officials dated April 5, 1951, it was pointed out that the selection of the site (Memorial Park) was based on careful consideration of the School Department building program and population figures of the area involved.

It was also established that the location of the new library would not conflict or overlap the services already rendered by the Newton Free Library. Furthermore, there were certain aesthetic attributes which served to enhance this choice of site over other city-owned plots in Nonantum.

"However," stated the Nonantum Improvement Council, "in deference to the sentiments of the people, we trust that the memorial and park aspects of the area will be retained and used to beautify the setting of the library building, bringing a spot of beauty to an area in Newton where our reputation as a Garden City is sadly at stake. And since Watertown street is one of the main traffic arteries entering the city, the location thereon of a library building in a garden setting would give a distinct lift to one of our least attractive areas."

The aim of the Nonantum Improvement Council, it is understood, is to develop the center idea in Nonantum and it is currently working to bring to the community services which are urgently needed, such as a branch library building, a post office, and a bank. Business, industry, and population statistics indicate considerable growth in this area in the last decade.

The selection of this library site has been under consideration for several years. On April 5, a formal petition was made by the Nonantum Improvement Council to purchase land adjoining the Memorial Park. This petition was approved by the unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library. On June 11, 1951, the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library recommended that the city "promptly take by eminent domain proceedings the undeveloped property adjacent to Memorial Park, as a suitable, proper, desirable site for a new branch library building for Nonantum."

On July 16, 1951, a public hearing was held on the land-taking in question. On November 29, 1951, the Memorial Park site together with the land petitioned for was approved by the Public Works Committee. On December 17 last, at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen, the petition was denied for lack of a single vote. There was a majority vote of 13 to 8, and many strong pleas in favor of the project.

As a result, the Nonantum Improvement Council, consisting of the Lincoln-Elliott Parent Teacher Association, Frank F. Carr Parent-Teacher Association, Frank A. Day Parent-Teacher Association, North Congregational Church, Church of Our Lady of Help of Christians, the United Italo-American Organization, Newton Good Citizenship Association, Nonantum Post, American Legion, and the Stearns Parent-Teacher Association, have requested Mayor Lockwood to reconsider the matter and seek favorable action.

Voting—

Advocates of the preferential voting system believe that it tends to eliminate the election of a candidate who is the choice of only a minority of the voters—provided all the voters understand the system and use their right to second and third choices. Its advocates also believe it results in a cleaner personal campaign, as candidates naturally refrain from alienating the supporters of their opponents and thus, possibly, losing second choice votes. However, very few voters take advantage of voting for second and third choices, so that what we actually have is the simple plurality voting system.

Most cities in the Commonwealth use the plurality voting system with a no-partisan preliminary run-off election which allows the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the preliminary election to be contestants at the final election. Two cities have partisan elections with plurality voting for candidates previously selected in party primaries.

In the simple plurality voting system, if there are more than two candidates, the candidate receiving the highest vote, not necessarily a majority, is elected. For illustration, suppose there were 6 candidates who received the following vote:

Candidates	Vote
A .....	35
B .....	51
C .....	55
D .....	64
E .....	46
F .....	49

With a total of 300 votes cast, Candidate D is the winner with 64 votes and thus is elected by only 21 percent of the voters who voted. It is interesting to note that in our recent election, only 42 percent (16,556 persons) of the 41,519 registered voters went to the polls.

This is the system that Newton would be left with should the present bill to abolish our Preferential Voting System be adopted. There would be no safeguard, such as a preliminary or run-off election, to assure the election of a majority candidate. An alternative to the preferential system and to the simple plurality system is having a preliminary election to narrow down the candidates to two for each office. The cost of such a preliminary election in Newton is estimated at about $5,000. Frequently in Newton, several of the offices to be filled are uncontested or have only two candidates. Traditionally, the voting in preliminary elections is light, and thus the cost per vote is high. However, Newton citizens might well consider whether the saving of $5,000 is worthwhile with the possibility of electing one or more candidates not actually the true choice of the people.

One of the deterrents to fullest participation by citizens in voting may well be the number of officials to be elected and the difficulty in knowing each candidate and his qualifications for office. For this reason, perhaps, a change in the City Charter should be considered. At the recent local election, the voter had to choose 23 officials out of a total of 46 candidates. The trend in modern city government is toward a smaller council or board of Aldermen, elected by the voters at large, with a City Manager to run the affairs of a large city in a business-like way. Newton, with its 32,000 citizens is an $11,000,000 business.

The League of Women Voters of Newton is in favor of a system which would encourage fuller citizen participation in government and which would reflect the majority vote. There should be the fullest possible citizen discussion of all the issues involved pertaining to a change in Newton's government structure and its voting system.

Campaign—

Gifts Division under Chairman Walker obtained subscriptions of $9120.

West Newton, Chestnut Hill, Newton and Waban, in that order, were the four leading advance gifts villages in the amount raised, and Newton Centre, Waban, Newton and West Newton were the four leading residential villages. ## Newton

Allan MacLeod of Newton has won first place in an Agency contest recently conducted by the Boston Agency of The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, according to an announcement by Leland T. Waggoner, Manager of the Agency. Mr.

MacLeod's winning first place was particularly noteworthy in view of the fact he has been in the Agency slightly less than one year. The Company recently sent Mr. MacLeod to a training school in New York for specialized training in the field of taxes and certain phases of estate planning.

Police Blotter

Several classrooms were broken into and ransacked last week at the F. A. Day Junior High School, but nothing was reported taken. Officer Turner made the investigation and reported that the method of entry had yet to be determined. There were no marks on the outside doors and windows and all were secured. Classrooms were entered by breaking the glass windows.

A 38-year-old father and his 18-year-old son were arrested on a charge of larceny of plumbing equipment from a house that was in the process of being torn down last week. The couple claimed that they had permission of wrecking company but later admitted this to be false.

Officers Madden and Cummings returned a three-year-old girl to her father after she was reported missing for two hours. She was found and taken to her home on Melrose street by the police.

Sgt. Yanco and Officers Quinn and Cornish investigated an anonymous complaint of a dance being held at the Bay State Hall on Centre street last Saturday night. Party giving dance had no license for the dance and promised to discontinue the affair.

A 16-year-old South Boston youth was arrested and charged with breaking and entering of the Hunnewell Club and Our Lady Help of Christians Church a few weeks ago.

Newton police were alerted to be on the watch for a man in the guise of a taxicab driver visiting schools in the area and claiming to drive students home. He was described as 19 or 21, six feet, brown hair, brown eyes, without a hat, with blemishes covering his face and wearing a black leather jacket and dungarees. He was reported to have visited the Wellesley schools several times recently.

Officers Manter and McKenna removed a five-year-old child to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment. The boy had a button stuck in his throat or nose. The object was coaxed out and the lad returned to his home by the police.

The kind of calls the Fire Department enjoys came in last week. Someone dropped a lighted cigarette into the gas tank of an automobile parked in a yard on West street last Monday afternoon. The car was completely destroyed.

Resident of Washington street reported that a car bearing Georgia license plates rammed the rear of his car. No damage was claimed but he said the man and woman riding in the car were "under the influence," and refused—in the name of the Confederacy—to identify themselves.

Officers investigated a complaint of a prowler in the vicinity of Duxbury road last Wednesday night. Findings turned up a member of the Fire Department selling tickets to their annual ball.

Police efficiency. Proprietor of a hardware store in Newtonville reported a car with New Jersey plates had been parked in front of his place of business for four hours. Police found an electric bill in the glove compartment giving a Boston address. Boston police were contacted and they identified the owner as having moved from New Jersey. Man is working in Newtonville. Welcome stranger.

An insurance man took out some police insurance last week in regards to a fear he had that some striking workers from his place of business might do harm to his home here in Newton. Police gave the man's home their full attention.

Talk—

official greetings of the City of Newton and also told of the importance of women both at jobs at City Hall and throughout the city through the impact of their various organizations.

Mrs. Moody's talk was most informative and she cited many examples of the need of having a properly drawn will which would carry out the wishes of the maker. She also stressed the importance of obtaining the services of probate specialists who can, and often do more than pay for their fees through the savings they can effect. In her remarks, Mrs. Moody also spoke of the desirability of naming a bank as a trustee or executor and she also warned of the fallacy of having home-made wills. Many other helpful facts were also given by Mrs. Moody.

Mr. Casady, speaking on life insurance, stressed the fact that a wife should look on her husband as her primary financial asset and that even if it meant curtailing luxuries or even some comforts it would be worth while to do so to properly insure her husband's life for the benefit of those who must of necessity look to him for support. In order that there can be enough insurance Mr. Casady urged that every family go over their finances to see where and how this additional insurance can be carried, and as a starter he suggested that the families buy sensibly, pay cash and live on a current income basis, that they keep their fixed commitments at a low figure and that they plan on saving regularly. Part of this regular saving Mr. Casady felt could be in life insurance, the equities of which could be used at a later time for retirement benefits.

Mr. Casady, like Mrs. Moody, also stressed the importance of consulting with banks and experts and that a life insurance program like a will should be re-evaluated at regular intervals.

Tax—

Board of Assessors, as required by law despite the fact that the new law increases exemptions from $1000 to $5000.

Due to the increase in the amount of exemption passed by the legislature last year, it is estimated that less than one thousand residents would be required to pay taxes on personal effects compared with approximately 12,000 who were billed last year. It is also estimated that as a result there will be a loss of about $750,000 in revenue which represents nearly $3 on the city's tax rate as a result of the increased exemption.

It is possible that some of the loss will be replaced by an increase in the valuations of Telephone Company property, which is the subject of a case before the State Tax Appeal Board. In a similar case, brought by the city of Springfield, the board ordered a substantial increase in the proposed valuation.

A notice recently issued by the local Board of Assessors, calls for lists of all tangible personal property on or before January 31. If residents fail to file the required lists, the Board of Assessors can estimate the value of personal property and bill the residents accordingly. The Board of Assessors' estimate is subject, however, to a review on a request for an abatement.

Commissioner of Corporation and Taxation Henry F. Long has prepared a new form, 2HF, which may be filed by individuals in respect to household furniture and effects. One side of the form is for listing articles owned by the resident. The reverse side contains an application for exemption under General Law, Chapter 23, Section 5, Clause 20, and should also be filled out.

The notice issued by the Board of Assessors also calls for lists of property for literary, temperance, benevolence, charitable or scientific purposes and should be filed by March 1.

Fraternel benefit corporations, which make returns direct to the state commissioner of insurance, are not required to file with the local assessors.

the people that conditions are improving rapidly and that the future is promising," he said.

"Many Europeans are suspicious of the American motive in dumping so much American money into these countries when they are no worse off than they have been many times before. They feel that America must be a land of limitless wealth to give away so much so wastefully."

"Western Europe is such a vast area that even such sums as spent through the Marshall Plan are at best only a small contribution to the total economy," he concluded.

Dr. J. Wendell Yeo Becomes 4th Dean Boston University's School of Education

Dr. J. Wendell Yeo, authority on guidance and personnel work, and popular lecturer, has assumed the deanship at Boston University's school of education, sixth in number of graduate degrees granted in the United States, it was announced by Pres. Harold C. Case.

Dr. Yeo, 11 Brae Burn rd., Auburndale, replaces Dr. Donald D. Durrell, Wellesley Hills, now retiring after 10 years in the office, so that he may return to his teaching and research activities at Boston University. He will continue as professor of education at the school which has trained one out of every 10 teachers in New England cities and towns, and is the largest language and arts center in the country for graduate study.

The new dean, who has taught and conducted research at Boston University since 1939, summed up his plans for the future, which include a "rethinking of our total program in terms of what new services Boston University can give to New England." The school's program includes, besides the training of undergraduates for educational posts in today's public and private schools, an extension program with classes held in distinct points all over New England, special reading and speech clinics, courses designed to solve current educational problems, and special research studies and reports delving into the New England educational picture.

Dr. Yeo's appointment makes him the fourth dean of the 34-year old school of education. Reviewing changing educational concepts, he said, "We are at the beginning of a new era in all fields of education. We are focusing more and more on the real needs of youth and adults. The teachers in demand are those with broader educational backgrounds, a fuller understanding of what learning and teaching are all about, a wider outlook on life, and a deeper faith in youth and in the future of the world."

Dr. Yeo has been a professor at Boston University since 1939 where he has been director of the guidance studies program. He received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Boston University in 1928, Master of Education in 1932, and a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Yale University in 1939. Dr. Yeo, whose main interest is the training of teachers for better guidance, particularly on the secondary school level, has had basic experience as a teacher, principal and superintendent in Plainville (Conn.) high school, New Haven Junior College, New Haven, Conn., and he has lectured at the Texas College of Mines, Kansas State College, the University of Michigan, and the University of Denver. He has written a number of articles on guidance and education for professional journals, and completed with Dr. Roy O. Billett, University professor of education, a book, "Growing Up," on the problems besetting adolescents.

Massachusetts Safety Council Head Praises Safety Program

Edgar F. Copell, president of the Massachusetts Safety Council, in a statement this week, compliments the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce on its educational program to help reduce highway accidents in this city.

In speaking of this splendid effort on the part of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Copell said:

"As the president of the Massachusetts Safety Council, I want to compliment you on initiating a co-operative education program to help reduce highway accidents in Newton.

Your weekly editorial and advertising messages should help create better voluntary attitudes toward the correct use of the highways and in this way you will be making a worthwhile contribution to the cause of highway safety in Newton."

AAA Pays Tribute to Highway Campaign of Junior Chamber

"It is fitting to pay tribute to the work of the school safety patrols and the many sponsoring organizations which aid their formation and operation," stated Bert R. Harmon, Director of the American Automobile Association in referring to the safety campaign being conducted by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce. He stated:

"As the American Automobile Association celebrates this year its fiftieth anniversary of service to the motorists and the nation, it is fitting to pay tribute to the work of the school safety patrols and the many sponsoring organizations which aid their formation and operation."

"The Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Newton schools, your newspaper, and especially the Newton Police Department are deserving of praise for helping the patrols and all youngsters in saving lives through the Highway Five program.

"Patrol members—now familiar figures on the American scene—will be further honored on March 4th when a commemorative stamp featuring the AAA's Golden Jubilee will show a typical patrol boy wearing his white cross-the-shoulder belt and guarding two classmates at a school crossing."

"Members of the school safety patrols which are sponsored by AAA clubs now exceed 500,000. They are guardians of some 9,000,000 school children."

"Your contribution to the safety of your community is a valuable one which will be reflected in fewer accidents and fatalities among children during the coming year. Keep up this life-saving work!"

"Highway 5" on Elaine Reed's Radio Program, WCRB—Feb. 2

Elaine Reed, radio station WCRB's Story Time Lady, will read the story of "Highway 5" on her program next Saturday morning, Feb. 2, at 9:30—10:30 on the radio dial.

"Highway 5" tells the story of a small boy who, in a dream, meets the five basic highway safety signs. The signs tell him what their work is, and how they perform it.

Miss Reed, who is a Newton resident, provides all the voices for the characters in the stories she tells.

Parents are urged to have their children listen to the Story Time Lady that they may better understand safety signs. The "Highway 5" story will prove of great interest to all children, and to parents, as well.

A Little Knowledge Can Be Dangerous Says Chief Purcell

"February is the shortest month in the year. Don't make it the shortest in your life because of a traffic accident."

That advice was offered by Chief Philip Purcell in the launching of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce safety program designed to emphasize the importance of knowing and obeying all traffic signs.

The old adage, "A little knowledge can be a dangerous thing," is especially true in the case of drivers who have only an incomplete, perhaps inaccurate, knowledge of traffic signs," Chief Purcell emphasized. "Our goal," he said, "is to have every driver know and obey all traffic signs all the time."

"The Highway 5 program, sponsored by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce with the co-operation of the National Safety Council and coordinated by the Mass. Safety Council, has as its theme 'Every Shape Has A Meaning.'"

"Nearly 60 per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents in 1950 had violated one or more traffic laws at the time of the accident," the chief said.

"No one feels safe with a person who handles a shotgun carelessly, yet ignorance and disregard for the law in the hands of a motorist can be an equally dangerous, double-barreled weapon," Chief Purcell warned.

Cardinal rules regarding traffic signs and signals which drivers should obey to prevent their joining the ranks of accidental killers were outlined by Chief Purcell. They include:

1. Light and sound can safely ignore speed limits—the driver cannot. Obey both posted speed limits and those safe limits imposed by weather or other conditions.

2. Avoid "right-of-way" arguments. It's better to yield the right-of-way than to give up your life to prove you're right.

3. Look for the heed signs, signals and traffic officers' directions.

"HIGHWAY 5" SAFETY DRIVE

SIGNS of SAFETY on "HIGHWAY 5"

Stop Sign—These have a distinctive shape (octagon) and the color of a warning sign (yellow). The Stop Sign not only notifies the motorist of a regulation that must be observed, but warns him of a potential hazard as well.

Regulatory Sign—These signs are used to aid the enforcement of laws and regulations. They are white and rectangular. Information such as speed limits, parking regulations and traffic directions are given.

Warning Sign—These, as the name implies, are used for the purpose of warning traffic of hazardous conditions either on or adjacent to the road. Warning signs require caution and call for the reduction of speed on the part of the motorist. These signs are yellow and diamond shaped.

Railroad Advanced Warning Sign

Because railroad grade crossings present an extreme hazard, a circular, yellow warning sign is used. It is normally placed 300 to 500 feet in advance of the grade crossing.

Railroad Crossbuck Sign

The crossbuck sign is white with the words RAILROAD CROSSING in black lettering. This sign is erected on the right-hand side of the roadway on each approach to the crossing.

"DIMEY"

EVERY SHAPE HAS A MEANING

"DIMEY" is named for his shape. He is a diamond painted yellow. "Dimey" tells everyone that there is something ahead which may cause trouble. Children should watch for "Dimey," and when they see him, they should obey his warning, or have Dad or Mom look out.

REGISTRAR KING ENDORSES SAFETY DRIVE

EDITOR, NEWTON GRAPHIC:

The dedication last week of the first in a series of Traffic Signs, erected for the purpose of acquainting the motoring public with the shape and meaning of Traffic Signs and thereby helping to reduce accidents, is but another worthwhile activity of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

As Registrar of Motor Vehicles for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, may I say that this latest interest on the part of the Jaycees is but a continuance of the complete cooperation the Jaycees have extended the Registry and me. The cooperation extended by this worthwhile organization to Chief Purcell and the Newton Police Department in their efforts to reduce death and injury to the highway users of Newton has made the department's task that much easier.

Cooperation is the keynote of success in Accident Prevention; cooperation by the motoring and walking public, cooperation of firms and organizations with the officials charged with Highway

Accident Prevention make for success of the whole program.

The dedication last week showed without question that such cooperation is a fact in Newton. The press, radio, civic organizations in the person of the Jaycees, plus representatives of the City Government, Safety Council, Police Department and Registry of Motor Vehicles dedicated this sign together, thereby setting an example of interest in the common problem of Highway Safety for others to follow.

This five-week campaign of acquainting all with the shape and meaning of traffic signs will do an inestimable amount of good.

My sincere thanks to the Jaycees, the Newton Graphic, the city officials and Chief Purcell and his department for this worthwhile project.

Sincerely,

Rudolph J. King

Registrar

Clarence, the Sheik of Araby, and Wild Bill Curry at W. Newton Armory

Fireworks are expected Saturday night when Clarence, the Sheik of Araby, and Wild Bill Curry, the huge ex-Hartford, Conn., cop mix it up in the main event of the Burns-Kerr Legion Post's weekly wrestling show at the West Newton Armory.

Of all the wrestlers who have appeared at the Armory since Matchmaker Fred Bruno brought his grapplers to the Garden City the first week in November, the wildest, most colorful and most impressive has been the black-thatched, bushy-eyebrowed and excitable Curry, who, after 15 years as a top-notch, knows every hold in the books and quite a few that aren't listed as well.

An artist and an ex-boxer will clash in Saturday's best-of-three fall semi-final bout. The artist is blond, goateed Wally Dearn of Chicago, whose portraits will be exhibited at the Sportsman's Show shortly, and the ex-leather-pusher is popular Clyde Steeves of Brockton.

The Dearn-Steeves bout is a "natural" because the two engaged in a brief verbal exchange

Fitzgerald Scores Three Goals for Orange Win, Newton in Second Place

Right wing Paul Fitzgerald personally led the Newton High hockey club to a 5 to 3 victory over Belmont by scoring three successive goals in the last period at the Boston Arena last Saturday afternoon, enabling the Orange to finish in second place in the G.B.I. League.

Fitzgerald received assists on two of his goals from defenseman Don Thompson, while other Newton tallies were registered by Joe Salvia and Eddie Lynch in the first and second periods, respectively.

The Jack Hall-coached sextet finished its seven-game schedule with a record of five wins and two defeats, for 10 points. Stoneham, up against a tough Arlington High last week, settled for a scoreless tie with the fourth-placed Spy Ponders, but closed on top of the heap with six wins, one tie and 13 points.

The G. B. I. playoffs will get under way this Saturday at the Boston Arena, with the Orange due to meet all three first division teams. The pairings have not been announced at this time, but if the officials follow their regular pattern, Newton will meet third ranking Belmont again this Saturday.

Belmont almost upset the apparent last week when it tied the count twice after Newton led off in the scoring, and then pulled ahead in the second period. Fitzgerald's finest hour occurred in the last stanza, tallying the equalizer, breaking a 3-3 deadlock and finally scoring an insurance goal.

Wing Salvia collected the first marker with assists from center Don Fox and Fitzgerald, taking a pass from the side and lighting the lamp at 8:30. Belmont's Tom Crowley delivered the equalizer in the second period by beating goalie Dan Coffey with a forward slider that went between Coffey's skates from the eight-foot mark.

The second line twosome of Justin McCarthy and Lynch tipped the seasaw in Newton's favor when the former passed out from behind the Belmont net, and Lynch slammed the disc home at 2:59. Lynch's shot came from about the five foot mark.

Belmont pushed the Orange club around the ice in the second chapter and tied it up again on Don DiNapoli's goal, and then pulled ahead to end the middle frame on Crowley's rebound shot in front of the Newton cage following a mad scramble.

The situation improved in the Halls' favor in the last period. Fitzgerald got the first of his trio at 3:10 on a good pass-out from Thompson from the right side, and beat goalie Bob Kerr easily.

The tie-breaker came later at 7:22 when Salvia bombarded the Belmont cage with a forward smash and Fitzgerald golfed the puck network with Kerr out of position. Thompson passed out to Fitzgerald from behind the Belmont net to set up the last Newton tally. The high-scoring wing backhanded the disc from about eight feet at 9:44.

Orange Hoopmen Post 5th And 6th to Tie Arlington for Lead

The Newton High hoopsters clung to a two-way tie for first place in the Suburban League with Arlington following last week's activities, drubbing Cambridge last Wednesday afternoon, 63 to 40, and squeezing past Watertown, 38 to 37 last Friday night. The Watertown battle was decided in the closing seconds when guard Bob Moss stole the ball from Gerry Nally and sunk a layup, giving the Orange the victory.

The Reggie Smith-coached club shares top billing in the league with Arlington, the only team to hand Newton its first defeat. Both quintets have a 6-1 record. The Spy Ponders upset the Newton winning streak on Jan. 15, edging the locals, 42-39.

Last Wednesday's game saw the Orange, led by Fred Dauten and Don Dunbar, both with 11 points, and John Kreider with 10, emerge with the victory formula over Cambridge Latin at the Newton gym in the last two sessions after trailing briefly in the second period.

Latin proved to be hardly a match for the smooth Smithmen, and dropped out of contention after the first two periods. The visitors held the lead momentarily at the start of the second period, 14-12. Baskets by John Marshall and Dauten, and a foul shot finally shot the Orange into a permanent lead with a two-pointer, giving Newton a 17-16 edge.

From that point on the Orange went to town and posted a 29-16 count at the half. Latin fell gradually behind until it was unable to stem the mounting Newton score.

Kreider and Moss in Watertown
Newton collected its 10th victory of the year over Watertown the hard way, playing without the services of Don Dunbar and Don Magaw. John Kreider's unerring accuracy and a last second basket by Moss enabled the Orange to register a surprising win after trailing all through the game.

Kreider tossed in 15 points, seven baskets from the floor, and Moss contributed 12 markers, the last two-pointer the most important goal.

Late in the final period Watertown held a 37-30 margin but forward Bob Valle started the Smiths' surge by netting a lay-

Newton-Rindge Tie In Met Track Meet

The Newton High track team, minus the running of Bob Morrison in the 600, caught leading Rindge Tech in the relay event to produce a tie, 38 1/2 to 38 1/2, in the Division I fourth round of the Metropolitan Track Meet held at the 101st Infantry Army last Saturday afternoon.

Morrison, limited in his contributions to the Lem Boy coached team, because of a gripple ailment he hasn't been able to shake entirely, managed to take part in the important relay race, running the third leg. The star Orange trackman picked up a two-yard lead in the relay, and sprinter Paul Gould finished in the anchor position to beat Tech's Charles Jenkins to post the victory.

Other firsts in the meet included Don French in the 1000-yarder, 2:35.3; Rowland Pollard in the high jump, 5 ft. 10 in., and Gould for the 50-yard dash, 5.8. Morrison also ran the dash and finished third.

While Tech's Jenkins won the important 600, and seemed to have set a new record at 1:18.1, the officials found that the race finished at the wrong point and was 16 feet short of the mark. Because of this error the Met record still belongs to Morrison who set it two weeks ago, a time of 1:19.8. Placing second and third in the 600 behind winner Jenkins were Newton's Vin Meade and Pat Bibbo. The summary:

600 Yard Run — Won by Jenkins (R T); 2, Meade (N); 3, Bibbo (N). 1:18.1.
300 Yard Run — Won by Hubbard (R T); 2, Hayward (N); 3, Howland (N). 36.3.
1000 Yard Run — Won by French (N); 2, Burrell (R T); 3, Crowley (R T). 2:35.3.
High Jump — Won by Pollard (N); 2, Jenkins (R T); tie for third between Hassell (R T) and LeFevre (NN). 5 ft. 10 in.
Shotput — Won by Hubbard (R T); 2, Geddes (N); 3, Ferolito (R T). 42 ft. 3 1/2 in.
45 Yard Hurdles Won by Hassell (R T); 2, Murphy Sr. (R T); 3, Graham (R T). 6.4.
50 Yard Dash — Won by Gould (N); 2, Morrison (N); 3, Pollard (N). 5.8.
1 Mile — Won by Looney (R T); 2, Newhall (N); 3, Coziere (R T). 4:58.6.
Relay — Won by Newton (Haywood, Pollard, Morrison, Gould); 2, Rindge. 2:06.7.

Safety Officer Feeley Praises Highway 5 Safety Drive Here

"A word to the wise," Safety Officer Charles Feeley told the Newton Graphic, "apparently doesn't mean as much as commonly supposed."

He made this point in emphasizing the regularity with which many motorists and pedestrians ignore the good advice given to them in the form of traffic signs and signals.

"In 1950," Officer Feeley said, "six per cent of the drivers involved in a fatal traffic accident had ignored a sign, signal or traffic officer."

"Some of these laws were clearly expressed on signs and signals," Feeley said, "but were, obviously, disregarded by the very people they were designed to protect."

Bald Head Indians
Will Attend N. E.
Sportsmen's Show
From the watersheds of the Saint Maurice River, 250 miles north of Trois-Rivieres in Canada, live about 1000 Indians.
Known throughout the Dominion as the Bald Head Indians, these tribe pioneers are divided now into three groups, each with its own Chief and councillors. From these groups, there will come a sizeable representation to the New England Sportsmen's and Boat Show in Mechanics Building, February 2 through 10th.
They speak their own Indian language and are generally believed to be members of the Ojib-way tribes. In their own schools the children are taught both the Ojibway language and the French language.
Beaver reservations have been built up by the government of Canada for the benefit of these Indians and most of the men work as bushmen for the huge lumber companies and for the government fire patrol. At the Sportsmen's Show some of the members of this group will build their own bark canoes as their great grandfathers did many years ago, still using the axe and a crooked knife. They will have their own tribal tents and "houses" at the Sportsmen's Show and are expected to be one of its featured attractions.
Needless to say the presence of a great Chief from another tribe, Jim Thorpe, the outstanding athlete of all time

NEW NOVEL TELLS OF
ANTI-SLAVERY OUTBURST
Truman Nelson of Salem has just completed a book, "The Sin of the Prophet", which Little, Brown and Company of Boston will publish Feb. 13. It is the story of Anthony Burns, the lone negro who dramatized anti-slavery outburst before the Civil War.
Theodore Parker, famed Abolitionist and Unitarian preacher, made the Burns case a cause celebre that split Boston into openly warring factions in May, 1854.
Nelson is now at work on a documentary novel about Brook Farm.

Modern India
India has about 100,000 telephones and 300,000 radios.
Chief Industry
Mining comprises the chief industry of Bolivia.

Citizens Are Responsible People (Excerpts from address of Dr. Earle T. Hawkins given at the afternoon session of the Third Annual Statewide Citizens' Conference held at Boston University recently and participated in by Newton residents.)
Our job in America today is to make our form of government, our way of life work so well that it will speak for itself to the rest of the world. We must demonstrate to people everywhere that the American way of life is not merely something to which we give lip service, but something we live by seriously.
It's always true that our country is strong in proportion to the percentage of citizens who really work for its welfare and its improvement. A dictatorship is strong in proportion to the regimented loyalty and blind obedience of its adherents. A democracy is strong in proportion to the intelligent loyalty and active participation of its citizens. We ought all to be seriously concerned about the fact that in the presidential election just passed 50 million people voted, but 45 million didn't.
Too many persons still tend to define our American way of life largely in terms of rights, and privileges and liberties, and freedom. They forget that for every liberty there is a corresponding loyalty, that every right brings with it a responsibility, and that every privilege has its accompanying duty. We will continue to enjoy our rights and our freedom and our privileges only so long as enough of us take seriously our loyalty, our duties and our responsibilities.
At the present moment there are many people in our country who are seriously concerned about the threat of certain foreign "isms" to our American way of life. They seem to have the fear that certain ideologies will be "caught" by many of our citizens in such the way that a disease like measles is caught.
The best defense against any hostile "ism" is not verbally attacking it, not in hunting down those persons who espoused it, not in shouting to the world how fine democracy is, but the less
